Multiple Dwellings Are Booming

Is There Real Need for Suburb Apartments?

by JIM CARNS
News Editor

Multiple family dwellings in the suburban area may only be considered as a boom — a recent wonder in the economics of land use.

Developers have found an immediate need for apartment projects, and such projects are planned rapid-fire for anywhere from a few to a thousand units.

But how deep is the need, and what will these developments, in their vast numbers, do to the character of villages such as Arlington Heights — nearly 90 per cent single family residential?

ANY ANSWERS to these questions may only be made in terms of speculation. They depend on even broader questions of projected population, industrial growth and public reaction.

In Arlington Heights two factors have been put forth by the present administration as primary in location of multiple housing.

The first is their use as a buffer zone between industrial or commercial development and single family residential areas, as exemplified by the virtual ring of apartments around Arlington Market Shopping Center.

The second, and perhaps not quite as tangible as the first, is their erection on property which could not feasibly be used in any other manner — that is, property not economically suitable for single family residential, commercial or industrial development.

HERE THE door is left open for request after request from developers whose thoughts are controlled for the most part, and rightly, by economic consideration.

In even the most spacious apartment development, the density of land use is greater than that in the most crowded single family zoning.

Loans for building are relatively easy to come by. Occupancy is almost immediate in comparison to common delays in maturation of an industrial development.

Apartment projects approved on the basis that they are the only suitable use for a given plot nearly always hinge on a change in zoning. These projects present themselves as precedent for further developments of the same nature.

THE ECONOMICS of the situation are also one of the prime considerations of village officials, but they take a little different slant on things.

Higher density can result in more governmental services per dollar of assessed real property valuation. What is advantageous in revenue for the developer is often just the opposite for the village, school districts, and other tax-dependent units.

Another easy contrast is found in the term "character." A developer must think in terms of what the village will lend to his apartment projects. The village must think of what the project will lend to its image.

"It is hard to determine just where to draw the line," says Village Pres. John G. Woods. "The village is flooded with requests for zoning changes to R-5 or R-6, and they can't all come in."

HE EXPLAINS that the two basic rules already outlined must serve as a guide, and that developers or property owners must prove their case in terms of benefit to the village.

There again, opinion is a key factor. Plans for Regent Park high-rise development were approved by the Plan Commission and one village board, but rejected by the next.

The voice of village residents against height and density has been loud and insistent, but developers in turn utter cries of "progress" and "unavoidable change in character."

Perhaps the greatest problem posed by the rapid increase in apartment development and requests for zoning is not one of location, height or density, but rather one of number

Each development precludes an alternate land use, thus doubling its effect on the village's composition in maturity. As the village reaches out for its ultimate boundaries, the conflict between uses must heighten.

Multiple family developments, no matter what their nature, must be considered as land lost for commercial, industrial or single family use.

REVEAL OLD ORCHARD PLANS

$35 Million Project Told

by HELENE BRISTOL
Staff Writer

Detailed plans for the proposed $35 million recreation center with more than 1,000 luxury apartment units at Old Orchard Country Club were revealed today, Thursday.

Perimeter strips and triangles of unused land on the golf course will be used for the 16-story apartment houses, one-floor atrium town houses and the 20-story lodge-convention-recreation center complex.

Also included is a "Retirement Village" set off from the other development areas. This would be a senior citizens' convalescent facility.

No part of the present Old Orchard golf courses — one 18 holes and one nine holes — would be changed, shortened or cut.

Ten years will be needed to complete all phases of the planned developmnet.

THE DEVELOPMENT will include the entire 205 acres of the country club property, bounded by Rand Road, Euclid Avenue, Elmhurst Road and Camp McDonald Road. It will be directly across the intersection at Euclid Ave. and Elmhurst Road from the Randhurst shopping center.

The plan calls for 768 one-bedroom and 192 two-bedroom apartments, 60 two-bedroom atrium (private garden) townhouses and 20 three-bedroom town houses.

Birth of the multi-million dollar development came more than a year ago when the owners Frank Aldridge and Albert H. Newman arranged for a land-use research study of the country club property.

The study, conducted by Alper and Alper, Chicago architetural firm, showed a present 3.9 per cent return on the golf course land.

THE PLAN for development presented by Zalman Alper, in his words is "a new direction for land conservation despite constantly increasing economic pressure for wholesale land destruction."

"The public interest dictates solutions which will preserve open land," Alper stressed.

Present R-3 zoning would permit development into 400 single-family units, Alper noted, but he pointed out this would "destroy 200 acres of verdant land."

The study revealed a "severe shortage of golf facilities in Cook County." Alper said this placed "a responsibility on the owners to discover new methods for development" in place of subdividing the course into tract housing.

The multi-story apartment units will have 40 feet high (four story) transparent lobbies on the ground floor to preserve the open view of landscapes. Roofs of the underground garages adjacent to the apartments will be devoted to tennis courts, ice skating rinks and general outdoor recreation facilities.

A LARGE swimming pool, augmented by separate diving pool and children's wading pool, play yards and tot lots will be located in the apartment area. Every apartment will have a balcony area, with the balconies completely circling the building.

The town houses, all one floor, will be built in units of six two-bedroom and two three-bedroom units. The two-bedroom units units. The two-bedroom units will have private walled garden courts, while the three-bedroom units will have outdoor terraces overlooking the golf course.

The apartments are not designed for large families and the developers expect a large part of the "luxury" units will be rented by couples whose children have left and who no longer want the care involved in maintaining a large house. The tentative minimum rentals for one-bedroom apartments is $175. Suggested rental price for two-bedroom units is $250.

Even though the proposed development will include more than 1,000 apartment units, the architects estimate the number of school age children will be less than from the presently permitted 400-home development. An estimated maximum of 500 children probably would not be realized for several years.

THE APARTMENTS and town houses will be rented. None are to be sold.

A projected two-acre commercial development at the corner of Camp McDonald and Elmhurst Roads will be primarily a service area, such as laundry facilities, a club spokesman said.

The recreation center will be located on Schoenbeck Road north of Rand Road. It will include the present club house, complete with restaurant, cocktail lounge and theatre. The 20-story lodge will have 198 lodging units plus with space for conferences, seminars, assemblies and meetings.

A banquet building, adjacent, will contain an indoor swimming pool. An outdoor pool will be built in the recreation area. Pointing to the shortage of winter resorts in the Chicago area, the owners plan an outdoor skating rink near the indoor pool.

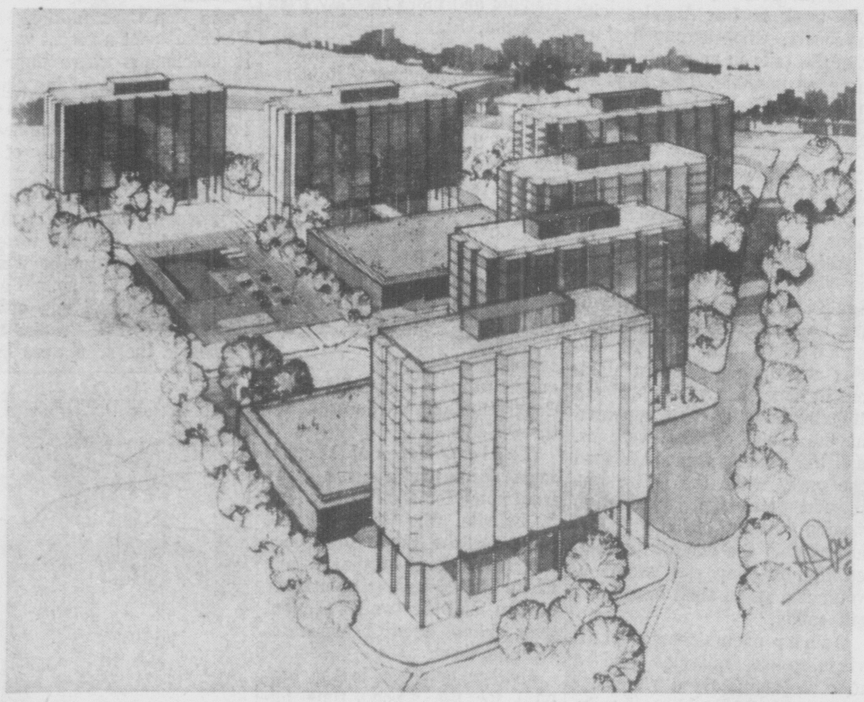
The lodge has been planned to attract weekend golfers, business conferences, small conventions and meetings.

UNDERGROUND parking facilities will be built for 1,200 cars. In addition there will be above-ground parking in the ground-level outdoor parking areas.

Hearing by the Cook County zoning board of appeals for a zoning variance to permit construction of the projected development is slated for Monday, Aug. 12, at 3 p.m.

"This is the way space in land will be managed" was the prediction of William Dean of Dean and Novak. The land and development planner stressed, "It is a significant and necessary step in preserving open areas."

"In our efforts to preserve space in metropolitan areas, this is a way to have your cake and eat it too. Old Orchard Country Club is uniquely situated for this type of land use," Dean stated.



SIXTEEN-STORY apartment units, complete with connected underground garages will have one and two bedroom units at the proposed Old Orchard Country Club project. The roofs of the garage units will be used for tennis courts, ice skating rinks and general outdoor recreational facilities. A large central swimming pool is augmented by separate diving pool and children's wading pool. Play yards and tot lots will be scattered throughout this phase of the development. All apartments will have balconies. Forty-foot high transparent lobbies on the ground floor preserve the open view of landscape.

Commuter Street Is Being Constructed

Barricades are up and the retaining wall is out to provide room for construction of a 30-foot-wide street running one block in the center of Arlington Heights.

The tiny thoroughfare, known unofficially as Commuter Street, lies just south of the Chicago & North Western Railway tracks between Evergreen and Dunton Streets.

It is being improved by the Arlington Heights National Bank as part of a negotiated trade with the village. In return village officials have agreed to vacation of Davis Street between Evergreen and Dunton.

THE NEW street will approximately duplicate the one to be vacated, but will be north across the bank parking lot.

In return for vacation of the street, bank officials also agreed to improve their parking facilities and bring them into conformance with plans for village parking lots to be located directly to the east and west.

The village recently purchased property for these lots from Chicago & North Western Railway.

DAVIS STREET vacation in the one-block area is intended to open up the north side of the bank for a drive-in window and other remodeling.

The village accepted contractors' bids and did all engineering for the street improvement project to insure conformance with standards, but the engineering was handled on a fee basis.

MORE THAN 90 representatives of the community of Arlington Heights gathered at the Arlington Theatre Tuesday noon for a luncheon prelude to the theatre's grand opening week beginning Aug. 2. Included were businessmen, the clergy, village officials, representative of civic organizations, school districts and area manufacturers. The gathering was arranged by the Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with Don Knapp, theatre manager. A full story of the remodeled theatre will be found in a special souvenir section in this issue of the Herald.

Name Rolland Franzen United Fund Chairman

Rolland A. Franzen, an Arlington Heights attorney, was appointed this week to serve as campaign chairman for the village's 1963 United Fund Drive.

The appointment was made by Thomas Stewart, president of the United Fund organization, to complete his team of volunteers who will be responsible for this year's drive.

Franzen, in turn, will appoint three vice chairmen to head fund-raising divisions — residential, business and industry, and payroll deduction.

LAUNCHING date for the drive has been tentatively set fo rmid-September. This year's will be the second annual staging since the United Fund program was initiated here under the auspices of the national UF group.

Money collected in the drive will be distributed to local charitable and service organizations, pro-rated according to need.

Twenty questionnaires have been sent out by the fund's budget chairman, Lester T. McAuliffe, to determine those groups which are to benefit from this year's drive.

LAST YEAR 10 groups received a total of nearly $30,000.

Stewart expressed the hope that this year's collections would far exceed last year's totals, since the 1962 drive got off to a late start.

About 500 volunteers are needed for the residential drive this year, the new campaign chairman announced.

A date for the drive kickoff will be established at the next United Fund Board meeting, early this month. Names of participating groups should also be ready by then, according to McAuliffe.

OTHERS WHO will be heading individual facets of the drive are Carole Carns, secretary, and Tom Hanlon, public relations committee chairman. William Kaucher will be serving under Stewart as vice president.

Trose interested in participating in any of the activities of the United Fund are invited to contact Thomas Stewart, 1011 N. Gibbons, Arlington Heights, at CL 5-2988, or to contact any other Fund officer.

Using Police Dog

Nab Parolee, 17, After High-Speed Auto Chase Here

A 17-year-old parolee from New Jersey was flushed from six-foot weeds and held at bay by Jack, the rAlington Heights police dog, Monday morning after a high-speed auto chase through three villages.

James Robert Therrell Jr. Chesterfield, N.J., is now in the Arlington Heights jail awaiting extradition to New Jersey on a charge of auto theft.

The chase started in Des Plaines when Therrell drove from a service station without paying for his gas. The station attendant pursued, but lost his quarry in Mount Propect.

POLICE IN Mount Prospect were notified, and in turn notified Arlington Heights police, who joined the chase. The suspect, with a passenger in the tolen car, was spotted at Chicago Avenue and Northwest Highway in Arlington Heights.

Squad cars from Rolling Meadows and Palatine joined the pursuit at speeds up to 90 mph, and the fleeing youth ran four stoplights along Northwest Highway before he was forced off the road north of the Baldwin intersection in Palatine, according to police reports.

He left the road, crossed a ditch, and drove 300 feet into a marshy field before evacuating his car. The auto chase ended at about 2:20 a. m.

BOTH THERRELL and his passenger fled deep into the marshy field, and the police dog and his handler, officer Eugene Korn, were called.

Korn and the dog tracked Therrell about 450 yards into the field before he broke from cover to surrender and avoid the dog.

He was taken into custody, and the police dog returned to take up the track of Therrell's unidentified passenger. But tracking became impossible in the ankle-deep water and high weeds which irritated the dog's nose.

THIS WAS the first time the dog had been used in such a tracking and capture operation.

Therrell later told Arlington Heights police that his passenger was a 19-year-old ex-convict named Ray, but that he was only a hitch-hiker and had not been aware the car was stolen.

Therrell is charged with stealing the car from Trenton, N.J., and will be turned over to the FBI if extradition proceedings are not used.

Transportation of stolen property over a state line comes under FBI jurisdiction. Therrell told police he is presently on parole for breaking and entering.

Take Equipment

Theft of $500 worth of equipment from Rosetti Construction Co. at Salem and Miner was reported Friday to Arlington Heights police.

The equipment, a portable generator and chain saw, was reportedly stolen sometime during the preceding week and a half.

Treaty Opinions

Public opinion is 5-1 in favor of the nuclear test ban treaty tentatively agreed upon by the United States, Russia, and Great Britain, according to a special poll conducted by Paddock Publications. Views of area village presidents on the treaty are also quoted in an exclusive report by Staff writer Tom Edwards, inside this week's edition.

Jewell Store: New Design Concept

The new Jewel Tea food store going in at the village's former municipal building site at Wing and Davis incorporates a new design concept for the company.

The building, set for fall opening, will replace the store at 11 S. Dunton.

ACCORDING TO store designer Carl M. Teutsch of Palatine, the architectural treatment will appeal to shoppers through three characteristics:

—A feeling of "open-welcomeness, created by enlarging, emphasizing and dramatizing the entrance-store front.

—An amplification of the chain's quality products image by use of face brick and split stone for all exterior surfaces.

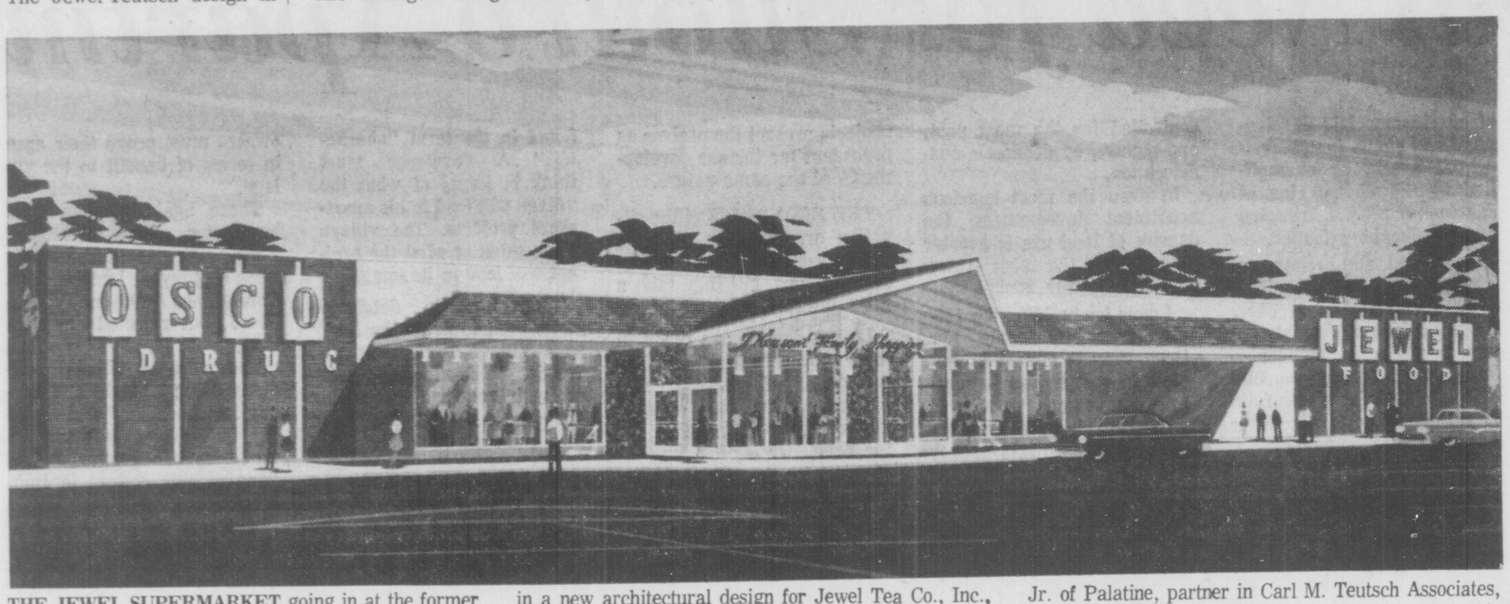
—An impression of good taste, unobtrusiveness, stability, continuity of design, and warmth.

JEWEL Vice-President Richard Sturtevant describes the architectural treatment as "contemporary with a friendly touch." There are no definite plans for adoption of the new design as a "Jewel standard," but "store traffic, sales, and expressed customer reactions will be studied closely," Sturtevant said.

The Jewel-Teutsch design incorporates the recent trend to widen store fronts while decreasing their depths, according to the designer.

The Arlington Heights store, with 25,000 square feet of floor space, has a 224-foot front and a 110-foot depth, the opposite ratio of most stores built up to 1960. The parking lot will accommodate 171 cars.

Near the top of the stores will be the letters J-E-W-E-L in individual white plastic panels. Hidden lights will illuminate the letters at night, making the sign an integral part of the design, according to Teutsch. (A



THE JEWEL SUPERMARKET going in at the former municipal building site, Wing and Davis, is the first in a new architectural design for Jewel Tea Co., Inc., and its Osco Drug Stores. Designer is Carl M. Teutsch Jr. of Palatine, partner in Carl M. Teutsch Associates, Architects-Engineers, Chicago. (A

Four Events End Program

Two evenings of plays, a handicraft exhibit, a gymnarama and a synchronized swimming meet will wind up the final week of district-wide activities in the Arlington Heights Park District's summer program.

The 12 district drama classes, directed by Susan Peters, will each present a short skit or play at the Arlington High School Little Theatre Wednesday and Thursday nights. Starting time will be 7:30.

THE ANNUAL handicraft exhibit, including model and jewelry making, will be at Pioneer Park Friday, Aug 9, from 7 to 10 p.m. and Saturday, Aug. 10, from 1 to 4 p.m.

All youngsters who have participated in the summer program will display their projects. Awards will be given to those who display best workmanship.

ALSO AT Pioneer Park Friday, Aug. 9, will be the gymnarama, annual exhibition by tumbling and trampoline, modern dance, and baton and marching classes. The show will begin on the tennis courts at 7:30 p.m.

The synchronized swimming meet, slated for 1:30 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 10 at Pioneer Pool, will pit girls from the Arlington Heights Park District against each other and girls from other districts. Synchronized swimming classes and teams from Mount Prospect, Lombard and Des Plaines have been invited to the competition.

JIM CARNS, news editor of the Arlington Heights Herald and an avid outdoorsman, begins a bi-monthly column, "Sportsman's Notebook," in this week's sports section. The column will explore a wide range of topics from hunting and fishing to some of the more complicated political problems surrounding conservation, national parks, forests and wildlife. Carns is a graduate of the University of Missouri and lives in Rolling Meadows. (Staff photo).

Robbins All-American

Arlington Air Force Cadet to Pistol Meet

Summer is no vacation for men at the U.S. Air Force Academy, Colorado.

For the cadets, the summer months are a period of heavy activity. Most upper classmen have short home leaves, but these are followed by trips to military bases in the United States, visits to foreign countries, tours of duty at Air Force installations, undergraduate pilot training or instruction in parachute jumping.

STILL, Senior Cadet Michael R. Robbins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Robbins of 130 N. Gibbons Ave., Arlington Heights, will have a vacation of sorts next week.

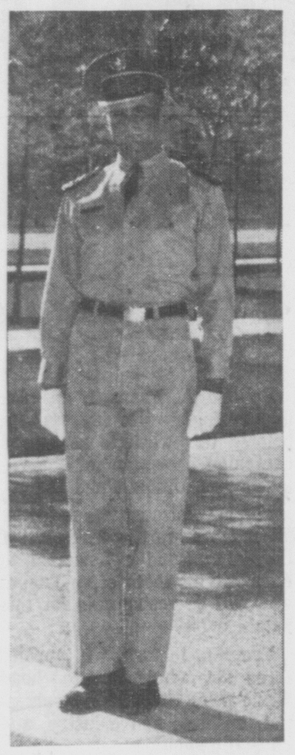
He's going to combine his leave with a trip to Camp Perry at Port Clinton, Ohio, to compete in the individual matches at the national pistol shoot. A member of the Academy's varsity pistol team, Robbins was named to the National Rifle Association's collegiate all-American pistol team last year.

Robbins has just completed working with the new fourth classmen (freshmen or "doolies") in a tough program of basic military training. Training of the 800 "doolies" was conducted by Robbins and his classmates, scheduled to graduate next June.

A MAJOR in engineering science, Robbins will enroll at Purdue University next year to work on a master's degree in astronautics. He has also qualified for a Fulbright Scholarship and plans to study in Germany later.

At the Academy he has been on the superintendent's merit list six semesters for an outstanding record in academic and military achievement. He is a member of the model engineering, radio and ski clubs and the rally committee.

A 1960 graduate of South High School of Torrence, Calif., Robbins lettered three years in football, had one year in golf and two years in track. He served as president of his student body and earned the Bank of America's "most outstanding student" award. (A



MICHAEL R. ROBBINS

Track, Swim Meets In Lions Olympics

Track and field and swimming events are slated for the annual Lions Olympics for Arlington Heights youngsters Saturday at Recreation Park.

Track and field competition will begin at 10 a.m. with boys' and girls' base running, 50-yard-dash, softball throw, standing broad jump and 200-yard shuttle relay.

Girls and boys will be divided into four age groups with ribbons going to the top three finishers in each event in each group.

THE MIDGET class is for youngsters who have just completed first and second grades; the intermediate, third and fourth grades; junior, fifth and sixth grades; senior, seventh and eighth grades.

Preliminaries for the swimming competition - free style and backstroke - will be today; the finals will start at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at Recreation Pool. Five age groups will compete: 8 and under, 9 and 10, 11 and 12, 13 and 14, and 15 and 16.

The Arlington Heights Lions Club sponsors the Olympics in cooperation with the park district. Lions will serve with district recreation staff members as officials. (A

Klehm Attends Houston Meet

Carl Klehm of Charles Klehm & Son, Arlington Heights, a member of the board of governors of the American Association of Nurserymen, attended the association's 88th annual convention at Houston, Tex., last week.

The association is the leading nursery trade association with members throughout the United States and in Canada. It was established in 1875 and is the oldest agricultural trade association in continuous operation in this country. (A

Handsome Return

The movie "Gone With The Wind," which cost about $4 million to make, has now grossed more than $41.2 million.

Notes from Arlington Acres

Marie Marshall — CLearbrook 5-2936

After a month's vacation in California, Mrs. Jack Curtin and daughter, Cynthia, are back home at 420 S. Forrest with countless happy memories and an armload of souvenirs. The trip was made primarily to see the Curtins' daughter, Sue, now Mrs. Ed Ford, and her family in Santa Clara. The Fords showed off their adopted city to the visitors as well as taking them on sightseeing tours of San Francisco.

Mrs. Curtin and Cynthia spent one week in Los Angeles with a cousin, who arranged for them to take in as much of that area as possible. This included a front row table at the Moulin Rouge for the "Queen for a Day" program where Cynthia's civic pride was justly wounded when Jack Bailey asked what large city Arlington Heights is near.

Although the dinners at Trader Vic's in Hollywood and the Sea Lion at Malibu Beach will not be forgotten, the most outstanding one was at the Fox and Hounds at Santa Monica. In honor of Cynthia's recent 16th birthday a cake appeared at the table, candles were lit, and the waiters grouped around the party while the entire restaurant patronage joined in singing "happy birthday." Following this the waiters presented the birthday girl with souvenir strings of shell beads and gift candy.

Other excursions included visits to old missions and a tour of Paul Masson Winery.

THE CHARLES Miner family, 421 S. Gibbons, returned last week from a 10-day vacation to Cheyenne, where they visited the family of Arlyn's brother, the William Lustgartens. While in Cheyenne Jan Miner celebrated her 13th birthday and received many gifts of western gear, which she doubly appreciated because she and her sister, Gail, spent many happy hours horseback riding. Even young Robert, who recently passed his first birthday mark, enjoyed being held on the back of a horse. For all members of both families to enjoy were excursions to Estes Park and the Rocky Mountain area.

Beth Ann Briscoe, who was 6 July 24, was guest of honor last Tuesday at a party hosted by her mother, Mrs. Boyd Briscoe, 433 S. Forrest. A special cake in the shape of a Raggedy Ann doll was served with ice cream to Mark Hermanson, Mark Longrie, Linda Gryzik, Julie Moller, Donna Jean Bez, Gail Gislason, Kari Knutsen and a cousin, Blair Briscoe, all of Arlington Heights, and Patrice and George Maheras of Chicago.

Debby Grafitti's 10th birthday of July 24 called for a party for Linda Christiansen, Diane Tessmer, Sheila Irwin, Kathy Schuler, Barbara Jennings, Dru Myers, Nancy Roman, Sheryl Barnard and Debby Cavella. Other guests were grandma Grafitti and Debby's brother and sisters, Val, Marie, Lisa and Bobby. The birthday girl's mother is Mrs. Robert Grafitti, 436 S. Waterman.

A HEARTY welcome is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Tony Farina and sons, 19-year-old Larry and 8-year-old Gary, who are in their new home at 421 S. Forrest. The Farinas are originally from Prospect Heights and more recently from Watseka, Ill.

While Arlington Acres welcomes new neighbors, it is regretfully saying goodby to old ones. The Paul Bakewell family, 536 S. Phelps, left Tuesday for a new home in Chesterland, Ohio, a suburb of Cleveland. Congratulations go to Mr. Bakewell on his promotion which made the transfer necessary.

The John O'Neill family, 515 S. Gibbons, left last week for Springfield, where Mr. O'Neill will assume his new duties as assistant director of public education for the State of Illinois. Congratulations are in order for the O'Neills.

Wesley Memorial Hospital must seem like a home away from home for Mrs. Al May, 509 S. Prindle, who is a patient there for the third time since last November. At that time Elsie had a serious spinal operation, and the two subsequent trips have been because of complications.

Another neighbor in the hospital for the second time following surgery is Mrs. John Humphrey, 417 S. Gibbons, who was taken back to Lutheran General hospital Sunday. The best wishes of friends and neighbors for very short hospital stays go to both patients.

NEWS ON THE brighter side is that Mrs. F. D. McGuire, 409 S. Gibbons, is recuperating at home after surgery in Lutheran General hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. James Brady, 508 S. Forrest, are hosting Mrs. Katherine Allen and Miss Betty Allen of Bethel Park, Pa., Fawn Brady's mother and sister, who are here on vacation.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Ben Roman, 524 S. Phelps, who celebrated their 11th wedding anniversary July 26.

The family get-together Sunday in the garden of the Wilbert Niebuhr home, 424 S. Forrest, was in honor of their own approaching wedding anniversary and that of their son, Ken, and his wife, Kathy. Congratulations go to the senior and junior Niebuhrs.

Since most of the would-be guests at Roni Jo Rold's fifth birthday party are away on vacation, her parents, the Ron Rolds, 433 S. Gibbons, took her and brother Jeff out to dinner, highlighted by a candle-lit birthday cake served for dessert.

The Don Cook family, 525 S. Forrest, spent a recent weekend in Cincinnati, where their son, Gary, a member of the class of '64 of Prospect High School, looked over the engineering school at the University of Cincinnati.

THE GUST Hermansons, 437 S. Forrest, and the Lynn Lemons, 504 S. Prindle, were cohosts last week to the Wendell Swenson family, former Forrest Avenue neighbors, now of Murray Hill, N. J. Their many friends in the area were happy to see Margaret and "Swede," Paul, Wendy, Tommy and Lisa, who left Tuesday for St. Paul and Duluth to visit Margaret's parents.

Before the Louis Leistikow family, 512 S. Forrest, left on a 2-week camping trip to Lake-of-the-Ozarks, they took grandma Carnahan to Jackson, Mich., to visit another daughter, Mrs. E. W. Hendrickson, and family. The vacationers are now back home but the Leistikows, too, were persuaded to stay for a short time in Jackson, some of which they spent with friends on a 42-foot cruiser on Lake St. Clair.

Last weekend the Leistikows stayed with the senior Louis Leistikows at their home in Williams Bay, Wis. Twelve-year-old Tommy and his grandfather got up before the crack of dawn Sunday to go fishing and were rewarded with a sizeable catch of crappies and perch.

Chip Mertens, 425 S. Gibbons, celebrated his 17th birthday last Tuesday at a beach party at Illinois Beach State Park. Swimming in Lake Michigan and a cookout were fun for four young couples who made up the party.

"Happy birthday" goes to Mark Kunz who was 7 July 28. Mark is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kunz, 505 S. Forrest. (A

For Hospital

Tell Official Grant of Cash

The first $500,000 of a total $900,000 in Hill-Burton federal funds for the $4 million expansion of Northwest Community Hospital, Arlington Heights, was announced as an official grant this week by U.S. Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D.—Ill.

This amount is from the 1963 federal allotment of hospital funds in Illinois. Further funds are expected from the 1964 appropriation, according to Nicholas M. Lattof, coordinator and head of the hospital expansion fund drive.

Lattof stressed the federal funds are "matching funds" and will be actually paid only when construction is under way.

THE HOSPITAL must show that the local community has supported the hospital fund drive in order to "earn" the federal money, he said.

While the fund campaign for the major expansion program is under way, the hospital is planning the addition of a $150,000 intensive care unit to adjoin the present post-surgery recovery room.

Detail plans are now being prepared by Schmidt, Garden & Eriksen, hospital architects. These should be completed and construction started "within a few weeks" according to Alan Campbell, hospital administrator.

THE INTENSIVE care unit may be ready for use as early as March, Campbell stressed. The unit will provide 24-hour maximum care by specially-trained nurses. Typical cases would be one-day post-surgery, several-day care for radical surgery patients, coronary and poison cases.

A section separated by a partial wall and folding door would be devoted to pediatric post-surgery cases.

This unit would provide patients with the equivalent of private-duty nursing care, without the major expense, and would offer some relief to overcrowded pediatric, medical and surgical areas of the hospital.

Chapman Turns Self In on Traffic Case

An Arlington Heights man, subject of a state police warrant for three charges—resisting a police officer, speeding and disobeying a stop light — turned himself in at the Rolling Meadows police station at 7 a. m. Tuesday.

Otis Chapman, 23, of 103 Palatine Road in Arlington Heights, stopped a Rolling Meadows officer on patrol Tuesday, requesting the location of the police station.

He and his 18-year-old wife went to the local station voluntarily and requested the state police be notified.

THE SPEEDING incident occurred on Palatine Road west of Arlington Heights Road about 1 a. m. Tuesday, according to state police.

Chapman was released on $500 bond set by Justice of the Peace Francis Kelly. He will appear in court Aug. 10 on the three charges.

Youngsters Will Hunt For Peanuts

Recreation Park will have its second peanut hunt of the season at 3:30 p.m. Friday.

More than 1,200 peanuts will be hidden around the park's playground and baseball diamond areas. The shelled peanuts were donated by the A and P food store of Arlington Heights.

The youngsters will hunt the peanuts for about half an hour. After all collections have been tabulated by a panel of official counters, prizes will be awarded to the top collectors.

PRIZES FOR the contest have been furnished by Bowen Hardware and the Arlington Heights Park District.

Any boy or girl who is a resident of Arlington Heights Park District between the ages of 4 and 13 may participate in the hunt. (A

Article In Record

A magazine article by Richard P. Frisbie of 631 N. Dunton has been inserted in the Congressional Record by John D. Dingell of Michigan.

The article, which appeared in "U. S. Catholic" under the title, "The $300 Million Swat," was an analysis of the "Silent Spring" controversy.

Frisbie, a regular contributor to several magazines, has written a number of articles on conservation. He is co-author, with his wife, Margery, of a book, "The Do-It-Yourself Parent." (A

Draws Delegates From All Illinois

(Elic Nekimken, immediate past president of the Community Council of Wheeling, was asked by the council to attend and report on a Chicago conference on racial integration. The council has also had the head of the United Citizens' Committee for Freedom of Residence at its June meeting. Below is Nekimken's account of the conference.)

by ELIC NEKIMKEN

We all stood in places around our luncheon tables, our arms crossed, each hand clasping the hands of our neighbors. It was a scene shown many times on television news programs and in the newspapers.

Only this time I was a part of it. We swayed slightly to the rhythm of the song-like chant, "We shall overcome, we shall overcome."

It was like Jackson, Miss., Birmingham, Ala., or a dozen other places in the news, except for one big difference: The 150 whites and Negroes present were on the same side, of like mind. There were clergymen, social workers, union leaders, legislators, lawyers and citizens from all over the state of Illinois.

Their goal—freedom of residence in our state.

Many meetings such as this have been held in the past three years. This one was the statewide conference held June 8, 1963, at the Edgewater Beach Hotel in Chicago. Donald S. Frey, an Evanston attorney is the creator and chairman of the United Citizens' Committee for Freedom of Residence in Illinois.

AT THE time of this meeting, house bill 755 had just been narrowly defeated in a voice vote and was later to be officially defeated. What was bill 755? Basically it calls for the legal prevention of discrimination in the sale and rental of housing on the basis of race, creed or color. Open occupancy permits people to live wherever they can afford to live.

I attended the Chicago conference as representative of the Wheeling Community Council. Frey had addressed the council four days prior to the conference.

How important is the problem of segregation and open residency? Historian Arnold Toynbee has said that the two most important problems of our time are the nuclear bomb and the race barrier. Full repercussions of the race problem are just beginning to be faced in our time. The serious consequences of our head-in-the-sand attitudes on race relations is becoming increasingly more apparent.

MY NOTES on the conference, recorded the ideas and thoughts of the speakers rather than word for word quotes. I have tried however, to capture the mood and character of each speaker.

A white social worker from Rockford says—Speak up to gain respect for our views on restrictive legislation and better conditions. Act according to the situation for improvement economically and socially on a broad range. Explain your attitudes.

An NAACP official comments—Basically there is no difference between Illinois and Mississippi. There will be more problems if a fair housing law is not passed. We must talk to those opposed to us, not to each other.

A Negro woman from Dixon advises—We must educate our own people, those of our own race, church, economic and cultural backgrounds who are busy with their own interests, not others.

A white great-grandmother from Mt. Carmel gives thanks for the opportunity to serve—It is therapy with a purpose. It has kept me healthy and happy. It has taken my head out of the sand and given me the knowledge that we the minority race (white) must start practicing democratic principles.

A Negro social worker from Peoria observes—Peoria has many problems. We must accelerate our efforts. Negroes from other countries are treated without bias in Peoria; only American Negroes are second class people. We must join P.T.A., fraternal and civic organizations and make them aware of the ghettos so we can get more help in preventing further concentrations. We made local governmental officials view where they live. We are now going to check for government financed houses that are restricted.

A white housewife from Bradley says—When I became aware of the problems of the Negroes in our area, I started out to do something about it. I kept hearing "You can't do anything about it." There was little communication between races. With the aid of the churches, we started a Human Relations Commission. The three faiths took a stand at public meetings.

A white professional man, Secretary for Illinois State Conference of NAACP branches observes that it would help if the many contributions of the American Negroes were given in our history books.

He further notes that property value studies were made over a five year period of ten thousand home sales in all white and mixed race districts in San Francisco, Oakland and Philadelphia by Dr. Luigi Laurenti of the University of California. He found after several years of mixed occupancy that: In 40 per cent of the comparisons, there were no differences in value, 45 per cent of the comparisons, the value was up 5 to 26 per cent in 15 per cent of the comparisons, the value went down 5 to 7 per cent. Similar studies in Chicago, Kansas City, Detroit, Portland, Albany, Rochester and New York City verified Dr. Laurenti's findings.

A white Park Ridge minister observes that a change is disagreeable to those who are comfortable. You can do one of three things about race relations. 1. Ignore it. 2. Bring about resistance to change by pledge and practice. 3. Change, help it along. White leadership is needed now to prevent trouble. Justice will bring peace. The solution for the North is freedom of resisdence, for the South, the ballot box.

An Evanston builder (of Deerfield fame) tells how a referendum for the purchase of land for a park was turned down twice within six months. When it was learned that the builder intended to sell to Negroes, the land was submitted again for a vote (in less than two weeks) and approved. The land including two model homes, was condemned for use as a park. Time magazine called it, "Segregation by Condemnation." The model homes built on the property were called substandard by the village of Deerfield. Now the village manager and park district superintendent live in these "sub-standard homes."

(The following statements were culled at random from some of the panelists)

"From the progress I have just seen during last week's trip through the South, it is possible that they will have open occupancy before the North."

"The heart of the White Citizens Council and the Klan in Birmingham, Ala., is the Bessemer Steel Co. owned by U.S. Steel in New York. The race policies in the South are often made in the offices of the North."

"Negroes, because of bias and segregation have inferior education, job opportunities and much higher costs of living (especially rents). They therefore comprise the largest number of unemployed and are the largest recipients of state aid; thus segregation costs the taxpayer more than it would in an open society."

"HE WHO permits injustice commits injustice. He who permits evil commits evil. The gentle people of prejudice, the good people who remain quiet, perpetuate the evils of injustice."

"The land of the free" is challenged by the free, open communities of Europe, Scandinavia and other countries. Negro and Jewish students graduating from a medical school in Geneva, Switzerland gave much hard thought to whether they wanted to return to the U.S. after having lived in an open society."

"There should be pressure from the religious community for fulfillment of the law. Encourage churches and organizations to support the freedom of residence bill. Implement religion by action. Laws are meaningless without it."

"The Waukegan Ministerial Assn. has organized a volunteer social action group to deal with racial hostilities. It is working successfully."

IT IS in the area of direct contact between races that the most creative methods are being used. One method is the Fireside Forum.

It consists of having your neighbors over to meet and visit with a guest couple belonging to another race. They are of an income bracket and education background similar to your own and that of your neighbors.

4-H Fair Aug. 9-11 At Arlington Market

More than 1,000 project exhibits will be displayed by north Cook County 4-H'ers at their 17th annual fair Aug. 9-11 at Arlington Market, Kensington Road and Dryden Street, Arlington Heights.

The displays—classed in more than 50 different project areas including livestock, gardening, farm crops, automobile and tractor, entomology collections, handicrafts, photography — will be rated according to achievement by judges. They will all be open to the public free of charge from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily.

AOBUT 100 head of major livestock, including 20 dairy animals, 20 beef animals, 25 sheep, 20 swine, and 15 horses and ponies, will be housed in the main tent at Arlington Market, according to Robert E. Hood, county 4-H adviser. A hundred rabbits and 50 cages of poultry will also be shown.

Smaller exhibits will be displayed at Miner Junior High School across from Arlington Market.

Evening programs, for which admission will be charged, will highlight each day of the fair.

THE EVENING schedule Aug. 9 will begin at 7 p.m. with a Talented Teens show in the Miner gymnasium. A live radio show will follow at 8, with Bob Atcher as emcee for the 4-H talent show and crowning of the 1963 4-H kind and queen.

A teen dance with Jim Lounsbury and recording stars will begin at 8 p.m. both Aug. 10 and 11 at the Miner gymnasium. Trophies will be presented preceding the dance Aug. 11, and 4-H products will be auctioned at 7 p.m.

Special event the afternoon of Aug. 11 will be a horse and pony show by 4-H members at 2 p.m. (B9

Wheeling Girl Needs Blood

Shirley Harvel of Wheeling has come through an operation which was considered impossible only a few years ago, but she is badly in need of blood donations to replace the reserves she has tapped.

She underwent open heart surgery July 23 at Presbyterian St. Luke's Hospital in Chicago. Four days later she was still receiving transfusions, though she had been taken off whole blood and started on plasma.

SHE WAS BORN with a heart defect, but at that time there was nothing which could be done about it. In the past few years her defect had been getting progressively worse, but medical science was making progress as well.

An operation which was not even considered when it became apparent her health was waning has become a reality while it may still be of benefit to her.

But a person receiving a transfusion must either replace two pints of blood for every pint used or have donations given under her name to a recognized blood bank.

BLOOD OF ANY type will be accepted under the name of Shirley Harvei at Northwest Community Blood Bank, Northwest Community Hospital in Arlington Heights.

Those wishing to donate should call the blood bank for an appointment beforehand. Recipients of blood are given six months in which to replace double their supply.

Club Sets Meeting

Members of the Over 50 Club will meet at Pioneer Park next Thursday, Aug. 8, at 10:30 a.m. to begin a day of crafts, cards and fellowship.

A business meeting at 11:45 will be followed by lunch, for which members are to bring sandwiches and coffee and cake will be provided. A program is scheduled for 1 p.m. before informal activities are resumed.

ANOTHER MEETING on the month's calendar, Aug. 22, will include a program by the Delores Eiler School of Dancing.

A bus trip to Rockford is planned for Sept. 26. Advance registrations at a cost of $2.50 per person are required. New members must attend at least two meetings prior to the trip.

Unincorporated Land Disappearing

Key to Future: Suburbia Cooperation

Mutual Pacts Get Emphasis

by NANCY ANDERSON
Staff Writer

Northwest Cook County — Elk Grove, Wheeling, Palatine, Schaumburg, Hanover, Palatine and Barrington Townships — covers about 203 square miles.

Surging suburbia already takes in close to half; 85 square miles is claimed by 17 communities, some as old as the farms fading away around them, some as new as the latest industrial development.

Some day, planners predict, these villages and cities will swallow the whole area, leaving no unincorporated territory.

As they grow closer together on the map, they're finding common problems—planning and annexation, water and sewage facilities, fire protection. And in some ways they're also growing closer togethed in finding common solutions.

Services required for 160,000 people in the 1960's are much more complex than those needed for less than 100,000 in scattered communities 10 years ago.

THE FUNCTIONS of governments will get more complicated, more intertwined, as population hits 282,000 in 1970, 434,000 in 1980, in nearly contiguous communities.

Individual fire departments have long realized they might not be able to handle emergencies alone. Oral agreements for mutual assistance, recently formalized by ordinance, have bound Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, Palatine, Rolling Meadows and Elk Grove for years.

But the vital problem to the development of each village, planning and annexation, has still to be reckoned with on true common ground.

The planning consultant for Wheeling, Marwood Rupp of Stanton and Rockwell Associates, describes planning as the "staff's tool for administration of a community. You need to know the plan to be able to design facilities."

AND, HE SAYS, a successful plan for any village now, as all compete for remaining land, depends on cooperation.

"People could actually evaluate communities on facilities if, for example, Wheling would maintain its standards and others would agree to keep the same standards," he says.

The objective should be progress, not just growth, he indicates.

Village officials might agree, basically, with this philosophy, but sometimes they've found it hard to follow, jealously nibbling off little acreages here, gobbling big developments there to protect future lines of growth.

Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect view each other with mutual distrust on matters of annexation. Pres. C. O. Schlaver of Mount Prospect traces the feeling to an annexation by Arlington Heights a year and a half ago of 40 acres near Mount Prospect, which agrees Arlington Trustee Eugene Schlickman, should have gone to Mount Prospect.

HOWEVER, ARLINGTON Heights could then grant the developer's request, and Mount Prospect couldn't.

In defense of some recent annexations, Schlaver says, "We got tired of being squeezed. We feel we got destiny, too."

Rolling Meadows is worried about being squezed—that city is almost cut off from unincorporated land and fears annexations by other villages might completely lock it in.

So, Rolling Meadows Mayor John J. Woods last winter pushed a small step toward smoothing some of these fears, requesting area officials to discuss the possibility of planning ultimate boundaries.

Two meetings were held; one was relaxed and casual, the other ended the gatherings temporarily.

The officials—from Rolling Meadows, Arlington, Palatine, Elk Grove, Hoffman Estates, Schaumburg, perhaps Mount Prospect "if we're asked"—will probably get together again fairly soon.

ARLINGTON Heights Pres. John G. Woods isn't too optimistic about the sessions, but he thinks they might be helpful to some sort of understanding.

"It would help if we could ever get any sort of agreements about land use, whoever gets a given area," he says. "After all, land use is actually more important than who's got it; most of the taxes go to the schools anyway."

Recently, area communities did succeed in joint effort on one phase of land use. A resolution originating in Arlington Heights and ultimately adopted by the Northwest Municipal Conference caused County Board Pres. Seymour Simon to veto a board zoning decision and possibly brought about improved relations between the board and villages on zoning in unincorporated areas.

Simon suggested the territory now free should be held in lowest density and left to the discretion of communities which will probably annex.

THE NORTHWEST Municipal Conference, formed about in 1958, takes in the villages along the Chicago and North Western Railway plus Wheeling, Elk Grove and Hoffman Estates. Organized for better understanding and unity in 1958, it has also worked on legislative matters, such as home rule, of concern to members.

Another result of cooperative effort on legislation is now in the hands of Gov. Otto Kerner, waiting for his signature. This is an appropriation of about $1,220,000 for improvements on Weller Creek, and to alleviate possibility of flooding in Mount Prospect and Des Plaines from Arlington Heights' new storm sewer.

Most credit for passage of the bill by the legislature this spring goes to the Weller Creek Action Council, including officials from Mount Prospect Park District, Weller Creek Drainage District and the Metropolitan Sanitary District.

Villages are working together on getting water, too. For the past several years DAMP—a commission consisting of Des Plaines, Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect and Palatine—has worked for a means to pipe in lake or Chicago water to communities rapidly running out of natural supplies.

And, Mount Prospect and Arlington Heights just agreed on a joint water tap-on for use in emergency. Mount Prospect has a similar arrangement with Des Plaines, and Arlington Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson says further agreements would be logical. (B9 CONSTANT REMINDER of burgeoning suburban population — necessitating increased cooperation among communities — is packed parking lots in ever-growing shopping centers where construction continues. Shopping centers themselves often present special problems to villages concerned with zoning requirements and service facilities. (B9

Everson Bound Over To Cook Grand Jury

Charles Everson, 18, of 54 W. Hintz Rd., south of Wheeling, has been bound over to the Cook County Grand Jury on an Evanston auto theft charge.

He and a Chicago youth bound over in the same case will also face hearing Aug. 20 with two other men on theft of two cars in Chicago.

Everson and Albert F. Garibay of Chicago were caught in a chase following theft of one car in Evanston July 15. They were bound over the the grand jury following their continued hearing at Evanston Tuesday.

DET. DICK Pavlik of the Chicago auto theft police detail said both will also be charged with stealing a 1955 Chevrolet and the 1963 Corvette engine installed in it, and a 1961 Pontiac.

The Pontiac was traced as a stolen vehicle after it was found among about a dozen other stripped cars in the Everson backyard.

The Everson youth is the son of Wheeling Township Road Commissioner Oscar Everson.

Electronic Regimentation

by ED LANDWEHR

I see where the Soviet Technical Society is boasting about a new invention — an electronic robot that walks around the Moscow Museum and gives lectures to the crowds.

Seems that a political ideology of "follow the leader" can go too far in training the populace. Doesn't anyone suspect over there that they're just facsimiles of this "electronic tin-can?"

And speaking of electronics . . .

That's right. This is a tie-in to LANDWEHR TV, 218 N. Dunton, Arlington Heights who is waiting for your phone call. CLearbrook 5-0700 for the finest television and electronic robot service. Moscotich Vatso.

August Weather and Socials Promise to Mimic July

The eighth month of 1963, A.D. has arrived with no distinguishable differences, weather-wise or social-wise, from the month preceding, except that children are a bit nearer to that inevitable day when the school bell will beckon. Families continue to vacation at points all over the country and backyard picnics and barbecues are still the most popular form of at-home entertaining. Major events in this week's social news were two parties that paid homage to long-time and well-loved Arlington Heights residents.

Mrs. Mary Volz, who has spent most of her life in Arlington Heights, will soon be moving to an apartment at Westminster Place in Evaston. She was feted at a farewell party July 23, given by her neighbors on the 700 block of S. Dunton Street. The party was a potluck dinner and was held in the connecting gardens of the Kenneth Hulls and the Lyle Downings, and was attended by about 80 neighbors and former neighbors who came to bid goodbye to Mrs. Volz and present a gift of four card chairs.

Arthur Weinrich, 920 N. Vail, was honored at a family reunion in observance of his 80th birthday July 14.

He and Mrs. Weinrich joined members in St. Peter Lutheran Church for the 8 a.m. service, where a grandson, Rev. Ralph Weinrich of Gainesville, Ga., was guest speaker. After the services, they met at the Paul Weinrich home where two grandsons, Wayn Malzahn and Ronald Weinrich, served a pancake breakfast to the 40 guests.

THE WEINRICHS were privileged to have all seven of their children home for the occasion, including Arthur, from Boulder, Colo., Herbert, from Cleveland, Mrs. Gertrude Olson from Chicago, Mrs. Irene Malzahn, Carl, Edmund and Paul from Arlington Heights, and their respective families.

Of 10 grandchildren, all but two were present, Richard Weinrich of Florida, and David Weinrich, who is in the Navy and stationed in San Fransisco, were unable to be here. One daughter, Judy Silber came from Germany, Nadean Jacobsen from Denver, Patricia Karczewski from Minneapolis, Dale Malzahn, of the U. S. Air Force in Tennessee and Charles Weinrich, a theological student in Fort Wayne.

Of 12 great - grandchildren, eight were present. Other guests included Joyce Kiehl, Carol Kurtz, Julie Chapman and Hulda Winecke.

The day's activities ended with a potluck supper, at which Mr. Weinrich received more birthday toasts and good wishes.

MISS BARBARA Hanigan, whose career took her to New York City where she is a secretary for the International Paper Co., came home recently for a weekend visit with her parents, the Henry Hanigans, 903 N. Douglas. Upon returning to New York, her young brother and sister, 13-year-old Tommy and 11-year-old Nancy, accompanied her and will remain for a short visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Emig, 1019 N. Highland, became grandparents for the fourth time, June 22, when a third daughter and fourth child, Lori Jean, was born to their daughter and son-in-law, the Thomas Wagners of Levittown, Pa.

Mr. Emig, who was in Philadelphia on business when the baby was born, got a brief look at her. The baby was christened July 14, and the Herbert Kolles of 411 N. Haddow, friends of both the Emigs and Wagners, motored to Pennsylvania to serve as godparents.

The Emigs spent the whole of last week visiting points of interest in the Chicago area with their houseguests, Mr. Emig's brother, Dr. George Emig, professor of Prosthetics at Georgetown in Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Emig, who are here from their home in Wellsburg, W. Va.

SIXTEEN dietary employes from Northwest Community Hospital gathered at the home of the Paul Weinrichs, 825 S. Vail, July 17 for a steak fry, honoring Mrs. Elaine Muir and Mrs. Pat O'Donnell, former employes of the hospital. Mrs. O'Donnell, who had just returned from a European vacation, regaled her guests with stories of her travels.

Friends and neighbors of Mrs. K. N. Hull, 713 S. Dunton, were sorry to learn of the death of her brother, J. Pearce McMillan of Champaign. Mrs. Hull's sister, Mrs. Cary Palmer of Austin Texas, came here to spend several weeks with the Hulls.

The Walter Hoseks, 804 W. Elm, have just received word that their son, Jim, has been named to the Dean's List at Cornell University for the second consecutive term. Jim, an English major, will begin his sophomore year in September.

The Robert Isaacson family, long-time residents of Arlington Heights, recently moved from their S. Evergreen home to a new home at 12 N. Kaspar, where the Isaacsons' four children have adequate space for their diversified activities.

Upon getting his family settled, Mr. Isaacson, a member of the Chicago North Office of the International Business Machines Corp., represented his company at a 3-day seminar in Princeton, N. J.

Happy birthday to Doug Hanson, who celebrated his 21st birthday Saturday water skiing at Fox Lake followed by a dinner dance at Willow Brook. Joining Doug for his birthday celebration were two Purdue Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity brothers, Mike Ewing of Indianapolis and Ing Row of Hammond, who were here for the weekend as guests of Doug's parents, the Russell Hansens, 15 W. Orchard.

THE ROY Del Vecchios, 902 S Stratford, were hosts at an informal farewell party last week for the Donald Wendelborgs, who are soon moving from Arlington Heights.

Families returning from vacations away from home include the Victor Bedingfields, 612 N. Dunton, who took their youngest son, Bruce, on a motor trip around Lake Michigan, stopping in Dearborn, Mich., to visit the Ford Museum.

Mr. and Mrs. Earle Strehlow, 902 S. Vail, spent 10 days in New York, dividing their stay between New York City to attend plays, and to relax at a resort in the Catskill Mountains.

It was a first time camping trip for the James Hahns, 919 N. Ridge. They chose Pickeral Lake, near Phillips, Wis. for their camp site and took three of their seven children along. It was such a successful adventure that they plan to go again next year, taking all their children.

HIKING, horseback riding and sight seeing were major activities enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. William G. Grashorn, 817 S. Walnut, during their 3-week stay in a mountain cabin in Colorado's Rocky Mountain National Park. The Grashorns' children, Susan, Ann, David and Jimmy, accompanied them.

Jackson Port in Door County, Wis., is the favorite vacationing center for the Jack Hey family. They and their three daughters, Jean, Betty and Marianne, are just home from a week's stay.

While the fishing might have been better, it still was a fine vacation for the Frank Helmbolds, 646 S. Dunton, and their guests. They were accompanied by her sister and brother-in-law, the Sidney Gustavsons of Chicago and three young people, including their daughter Debby and an Arlington Heights friend, Gail Guderley and the Gustavsons' son, John.

The Paul Barnes, 702 S. Dunton, and son, Timmy, returned home Saturday from a 2-week vacation on the West Coast. They flew to San Francisco, where they visited friends and relatives in the area and then flew to Medford, Ore. for a 10-day visit with long-time friends and former Park Forest neighbors, Col. and Mrs. R. B. Harper.

Their visit with the Harpers was especially interesting as they are world travelers, and have just returned from a tour of the Orient. Col. Harper is an enthusiastic photographer and had many interesting pictures from around the world while Mrs. Harper collects international recipes and is a gourmet cook.

Before returning home, they visited friends in Portland, who took them on an extensive tour of the city.

THE T. M. MENDLS, 745 S. Vail, and daughter, Barbara, recently returned from a 6325 mile motor tour of the West. Included in their travels were visits to Salt Lake City, Squaw Valley, San Francisco and Disneyland.

While in Los Angeles, the high point of the trip for Barbara was a tour of the television studio where she watched "Gunsmoke" and shook the hand of the famous Marshall Dilon himself, and who gave her a personally autographed picture.

Other points of interest on the homeward journey, were Las Vegas, Hoover Dam and the Grand Canyon, with a stopover in Phoenix, where they enjoyed a 3-day visit with Mrs. Mendl's mother and family.

Mr. and Mrs. William Ball, 454 Banbury, entertained at a dinner Monday in the Anvil Club of Dundee, for Jack Hussey, who is visiting here from Rio de Janeiro.

Mrs. R. J. Malcomson, 727 S. Belmont, returned Sunday from California, where she visited her son, Lt. j.g. Richard Malcomson, and his family in Coronado for a week, and then went on to Los Angeles, San Francisco and Denver. Mrs. Malcomson's young granddaughter, Laurie Ann Butler of Glen Ellyn, accompanied her.

THE WILLIAM T. Spilmans and their two daughters, Caroline and Leslie, are here from Bethelehm, Pa., for a visit. Former Scarsdale residents, they are the houseguests of the Richard Lillebergs, 314 E. Rockwell.

Mrs. Lilleberg's father, Christ Nygaard, left for his home in Kristiansund-N, Norway, after a 4-month visit here, and their daughter, Vicky, left for a 10-day camping trip with her aunt and uncle, the Peer Masengs of Palatine, and their three sons, on their lake property in Sturgeon Bay, Wis.

It didn't take much persuasion to have young Scott Peterson stay here with his grandparents, the Larry Kussows, 815 S. Burton, when his parents stopped here when returning from a visit with relatives in Texas. He fels very much at home in Arlington Heights, which was his home for a short while.

The Roy Baumanns, 421 E. Orchard, and the Carl Bakers of Rolling Meadows and their daughter, Linda, spent the past five days is Sister Bay, Wis., visiting Mrs. Baumann's sister and family, the Gust Carlsons.

MRS. RICHARD Foster of Denver, and her son, Mark, are in Arlington Heights, to spend a week as the houseguests of the Frederick Fraizers, 115 S. Brighton.

The Robert W. Careys of Stonegate have been transferred to East Lansing, Mich. They have left Arlington Heights to spend several weeks vacationing in Charlevoix before going to Lansing.

Bill Bredehoft, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Bredehoft, 201 S. Wilshire, left recently for a week of cave exploring near Bloomington, Ind.

Mrs. Bredehoft entertained at a luncheon and kitchen shower last Thursday in honor of Miss Gail Smith. Each guest was asked to bring a favorite recipe.

Miss Smith and her fiance, Bill Carns, both of Stonegate, will be married Aug. 24, in First Presbyterian Church of Arlington Heights.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Gran, 221 S. Derbyshire, were in Chicago Saturday for the wedding of their niece, Miss Judy Flickinger, to Fred Yurk in Our Lady of Mercy Church. A reception was held afterwards in Mar-Lac House in Oak Park.

The Grans' daughter, Barbara, was a bridesmaid for her cousin.

MORE JOY for the H. Bruce Rasmussens comes with the birth of a new grandchild. The baby, Robert Scott, was born June 26, in Furth, near Nurenburg, Germany, and is the second son of their son and daughter-in-law, Capt. and Mrs. Robert Rasmussen.

The Rasmussens just returned to their home, 202 S. Windsor, after spending the weekend in Spread Eagle, near the Iron Mountain, Mich., visiting friends.

The Lowell F. Christys' son, Lowell Jr., 505 S. Belmont, left Monday for Grand Marais canoe camp, to stay through Labor Day.

Miss Arlene Kelley, whose marriage to John Crellin of Mount Prospect, will take place Aug. 23 in the First Methodist Church of Arlington Heights, was feted at a china, crystal and silver shower last Wednesday. Hostesses were two of her bridesmaids, Miss Molly Miller, 122 Clarendon, and Miss Linda Christy at the Christy home, 505 S. Belmont.

Mr. and Mrs. John Eakins of Minneapolis, and their three children came to Arlington Heights to visit Mrs. Eakin's parents, the Wiliam G. Frankes 126 S. Pine, and to attend Mr. Eakin's 10th Arlington High School class reunion July 6 in Old Orchard Country Club. The reunion was followed by a family picnic in Deer Grove.

The Eakins visit coincided with that of her sister, Marilyn Gustafson, who came from San Diego, Calif. with her small son, Stefen. Both enjoyed renewing acquaintances with their friends and former neighbors.

THE JAMES H. Peerys, 504 S. Beverly, and son, Bill, returned recently from a 3-week trip which began in the Chase Park Hotel in St. Louis, where Mr. Peery attended the Central Supply Association Board Meetings. At the close of the meetings, members gathered at the Glen Echo Country Club for a cocktail and dinner party.

Leaving St. Louis, the Peerys drove East to visit their elder son, Jim, and his family in Princeton, N. J., but enroute, stopped with their younger son to visit points of interest along the way. Included in their stopovers was the small town of Erwin, Tenn., where Mr. Peery was born and which he has not revisited since he left as a baby. Gettysburg, Washington, D. C., Williamsburg and New York City were also included in their itinerary.

Shortly after returning home, they welcomed the Donald Peerys and their daughter, Kay, who came from Charleston, W. Va., for a week's visit.

The John Halls, 1305 Woodford, who had been vacationing with friends at International Falls, Minn., and Mercer, Wis., came home Sunday to a pleasant surprise.

As they drove into their driveway, they were greeted by Homewood friends, the Roy Bringelsons, who had prepared a surprise dinner for 15 weary travelers. Accompanying the Halls on their vacation were their children, Candy and John, whom they picked up at the Boy Scout Camp in Wild Rose, Wis., the Robert Freebergs of Chicago and son, Keith, and Mrs. Roy Petroff and her two children, Christine and Michael.

The Fay Hamiltons, 127 S. Brighton, spent the past three weeks vacationing in Mercer, Wis.

OVERNIGHT guests of the Richard Dunlops, 1115 Mayfair, were her cousins, the David Swansons of Barnes, Pa., and four of their five children, who stopped for a visit while on their way to Minnesota for a camping vacation.

Mrs. Kenneth Greenwood of Syracuse, N. Y., is in Arlington Heights, visiting her daughter and family, the George Coopers, 318 S. Gibbons. Mrs. Greenwood came to be on hand for the birth of her ninth grandchild, Sheila Margaret, who was born Saturday in Northwest Community Hospital.

Barbara Neckar, daughter of the Louis Neckars, 516 Mayfair, marked her 10th birthday Thursday with a slumber party. Her guests were Betsy Deunk, Jean Combs and Claire Schmoyer. (A

Teens Give 'Pygmalion' At Theatre

Curtain time is 8 at Arlington High School Little Theatre.

Members of the summer drama group in the cast are Beverly Seng as Eliza Doolittle; Gene Good, Henry Higgins; Doug McDonald, Col. Pickering; Irene Haughey, Alfred Doolittle; Diane Gaynor, Mrs. Pearce; Margaret Moeller, Mrs. Higgins.

MARSHA MASNY will appear as Mrs. Eynsford Hill; Shelley Hamilton, Miss Eynsford Hill; John Moeller, Freddy Eynsford Hill; Susan LeBeau, bystander and narrator; Mary Beth Cassidy, bystander and parlor maid.

Director is Susan Peters, head of the district drama program and a drama student at Northwestern University.

Two Teens Arrested; Disorderly

Two Arlington Heights teenagers were arrested for disorderly conduct Saturday night, one for the third time in the past few weeks.

Ronald Carda of 326 S. Waterman and David Schwolow of 13 N. Pine were arrested shortly after midnight after a warning from a police officer.

POLICE reported the youths were warned to quiet down after they pulled up behind a squad car at Dunton and Campbell and started yelling and blowing bird whistles. They were arrested when they started making the noises again as the officer got back into his car.

Both admitted they had been drinking, but gave contradictory stories. Carda told police they consumed beer at a drive-in; Schwolow said they obtained it from a man with whom they hitched a ride.

WHEN TAKEN to the station, the two argued, cursed and hit the wall, police said.

Carda already faces two other counts of disorderly conduct and a charge of possession of alcohol under age, which will be heard Aug. 7 in the court of Police Magistrate Robert C. Buckley. Six other 17-year-olds were found guilty of disorderly conduct in one of the cases in which he is involved.

A SICK BODY CAN BE LIKE A PRISON

There are many people who suffer recurring pains and discomforts. Some of them are continuously taking self-treatments. Others do nothing and permit their body to be a tormenting prison.

In this wonderful age to be healthy should be the rule and sickness an exception. It is wise to consult your physician whenever your body is not a pleasure to live in.

NOW—42 NEW HOMES OF LIVING LIGHT

HOME OF LIVING LIGHT

AN EXCITING NEW CONCEPT OF LIVING—A HIT LAST FALL —NOW EVEN GREATER VARIETY

The Home of Living Light, a star attraction at the 1962 Seattle World's Fair, came to Chicagoland last fall. There were 24 beautiful new all-electric homes offering a fresh new concept: Living Light.

This spring there are 42 new Homes of Living Light to choose from. Dramatically, they demonstrate that planned lighting—blueprinted and built in—makes an enormous difference in a home.

"Living Light" is the right light in the right place for working, reading, relaxing, entertaining. Light is decorative, effective, practical, flexible.

In kitchen, laundry, and hobby areas there's shadow-free illumination on all work surfaces. Well-lit closets are the rule.

A full staff of electrical servants awaits you. Throughout these homes there are automatic electric appliances to ease your work load. You'll cook, bake, launder, and live in an atmosphere of charm with completely modern efficiency.

The cleanest, most comfortable heat there is— Flameless Electric Heat is standard in Homes of Living Light. This fresher feeling heat takes no moisture from the air. It lets you dial the heat you want in each room. And it is so clean! There's no fuel or flame to make dirt.

Homes that stay younger longer. No two Homes of Living Light are alike in design or price. Each offers conveniences that will make life easier and your home more saleable. And you can be certain that modern electric living won't go out of style.

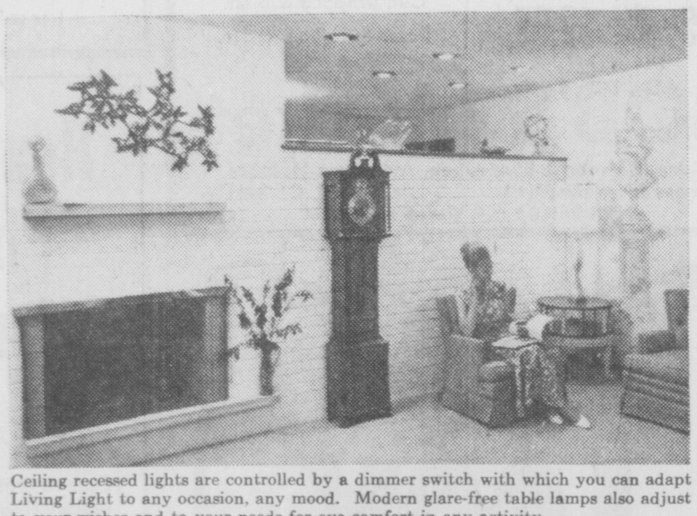
The glowing nighttime beauty of a Home of Living Light makes it the pride of any neighborhood. Colorful and flexible, it makes possible effects you can't achieve with any other form of decoration.

What a dramatic welcome for guests! And the year-round comfort of clean, flameless electric heat makes this home as livable as it is lovely. (Builder's name on request.)

Living Light does far more than beautify a home; it is useful and practical everywhere. Here, it provides perfect, glare-free illumination in one of the locations where a lady needs it most.



Ceiling recessed lights are controlled by a dimmer switch with which you can adapt Living Light to any occasion, any mood. Modern glare-free table lamps also adjust to your wishes and to your needs for eye comfort in any activity.

Concealed wall bracket lighting in bedrooms is a feature in many Homes of Living Light. This, too, is controlled by a dimmer switch.

An all-electric kitchen is a cool, comfortable joy—and plenty of planned lighting everywhere makes it an even happier place to work.

Half Negro Unemployed

Tiny Colp Attempting To Solve Problems

by J. SULLIVAN

COLP, (UPI)—This tiny town in the northwest part of Williamson County in southern Illinois suffers from unemployment like many other towns.

The problem is similar to that which disturbs big cities and little towns from coast to coast and from north to south.

But the attempts to solve the problem here appear unique in these days of racial demonstrations and occasional violence.

Colp has a population of about 400, half Negro. Of the Negro population, about 90 per cent are unemployed, according to William (Junior) Hatchett, a Negro.

Hatchett is the owner of the New Orleans Club, Inc., here, a private club of which he is a member and an officer. More than 90 per cent of the club's members are white, he said.

He said Colp's Negro leaders are trying to do something to get their less fortunate neighbors off relief and back on the road to productive lives.

A LARGE part of the national race problem "seems to result from Negro economics," he said.

"By using the community as a testing ground, it may offer results that may be useful in other communities with similar situations," he said.

IN MAY, 1962, Hatchett asked the leading citizens of Colp to meet at his home to discuss some "positive approaches to better the conditions of the Negroes, morally and economically, in order to avoid a local race problem," he said.

"As a result of this meeting, a group by the name of the Negro Development Association of Colp was born," he said. "The NDA is not associated with any national organization and its purposes are to get 'relief' from the Illinois Public Aid Commission and establish a community pride from the youngest organized children's groups to the adult groups."

HATCHETT said a sympathetic attorney helped charter NDA as a non-profit Illinois corporation in December 1962 and introduced NDA leaders to the Community Development Association of Southern Illinois University at nearby Carbondale.

The SIU group conducted a community survey to determine the classifications of the available labor force.

"Many persons were astounded to learn that 90 per cent plus of the Negro community was unemployed," Hatchett said. "The survey also revealed that almost 100 per cent of the Negroes of employable age were forced to leave to find work in the industrial areas while the whites were able to retain a great percentage of their youth.

"Consequently, the Negro community of Colp has dwindled to the pensioned Negro and the dependent children, and its working force is now small, but yet unable to find work," he said.

"THERE IS strong faith displayed by the Negroes away from Colp that this town will make a comeback.

"All have shown a willingness to contribute whatever knowledge they have acquired in the cities to help retrain the youth here, and to set up community clinics to stimulate the youth and adults in such things as education, supervised recreation, personal appearance, public conduct, hygiene and most of all, stressing the rewards received by earning one's own keep," Hatchett said.

$3,500 Taken In Cool Job

GRAYSLAKE, (UPI)(UPI)—Four bandits locked a restaurant manager, his wife and their son in a walk-in coler Monday and fled with $3,500 in cash, an unknown number of checks and other loot.

Authorities aid they believed the gunmen belonged to the same gang that looted a steak house adjoining George Diamond's country club near Antioch last month.

LAKE COUNTY sheriff's deputies said the four bandits confronted Robert H. Ramsey, 43, manager of the Country Squire Restaurant near here, and his wife, Doris, 46, in the living room of their home. They forced Ramsey to open the restaurant safe and then locked the Ramseys and their son, Robert Jr., 12, in the coolers while they ransacked the restaurant.

Deputies said the bandits broke open vending machines and stole watches and a diamond ring in addition to taking the cash and checks.

The bandits were armed with revolvers and wore shoulder-length black masks, crepe-soled shoes and pullover seaters, Ramsey told authorities.

RAMSEY REMOVED a panel from the side of the cooler and called police about three hours later.

Two hours later, an unidentified caller told Grayslake police to let the hostages out of the coler.

Bandits escaped with $20,000 after locking six employes in a cooler and ransacking the steak house in the earlier robbery.

Sexpot Mansfield Covers Up—Talks

Mansfield stopped in Houston Monday and paused long enough to give her opinions on college, education, Playboy magazine and the Profumo sex scandals in England.

Miss Mansfield arrived in the 94-degree Houston weather carrying a full-length sable. She said it was for her two chihuahuas to lie on.

HER VIEWS:

—On higher education: "It's sometimes hard to maintain my sexpot image to the world when I only lack six months of having a college degree. At times I have to try to cover up — my college education."

T—he Porfu mocsaal:stdn"I

—The Profumo scandals: "It is certainly a shame to put the bedroom antics of people we all admire on the front page and at the disposition of children."

—On Playboy magazine, which she is suing for running nude photos of her: "I didn't authorize those pictures to run in America. They are for Europe and par for the course over there."

Miss Mansfield, originally of Dallas, was in Houston to act as a hostess for a series of private receptions for an oil field supply company.

'Mutiny' Held Over For 1 More Week

"Mutiny On The Bounty," now showing at the Golf Mill Theatre as an exclusive northwest suburban run, will be held over for a second week.

The film based on the story of the H. M. S. Bounty, is the first in the history of motion pictures that a ship was built from the keel up, rather than purchase a vessel and remake it to fit the needs of the drama.

At a cost of more than $750,000, this ship was constructed in Lunenburg, Nova Scotia, where some of the finest sailing vessels of the past have been built.

THE GOLF Mill Theatre is open for matinees every day and has free parking facilities for 2,000 cars.

Beverly Hapke, 949 Algonquin Road, Des Plaines, will exhibit a collection of her paintings in the Art Gallery of the Golf Mill Theatre during the month of August.

Miss Hapke studied at the Chicago Academy of Fine Arts and on a scholarship she won at the Art Institute of Chicago. On June 30, she was awarded the Americana Corporation Purchase Award at the Libertyville Art Exhibition.

HER EXHIBIT at the theatre will feature oil paintings of abstract impressionism, figures, boats and street scenes.

Free coffee is served every evening in the luxury color TV lounge of the Golf Mill Theatre which shares the spacious lobby with the modern Art Gallery.

Political Climate Hot As Temperatures Rise

Heat Factors: GOP, Re-map, Commission

from UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

The heat of July served to make hotter an already hot political climate in Illinois.

Schemes were hatched and cloakroom meetings held on:

1. A court suit challenging the constitutionality of the State Senate being divided under a geographic formula.
2. Reapportionment of the state's House of Representatives.
3. Leadership of the Illinois Budgetary Commission.
4. The jockeying by avowed and potential Republican candidates to gain party support for their 1964 campaigns.

A special panel of three federal judges ruled Monday that Illinois does not have to apportion its Senate on the basis of population.

The judges, in a 2-1 decision, upheld the constitutionality of a 1954 state amendment which gives Downstate Illinois permanent control of the State Senate by a 34-24 margin.

ACCORDING to the 1960 census, Cook County had more than half of the state's population.

Two of the judges said in separate opinions that the amendment, approved by the state's voters, was legal. The third judge dissented but wrote no opinion.

A suit challenging constitutionality of the amendment was filed Feb. 18 by Joseph Germano, director of District 31 of the United Steelworkers Union, and seven other union representatives living in Chicago. They contended the amendment was unfair to labor and to urban voters.

JUDGE ELMER Schnackenberg of the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals and U.S. District Judge William J. Campbell upheld the amendment's constitutionality. U.S. District Judge Richard B. Austin dissented, but did not set down his reasons.

"If the representation of each state by two senators is valid, because based on compromise, then the position for state senators, based on compromise, is likewise valid," Schnackenberg said.

Attorneys for Germano said he would appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court.

IN THE MATTER of reapportionment of the House, a 10-man list of Republican nominations to a commission to reapportion the House was formally handed Monday to Gov. Otto Kerner.

The members had been selected last week in Chicago by the Republican State Central Committee. Each party must nominate 10 candidates for the commission and the governor will choose five from each list.

State Sen. George Drach, R—Springfield, said because the governor had vetoed a House reapportionment bill passed by the Legislature it was Kerner's responsibility to "extricate the state from the situation at this point."

DEMOCRATS were expected to draw up their 10-man list this week.

If the special commission is unable to agree on a map, Illinois voters will be faced with an at-large election whereby 177 or more State Representative candidates run statewide.

Meeting last Friday was a newly formed committee of GOP senators who want to retain Sen. Everett Peters, R—St. Joseph, as chairman of the Illinois Budgetary Commission.

They issued a statement urging Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley and Gov. Kerner to "call off their hatchet men" and let the budgetary commission members vote as they please.

HOUSE GOP Leader W. J. Murphy of Antioch claims he has enough votes on the commission to win the chairmanship from Peters.

Nine commission members — all except the four Senate Republican members—have signed a petition calling for a commission meeting to elect officers Monday at Springfield.

Senators who back Murphy and accuse Mayor Daley of behind-the-scenes scheming are John A. Graham, R—Barrington; Dwight P. Friedrich, R—Centralia, and John P. Meyer, R—Danville.

ON THE candidates' front, Charles H. Percy, only officially announced GOP candidate for governor at press time, continued to make friends in Downstate counties. He speaks in Danville (Vermilion County) tonight, Thursday.

Hayes Robertson, Cook County GOP chairman, was expected to disclose his candidacy last night, Wednesday, at his annual Rich Township golf outing.

Charles F. Carpentier, 67-year-old secretary of state, will announce his candidacy for the gubernatorial nomination Sunday in East Moline.

FORMER U.S. Rep. Timothy P. Sheehan said Tuesday he will be Carpentier's Chicago campaign manager. Sheehan, who served four terms in Congress and was once GOP candidate for mayor of Chicago, said:

"I will handle the 50 Chicago wards for Mr. Carpentier. I may also be handling the suburban areas. However, that decision will not be made for a few weeks."

Elmer Hoffman, DuPage County GOP leader currently serving as a U.S. Representative in Congress, announced Saturday he is a candidate for secretary of state.

Sisters End 1st Year At Pesche Greenhouse

Bette and Rita Pesche and Alice Pesche Kalal, owners of Pesche's Flowers & Gifts, 605 E. Golf Road, Arlington Heights, are celebrating their first anniversary this week.

The three women, daughters of Fred Pesche of Des Plaines, have had considerable experience in floral design and were practically raised in a greenhouse.

Besides practical training, each originally attended schools for artistry and design in floral arrangements.

IT HAD ALWAYS been their desire to open their own shop and they are grateful to the people of the northwest suburbs for the success enjoyed in their first year of operation, they said.

The store is already noted for its attractive and unusual floral wedding designs. Bette Pesche has conducted study groups and given demonstrations at many floral conventions. (B-9

PR Honors To Hospital In Contest

Sherman Hospital of Elgin has been notified that its public relations program for the year ended June 1 is one of nine hospitals around the country selected for honorable mention awards in a national contest sponsored by Hospital Management magazine of Chicago.

Awards will be presented in New York Aug. 26 during the annual convention of the American Hospital Association. Harold W. Salmon, hospital administrator, and Mrs. Florence Slown Hyde, public relations director, will attend the awards presentation.

The first place citation will be given to Evanston Hospital, Evanston. The Children's Memorial Hospital of Chicago, which will also receive an honorable mention certificate, and Sherman Hospital are the only other Chicago area hospitals selected for awards.

This year's award will be the fourth received by Sherman Hospital in the national contest. (A-14

VIRGINIA TERRACE

A motor trip to California, a family reunion, and a 2-day visit to Lake Tahoe were the highlights of the Dominick Massa family's 2-week vacation. Dom, Mary, and son, Kenneth, left their home at 1710 W. Olive on July 12. They motored to the Edwardsville home of the Charles Massas, who joined them on their trip. The families drove to Modesto, Calif. where they visited Mary's mother, Mrs. Margaret Martino, whom Mary had not seen for nine years. Three other sisters, Mrs. Josephine Tomlins and Mrs. Nicky Groutaus of Modesto and Mrs. Carmella Knox of Oakland, were at the Martino home awaiting their arrival as they had not seen Mary for 11 years. Mrs. Martino was overjoyed at having her five daughters with her at one time.

While the Massas were in Modesto, the Martino family held a reunion. Eighty members gathered at a hall in Modesto, an orchestra adding to the happy celebration. For two days of their vacation the Massa families and Mary's mother stayed at a cabin on Lake Tahoe. The Massas returned home Saturday.

Kenneth Von Ebers, son of the Donald Von Ebers, 1410 N. Illinois, was baptized in St. Thomas of Villanova Rectory, Palatine on July 21. Godparents were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Herrity, 1347 Jo Lane. Following the ceremony, the Von Ebers hosted a dinner for Donald and Jane Von Ebers and children, and Joseph and Barbara Herrity and sons, Joseph and Dennis.

MEMBERS of the Hal Cates family, 1334 N. Yale, celebrated birthdays last week. Nancy was 17 on July 24, and Bobby was 3 July 26. A family dinner was held in honor of the two celebrants on July 24. As a special treat to Nancy, her parents plan to take her and sister Cindy to dinner and a play in the near future.

Last Friday afternoon Joan Donath held a tea in honor of an Ohio guest, Mrs. Edith Husted, who is visiting with her son and daughter-in-law, Bob and Shirle. Among those getting acquainted were Shirle and Mrs. Husted, Joan Donath, Pierrette Leckie, Phyllis Fluhrer and Betty Sorensen.

The Robert Nelsons, 1710 Oakton, hosted a patio party last Sunday for a group of neighbots and children. Those attending in addition to Bob and Sandra Nelson and children, Robyn and Robert, were the Charles Millhausers, Hugh Bredenbecks, Robert Freemans and Jesse Galloways.

The Terace bids farewell to Ray and Mary Funk and children, Jackie and Teri. After living four years at 1401 Clarendon, the Funks moved Wednesday to their new home at 595 Newberry Place.

A jet flight and an Arizona vacation were dreams come true for 17-year-old Jeanie Cuderley, who left O'Hare Field for a vacation in Mesa Sunday. Jeanie will spend one to two weeks with her aunt, uncle, and three cousins, the A. W. Waddells, before returning home to 1228 N. Yale.

The Ted Larson family attended a Prudential Insurance Agents party at Sherwood Park in Cedar Lake on July 24.

A WEEK' vacation in Northern Wisconsin was recently enjoyed by Bill and Anne Cardinell and children, Billy and Candy. They had a cabin at Back-o'-Beyond Resort on Teal Lake, near Hayward. Anne returned with a good fisherman's tale about the big muskie that got away. The Cardinells returned home to 1711 W Olive on July 23.

"Dede" Smith, a Terrace newcomer, was 4 July 27. A party was given in her honor on July 26 by her parents, the Dave Smiths, 1259 N. Chicago, with grandmother, Mrs. H. Wayne Smith of Clarendon Hills assisting. Arlington Heights guests were "Dede's" sister Barbara, Linda and Donna Kenney, Julie and Janine Krewer, Diane Yore and Pam Mercer. Friends from Des Plaines were Carolyn Tuohey, Kris Tuserud and Timmy Krumweide. Cousins Cindy and Denise Kennedy of Villa Park completed the party list.

Mrs. Kenneth Flesch was the guest of honor at a surprise baby shower given by Joan Donath and Ann Kennedy in the Donath home, 1421 N. Chicago, on July 25. Attending were Loretta Kielbasa and daughter, Marlene, Gertrude Zubb, Alfeda Gorny and daughter, Nancy, Trudy Vonderheide, Phyllis Fluhrer, Pierrette Leckie, Alice Brown, Betty Sorensen, Betty Cech, Shirle Husted and Phyllis Busch. Also sending baby gifts were Althea Moeller, Ann Nowak, and Joan Zaucha.

NEWCOMERS to the Terrace are Ray and Gail Israel, who moved from Palatine to their new home at 1247 N. Chicago this week. They have two children, Jean Marie, 2, and Kevin, 11 months. Ray is employed by Electro-Seal in Des Plaines. At present the Israels are busy redecorating. Gail likes to sew in her leisure time, and Ray raises tropical fish and builds model cars.

Valerie Good and children, Jimmy and Johnny, 1310 N. Illinois, recently returned from a 3-week stay in Seattle with Valerie's mother, Mrs. Marie Herbstler. While they were away, Fred Good spent two weeks at Fort Riley, Kan., with the Army Reserve.

Marcia Cech competed with the Arlington High School Drill Corps in the South Milwaukee Music Festival Saturday. On Sunday, which was her 18th birthday, Marcia again traveled with the drill corps, this time to Woodstock.

Glenn and Deanna Olson and daughter, Dawn Marie, 1342 N. Chicago, spent last weekend vacationing in Wisconsin. They visited Bob's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Olson, at their cottage in Door County.

Myrna Dittmer and Peggy MacMillan were hostesses at a get-acquainted coffee in the Dittmer residence, 1218 N. Race, on July 18. Guests were Nancy Polewko and Meryl Jesen, other Terrace newcomers, along with 15 women from the Race St. area.

Carl Massa, son of the Dominick Massas, returned home Saturday from six weeks of ROTC training at Fort Riley, Kan. Carl left for Fort Riley shortly after finishing the term at the University of Illinois.

A BIRTHDAY luncheon was given in honor of Andy Staubitz on July 26 by his parents, the Sheldon Staubitzes, 1447 N. Race. Andy was 8 on July 29. Five friends, Reese Williams, Scott Sucher, Steven Wilson and Kenny and Bobby Herrmann had lunch and played games.

A wedding in Springfield on July 13 held a special meaning for the Hal Gates family because Hal had the honor of giving his niece, Sue Bracewell, in marriage. Hal, Marguerite and children spent the rest of the weekend in Springfield. The children especially enjoyed the swimming pool at the Holiday Inn where they stayed.

The Donald Kennedy family, 1425 N. Chicago, returned from a week's vacation in Northern Wisconsin on July 20. Don, Ann and children, Danny and Shelley, stayed at a resort, Catinka Village. One of the highlights was a trip to Manitowish Waters where they had dinner and show in which a girl from the U. S. Olympic team was a participant.

Margaret Noon, 1221 N. Chicago, celebrated her third birthday July 26. A party was given for her Saturday by her parents, John and Margaret Noon, and brothers, John, James and Jonathan.

Loni De Larson, who was 9 July 23, was honored at three different parties the week of her birthday. July 14 the Richard Bureses of Broadview were guests at a dinner party given by Loni's parents, the Ted Larsons, 1202 N. Race. A birthday party for a group of her young friends was given on July 18. Those who went swimming at Pioneer Park and had supper afterwards in the Larson home were Loni's sister, Thea, Kathy and Vicki Schmidt, Dawn Dolejs, Linda Cech, Trudi and Sue Pods and Roxanne Petrucci. The third occasion honoring Loni was a picnic at Waukegan State Park on July 21. Guests in addition to Mrs. Larson and children were Sylvia Rockefeller, Mrs. Larson's sister, and her fiance, Adam Zeller.

JESSE AND Genevieve Galloway, 111 N. Wilke, went to Freeport July 20 where they visited the Historical and Farm Museum. They were especialy interested in the Jane Addams section of the museum and in the display of early household appliances. Sunday Jesse and Genevieve visited White Pines Park while Catherine and Michael Galloway stayed home with their grandmother, Mrs. Evelyn Posel of Berwyn, who had spent a week here.

A morning "coffee" was given in honor of Nancy Pollard and Lillian Helwig, recent newcomers to the Terrace, by Betty Bloom and Marlowe Sorensen on July 23, in the Sorensen home, 1339 N. Illinois. Guests were Sue Branch, another recent Terrace arrival, Barb Bade Shirlee Pircher, Helen Marienau, Jane Von Ebers, Jo Minette, Eva Speer, Carol Vogt and Marguerite Cates.

A "cinderella" theme was followed at Sara Martin's fourth birthday party Saturday. Those helping Sara celebrate the July 27 date were Susie Denson, Jeanie and Todd Davies, Lisa Powell, Julie Simpson, Thea Larson and Sara's brother, Brian. She is the daughter of the Robert Martins, 1614 Oakton.

Mrs. John Noon and children returned from a 5-week vacation in New York. They visited Mrs. Noon's parents, the John O'Connells, at their cottage at Southhampton, Long Island.

Eastwood Events

Forty years of married life together will be observed on Aug. 4 by Mr. and Mrs. William J. Camphausen of 306 N. Brighton Place. A family dinner will mark the occasion attended by the couple's three daughters and their families: Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Tarchalla and Billy, Susan and Carol; Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert T. Lehman and Nancy and Cindy; and Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Arkin and Phillip. Happy anniversary wishes are extended to the Camphausens.

Out-of-town guest at the Bruce McBride home at 216 N. Brighton Place is grandmother Mrs. Esther McBride from Rochester, N.Y. Colds have curtailed some of the planned activities, and to climax their ailings 13-year-old Cassandra fell on Sunday requiring eight stitches in her mouth.

FOR BOBBY Evans' eighth birthday on July 29 his parents chaperoned Bob and his friend Johnny Heitz on Sunday for a day of excitement at Riverview. Bobby's sister, Carol, and brothers, Dick and Bill, went along for the fun. Bob is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Evans of 215 N. Beverly Lane.

Birthdays are the "big time" news of the neighborhood these last July weeks. On the 24th Mrs. Jack Mutti was honored with a Polynesian dinner at the Kon-Tiki in the Chicago-Sheraton.

Virginia Heitz' July 19 birthday and Mrs. Mutti's were observed jointly last Tuesday when members of their birthday group celebrated by dining at the Martinique and appropriately seeing "Happy Birthday" at the Drury Lane Theatre. Others in the party, besides Virginia and Casey, were both of their mothers and Mrs. Helen Kasper.

FOR NANCY Audette's 11th birthday on July 2 she was hostess to Betsy Drake, Margaret Johnson, Carol Evans, and her sister, Julie, for lunch and a splash party at Rolling Green Country Club. Nancy is the niece of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Peterson of 710 E. St. James St.

Betsy Drake was also 11 this past week. July 30 is her big day and it was observed with luncheon and movies for her friends, Carol Evans and Nancy Audette. Betsy's parents are Mr. and Mrs. James Drake, 411 N. Beverly Lane.

Celebrating a July 20 birthday Mrs. Blanche Baker of Beverly Lane observed the day with her family visiting at the home of her mother-in-law near Madison, Wis.

THE JACK MUTTIS were also celebrants at the birthday doings of Vince Osweiler of 307 Beverly Lane. On a Saturday evening the two couples dined at the Des Plaines Elks Club and on Sunday they were in the audience for a performance of "High Button Shoes" at the Highland Park Music Theatre.

Over the past weekend the Oscar Johnsons of N. Beverly Lane celebrated Mrs. Johnson's July birthday with two other couples visiting at a farm in Beecher, Ill.

CONGRATULATIONS are extended to Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Fitz-Patrick, 319 N. Beverly, who became grandparents for the second time on July 11. Their first grandson Mark Avery, was born on that day in Evanston Hospital to their daughter, Judy, and Avery Smith of Northfield. The Smiths also have a daughter, one-and-a-half-year-old Tracy. (A

Amdahl Is Appointed

Harold Amdahl, Palatine, has been appointed manager of the underwriting department of Investors Security Life Insurance Co., Arlington Heights.

A native of Minneapolis, Amdahl is a graduate of the University of Minnesota with a degree in business administration. For 14 years prior to joining Investors Security he was employed as senior underwriter at Lutheran Brotherhood in Minneapolis.

At Cornell

Two freshmen from Arlington Heights have been named to the spring semester dean's list in the College of Arts and Sciences at Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y.

They are Jerome A. Franz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Franz of 1101 W. Miner St., and James R. Hosek, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Hosek of 804 W. Elm. (CC

Planners to Study Zone Change Plea

The Arlington Heights Plan Commission will hold a public hearing Aug. 7 to consider rezoning of a 10-acre land parcel east of Buffalo Grove Road on the south side of Palatine Road.

Request has been made for a change in zoning from single family residential to a combination of commercial and multiple family residential.

THE NORTH 280 feet of the property fronting on Palatine Road would be B-2 (general retail business) if the request is granted.

The south 980 feet of the parcel would be R-5 (apartment zoning providing 2,500 square feet of land area per living unit).

The hearing will be at 8 p. m. in the Arlington Heights Municipal Building.

THE STRUCTURE is still standing, but two bedrooms were completely burned out and the whole house was damaged when a $20,000 fire gutted the George Natzke residence at 1107 N. Beverly late Monday night. A telephone operator phoned in the alarm at 1:28 a.m., and three trucks with 21 firemen, including 13 volunteers, answered the call. Firemen had to break through the sides of the house when fire got into the walls. Chief Harvey Carothers said the blaze started in the attic. A light was probably left on and clothes hanging over a conduit caught fire, he said. Three other minor calls were answered by the Arlington Heights department during the week. (Staff Photo) (A

Drought Won't Come Back This Year—Maybe

Expert Warns Too Much Water 'Bad'

by SONDI BAKER
Staff Writer

Look out your window — the grass is lush and green, growing faster than it can be cut, despite a recent drought termed the worst since the Middle Thirties by horticulture experts.

Recent deluges temporarily eased water problems plaguing area lawn owners, but bluegrass may brown and wither again if a predicted prolonged dry spell occurs this month.

Lawn watering may be necessary again.

Parched brown and yellow by a dry spell that began almost a year ago, local lawns were revived by July weekend downpours totaling approximately six inches.

THE RAINS penetrated the soil and should keep neighborhoods green for two weeks or longer, according to Carl Mees, coordinator of the Cook County Extension Service.

With occasional showers during August, lawns in the northwest suburbs "could remain green the remainder of the summer," he added, but warned August is traditionally "long and dry."

One reason area lawns burned quickly the first part of the summer, according to Mees, is that the suburbs "went into the winter short of water and came out even shorter," during the course of the current drought which began a year ago.

Alarming drops in water levels, averaging 20-30 feet each year, have created multiple municipal and individual problems, including that of protecting lawns.

ALTERNATE-DAY sprinkling regulations are common throughout the area, including Palatine, Wheeling, Arlington Heights and Elk Grove.

Des Plaines, Glenview, Barrington and Northbrook resorted to total sprinkling bans this summer.

Mount Prospect residents were recently asked to practice restraint in the use of water during evening hours when there was the heaviest demand on local water system.

Arlington Heights is putting in a seventh well, Mount Prospect a sixth, Palatine a fifth, Elk Grove has okayed a third, and Wheeling this month discovered there was no water at a new well site. Wheeling needs are estimated to have increased eight fold in three years.

Many Prospect Heights residents have contracted for new individual wells or are changing over to heavier pumps required to raise the water.

Recent downpours brought many reservoirs back up to or near capacity again. Sustained rains will solve the municipal and individual water problems, but not for this summer. It takes nine months to a year for rainwater to seep down to pump level.

SO, TO THE dismay of many lawn growers, sprinkling restrictions remain and the prospect of withering lawns looms nearer with every rainless day.

When and if lawns begin to brown again this month, what should local residents to do save their grass?

"Just because its your day for water, doesn't mean you have to go out and sprinkle the lawn," emphasized Robert Hood, assistant Farm Bureau advisor at Arlington Heights.

Ironically, many people spend too much time watering their lawns and actually do more harm than good.

"There is a lot of water wasted," Hood said.

It's best not to water lawns every day. Soak them instead, sitting back and relaxing for a week before watering them again, all experts say.

SPRINKLING regulations do not hurt lawns.

It is daily watering which has harmful effects, promoting shallow roots which cannot reach water stored deeper in soil. Surface soil dries out during the heat of the day.

In the absence of constant daily sprinkling, grass sends down root for deeper moisture, resulting in a deep-rooted turf which should survive best during a prolonged hot summer spell.

"You should never sprinkle a lawn lightly," says the county extension coordinator. An inch of water will usually soak six inches into the ground, lawn waterers are told.

Experts suggest setting coffee cans or glasses in the area being sprinkled to estimate the amount of water applied. The sprinkler should be moved when cans are filled with one inch of water.

DEPTH OF WATER penetration can also be determined with a screw driver which will go into moist soil easily but will stop when dry ground is reached.

Fortunately, lawn grasses are often in a stage of semi-dormancy during the summer months and need comparatively little water. Bentgrasses need more water than others, because they are more active.

Stimulating growth by mowing will overtax plants and cause them to brown.

Alden Miller, in charge of the University of Illinois horticulture experimental station near Downers Grove, added "the more bluegrass blade above ground, the longer the roots" and better able the grass is to get water.

Bluegrass should be allowed to grow to a length of approximately three inches before cutting to approximately one and a half inches. Mow bent grasses to one inch when they are one and a half inches tall.

EXPERTS ALSO recommend lawn owners not to remove grass clippings. Porous, the blanket will absorb water like a sponge, helping preserve soil moisture by slowing evaporation. Roots are also insulated from temperature extremes and exposure to the sun.

No precautions by lawn owners will help the basic drought situation, however.

We need rain.

The subsoil has been drying out since last August, when the dry spell began.

According to the weather bureau, subzero winter added to current woes by freezing the ground so hard that moisture from melting snow could not go into the soil.

Spring and summer rains have been inadequate to make up the shortage. Even the heavy July weekend downpours are giving only temporary relief.

During the 11 months from August through June, all except April had sub-normal precipitation.

FOR THE 11-month period, total precipitation (rain and the water content of snow) was only 17.73 inches. That is just 59 per cent of normal precipitation.

Last year, 1962, was the driest calendar year on record in Chicago. Total 1962 precipitation was 22.22 inches, compared with a normal of 33.18 inches.

Precipitation for the first six months of 163 was 13.34 inches compared with a normal of 17.04.

Precipitation records in June and July, kept at the experimental station in Downers Grove, showed a 23-day period with no rain this summer, followed with recent eight inches of precipitation within eight days.

Before rains the station was forced to use its irrigation system on grass tests three times, and expects to use it again this month, according to the director.

Grass is one of the toughest, hardiest members of the plant world.

PROLONGED aridity, in most cases, will do no lasting damage to lawns. Some bentgrass may die and seedling lawns may be badly injured, but established bluegrass lawns will not be permanently damaged.

But, as Farm Bureau advisor Hood summed it up this week, "People always have problems with lawns, especially in the Chicago suburbs in August.

AREA LAWNS HAVE SUFFERED this summer. The worst drought in 30 years, according to experts, which has forced many residents to dig wells deeper, is evidenced by the torn-up yard at 19 S. Busse Road, Mt. Prospect. Watered by July weekend rains, parched lawns like that in the background revived and flourish this week, but will probably brown again during a hot spell this month. VFW Auxiliary Runs 29th Essay Contest

The Ladies Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars this week announced the opening of its 29th annual National High School Writing Contest.

This year's topic is "The Foreign Student in America — An Opportunity for Friendship."

The writing contest, initiated in 1935, is designed to pose to the writer some problem of patriotism or citizenship, about which he must do research before composing his essay.

Students in all public, private and parochial high schools are eligible to enter the contest. National prizes are $1,000 first prize, $500 second, $250 third, $100 fourth, and 20 other awards for honorable mention.

State and local contest winners receive additional auxiliary awards which vary with the community.

Rules for the 1963-4 contest may be obtained from local auxiliary units, or by writing Contest Department, VFW Auxiliary, 406 W. 34th St., Kansas City 11, Mo.

Houser Says Fund Drive Successful

Wheeling Township Republican Committeeman Thomas J. Houser announced this week the "Dollar Per Republican" finance campaign has passed the $5,000 mark.

The GOP drive for funds was initiated this summer to encourage all residents and businessmen to participate in and support their local Republican organization, Houser explainted.

"The door-to-door canvass has been extremely successful and suggests a willingness on the part of the residents to support their Republican organization," the committeeman said.

"PARTICIPATION by precinct captains and workers has been the driving force behind this campaign and it is through their close contact with the people that such pleasant results are being realized," he added.

This solicitation is an effort by the township Republican organization to keep free of obligations, thereby providing unrestricted representation for the residents, Hauser said.

"The most rewarding experience reported by the canvassers has been the willing response of the people to invest in the party that represents their interests.

"THERE IS a growing awareness of the role of the party organization in the preservation of individual rights."

Residents who have not contributed and would like to may contact their precinct captain or mail their contribution to the Republican organization, 6 N. Dryden Place, Arlington Heights. (ACM

Forest View News

It was a busy three days for the Robert Englehardts, when Mrs. Ruth Worthey and children, Taylor, Rhonda and Candy, of Houston came to visit. Mrs. Englehardt and Mrs. Worthey were chilhood friends and hadn't seen each other for eight years, so it can be understod that all was fun at the Englehardt home. Sunday a cookout was given in honor of the guests with 35 friends attending.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Koepke and Richard and Linda left July 8 for a vacation drive to the Smoky Mountains, visiting scenic places along the way. En route home they stopped in Cincinnati to see the Chicago Cubs play the Reds. That was a disappointment when at the end of two innings the game was called because of rain. The Koepkes returned home Sunday in time to celebrate their granddaughter's first birthday, a party held in their son's home in Streamwood.

A WEEK OF sightseeing for the Otto Gorguises and guests from California included a tour of Haeger Pottery in Dundee on Tuesday. Wednesday they rode the 'L' and subways to Chicago to shop for souvenirs. Thursday they were guests of Mrs. Stan Cory at a luncheon in Lake Bluff and Friday was spent at Brookfield Zoo with Scoop and Larry Larson.

Saturday Mr. and Mrs. C. Hilgeman had guests from Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Lou Cetrone for an evening of cards.

Larry Larson spent a few days at Lake Timagami in Ontario. The word is that the fishing was excellent. Weedend guest of the Don Larsons was Tom Kozowicz of Franklin Park. Saturday Tom and Jim Larson visited Butler, Indiana State and Purdue universities, and Sunday Tom and his parents were guests for a barbecue and a swim in the Larson's pool.

COLONIAL HEIGHT

It has been a busy week for the Wade Gales. Friday Terry, 6, entered Resurrection Hospital for a free tendon graft to the right index finger. At present report the surgery was a success. Saturday, after visiting hours, Marge, Wade and Gregg had dinner at Vosnos and went to the theatre to see 'Mutiny on the Bounty." Sunday after a hospital visit, the Gales attended the Bob Doctor annual dinner to benefit retarded children at Vila Venice.

Now that the Little League season is over for Gregg, he practices more than ever. The Indians did a fine job and Greg came through with flying colors in his final games. He came in as a relief pitcher to retire the side, and his batting record is two doubles, a triple and a homer. He now feels that practicing for next season wil improve him that much more.

HILDA, MARK and Joel Button invited Esther, Janet and Mark Weitzel to join them on a swimming trip to Cedar Lake Wednesday. The Weitzels had such fun they invited "dad" and their neighbors, the Brennans, to join them there on Sunday.

Tuesday evening the Harold Weitzels had dinner at Old Orchard Country Club and saw the play, "Champayne Complex."

Rita Cipriani recently celebrated her sixth birthday with two parties. It was a gay weekend with all the aunts, uncles, cousins and grandma as Rita's guests last Friday evening, and 13 playmates attending her luncheon Saturday.

Carl and Carlene Baardsen swam and sailed at Lake Briarwood Sunday. Carl sponsored a Luther League outing at the home of one of the Leaguers, Chuck Teske.

Welcomes are extended to several new residents of Colonial Heights.

Donald and Charlotte Lutzow, now residing at 1706 Estates Drive, have Kathy, 10, Mike, 7, Mark, 3, and Tommy, 1 in their family. It was a loss to Des Plaines when they left.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Galgano, now living at 1704 Estates Drive, have two girls, Corrine, 5, and Mary Ann, 3. Corrine is very anxious to walk to Forest View Elementary School. Chicago was the previous home of the Galganos.

George and Evelyn Menard and children, Phyllis, 20, George Jr. 18, Gene, 13, Penny, 9, and Philip, 2, are now residing on Rusty Lane. They moved here from the north side of Chicago.

Mrs. Lillian Rosiak and duaghter, Angelica, recently returned from Racine, Wis., where they visited Mr. and Mrs. J. Mikus, Lillian's parents.

Mrs. Dotty Kenning celebrated her 21st birthday with a steak dinner, followed by a whirl around Chicago's night clubs. Her escort for the evening was her hubby, Gil.

MRS ANN SELOOVER was given a surprise birthday party by Mrs. Dudley Press. Very casually Saturday evening Mrs. Press called the Seloovers to come over for a minute, Ann dressed in her gardening clothes. Cocktails were served, followed by baked chicken dinner. Happy birthday was sung when the cake was brought in, with candles formed to spell "Ann."

The John Long family spent Sunday at Brookfield Zoo.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lowe spent three days in Detroit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bush. Saturday they dined out and spent the remainder of the evening bowling. Sunday was spent swimming at a pool. On their way home they stopped in La Porte, Ind., to visit friends.

Kenneth Vyleta celebrated his eighth birthday Saturday with an afternoon party for Billy and Mike Criscone, Bruce Treder, Steve Maas and Alfred Purzycki. Kenny could be seen early Saturday morning riding a beautiful new red bicycle. In the evening the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Vyletas Sr., came with birthday wishes.

BUTCH Wunar was surprised last Friday when 13 guests shouted "happy birthday" to him. The Wunars spent Sunday in the home of Butch's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Wunar of Niles, continuing the celebration for the birthday.

The Granath family attended the Jeffersonian Hawthorne annual picnic at Harms Woods in Glenview Sunday.

Sunday was a full day for the Bruce Douglas family. Dinner was prepared for their relatives, entertaining 15 guests in all.

Saturday the Augie Neitzels had dinner in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Volk of Itasca. Sunday Mrs. Donna Coudek and faily of Niles spent the day at the Neitzels'.

The John Finnertys just returned from a visit to Cleveland, where they stayed with Pat's mother, Mrs. R. Bornes. They also visited their sister and families, the Al Rheatheirs and K. Maneys. Three-month-old Kevin Finnerty was introduced to all the new relatives.

Sunday the J. Carceranos had a family dinner for the senior Carceranos, Mr. and Mrs. R. Visengord and Mr. and Mrs. R. Visengord Jr. of Berwyn.

THE PHIL Buffas had a full weekend of company. Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Frank Buffa of Chicago were dinner guests, and Sunday Rosann's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Mobeck of Chicago; her sisters, Kathy and Bernadette, and great-grandmother, Mrs. Anna Bichel, were dinner guests.

Steven Anderson spent the weekend with his cousin, Bobby, in Chicago. Saturday there was a birthday party for Bobby, and Sunday they went to Wrigley Field.

Mrs. Jack Douglas and Pam and Johnny, Mrs. Bruce Douglas and Corey and Michelle and Mrs. Kenneth Douglas of Chicago carried lunch for a picnic at Adventureland in Addison Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Marinelli celebrated their anniversary at a party given by their aunt, Mrs. Roger Di Domenico, who is also their immediate neighbor.

ERNESTA Di Domenico graduated from Arlington High School and the party that followed was worth the 13 years spent in school. It was given by her parents Grace and Roger Di Domenico, and all family members were invited.

Mr. and Mrs. William Daniels and Jeffrey and Kelly of Lake Bluff were guests of Don and Barbara Daniels Saturday.

Birthday wishes are extended this wek to Carole Dahl, August Neitzel Sr., Mike Kijak, Robert Cortez, Bob Palmer and Sidney Bardwell.

Anniversary greetings go to the J. Backeys. (AME

Gravel Pit Yields Two Stolen Cars

Two cars, one riddled with bullet holes, have been discovered abandoned recently in an unusued gravel pit north of Wheeling off Milwaukee Avenue near Deerfield Road.

Friday an auto with about 55 bullet holes in the body was pulled out of the water-filled gravel pit. It is owned by James Wilson, 4343 Pulaski, Chicago, according to Lake County sheriff's deputies.

JULY 18 a car owned by Paul Levitt, 305 S. George, Mount Prospect, was found in the pit. Deputies said both were reported stolen.

Sunday Wheeling police turned a .25 calibre pistol found near Riverwoods Road in that area over to Lake County deputies. It was found by William Kacer.

People Can't Forget 50-Below Reading

BLACK RIVER FALLS, WIS., (UPI)—The letter didn't have a zipcode number, but a postal worker somewhere knew it belonged here as soon as he looked at it:

"Bullwinkle Moose, Frostbite Falls, Wis."

SOMEONE MUST have remembered the 50-below-zero temperatures we had last winter, said Postmaster Robert Amo. As for the Bullwinkle Moose, Amo figured that out. It was Alan "Moose" Peterson, a new car dealer.

Sure enough, when Peterson opened the letter, it was from a friend in Johnstown, Pa. It contained two Confederate bills. (A-14

Electrical Engineering Popular

CHAMPAIGN, (UPI)—Electrical engineering and elementary education were the two most popular courses of undergraduate study at the University of Illinois last year.

Dean C. W. Sanford of the college of admissions and records said today there were 1,230 students enrolled in electrical engineering courses at the U. of I. and another 1,136 students were studying to be teachers.

Sanford said other fields in order of their popularity—based on enrollment — were: accounting, architecture, mechanical engineering, civil engineering, premedicine, aeronautical engineering, pre-law, teacher education, English, home economics and marketing. (A-14

Teach Economics At Home: Prof

MADISON, WIS., (UPI)—Economics, as well as charity, should begin at home to safeguard the country's free enterprise system, Dean Lindley J. Styles of the University of Wisconsin School of Education said Friday.

"Only as young people learn the meaning of money and its use, the excitement and satisfaction of personal planning to achieve worthwhile economic goals . . . may be guaranted," Styles told a workshop here.

He added that it was a mistake to assume that the study of economic theories and systems in college classrooms would, in and of itself, produce the "commitment to preserve the capitalistic system."

Urban League Executive Reports

Explosive Race Problem Explored

Bigoted Opinions Prove 'Ludicrous'

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Newspaper headlines in Chicago and throughout the nation underline the fact that race relations is our most explosive domestic problem. It is important that suburbanites be aware of the nature and impact of the problem in the Chicago metropolitan area. Paddock Publications invited Sherwood Ross, an executive of the Chicago Urban League, to prepare a series of special reports designed to help us better understand and interpret current developments in human relations and their significance for northwest suburbs. This is the first of his reports).

by SHERWOOD ROSS

The views held by bigots and prejudiced persons concerning Negroes would be amusing if they were not so damaging to our society. The bigot often holds contradictory opinions which, under analysis, prove ludicrous and absurd.

For instance, I've heard people claim Negroes are "too pushy and aggressive" in trying to get their rights, then turn around and assert "Negroes don't do anything to help themselves." I've also heard it said that Negroes are "lazy" but that they're "trying hard to take jobs away from white people."

It's also common to hear it said Negroes "drive property values down" but that they are willing to pay "twice what a house is worth" in order to buy it.

ALL THESE charges have a familiar ring to sociologists. They are the same insults which have been hurled against other minority groups in the past, including the Irish, Poles, Italians, Jews, Mexicans.

As each new group of urban-dwellers tries to make its way upward out of the slums, they are certain to be rebuked and vilified for being "arrogant," "pushy," "lazy," "stupid," "indolent," "aggressive," "retarded," "cunning," and "shrewd."

These false images are divisive and destructive. They befog our thinking processes and set group against group. And Negroes, like Poles, Catholics, or Englishmen, just cannot be judged as a group. Let's take some of the things said of them to illustrate this point.

NEGROES ARE "lazy" but "trying to take jobs away from whites." To begin with, four of every 10 Negro families in Chicago have achieved "middle-income" status—a tremendous gain over the past decade. These people have not only the income of their middle-class white peers, but the education, culture and jobs to match. By no stretch of the imagination can we say that a man who is earning $6,000 or $10,000 a year is "lazy" or "indolent."

Having demonstrated they are hard at work, the bigot now tells us that "they (Negroes) are taking jobs away from whites." Actually, a Negro doctor or lawyer or laborer is not attempting to "take away" from society, but to contribute to it—the same as any other human being who wishes to survive. A Negro physician performed the first open chest heart surgery and a whole new world of medicine was created. Those whose lives were saved by this were persons of every race, and their continued productivity brought millions of dollars to society.

Productive people create wealth, expand purchasing power, stimulate demand and investment, and so create demand for jobs in our society. Every time a Negro family buys a loaf of bread, a baker somewhere, whether black or white, is benefiting.

THREE-FOURTHS of Chicago's Negroes are completely self-supporting. This is an exceptional accomplishment if one considers that more than half are still trying to climb out of the economic cellar. The bigot who accuses Negroes of being "lazy" has certainly never taken a look at any skyscraper under construction, at a gang of workmen going down into a sewer, at any party of laborers cleaning out the ovens of our steel mills, or mopping up the pig pens in our stockyards.

As a rule, it is the low-income group that does the hardest, heaviest, dirtiest and least desirable work in our society. At present, this category still contains a disproportionate number of Negroes. But at one time, it was loaded heavily with Irish, Chinese, and men from south and central Europe.

Negroes defy description as a group. They can be judged only as individuals. We can supply statistics revealing how many work at what kinds of jobs and live in what kinds of houses, but there are no statistics to describe the human equation for any people—black, white or yellow.

Men must be judged as individuals. If we in America do not judge men as individuals, we have defaulted on the high responsibility the Founding Fathers imposed upon us.

TO THOSE who judge people as a class, we might point out that this is the essence of the Soviet system, where the individual is subordinated to the will of the state and the Communist ruling class is held to be superior to the proletarian class. It is in Russia where all capitalists are reviled and all socialists exalted—and no man is judged strictly by merit alone.

This is perhaps the greatest illustration of the thinking which destroys human values and human beings. (A14 ACCEPTING CHECK from Charles Paddock, president of Paddock Publications, Inc., is Mrs. Wayne E. DeRusha of Palatine, whose son, Douglas, 9, was injured last month while at play. The check represents an insurance payment under The Suburbanite insurance program available to all Paddock Publications' subscribers. The check will be used to pay medical bills incurred as a result of Douglas' head injury. Douglass is recuperating in Florida after an operation. (A14

Man Treated At Hospital For Stings

GOSHEN, IND., (UPI) — Ray Nisley, 36, Goshen, was released from a hospital Sunday following treatment for a severe attack by a swarm of bees.

Police said Nisley, his wife, Laura, and their 3-year-old son, David, were attacked when their horse stepped into a beehive.

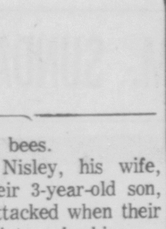
Nearly 50 stingers were removed from Nisley's body. His wife and boy also were stung, but did not require hospitalization.

INSIDE RANDHURST

Time, Temp. Data Offered

by BARBARA ANN DAVIS

Don't try to call "Aunt Minnie," in Cincinnati on the pretty beige phone on display in the Randhurst Bank lobby! This is a "live" wire and a very pleasant voice will give you the correct time and temperature. Now . . . through the courtesy of the Randhurst Bank, Carson Pirie Scott & Co., The Fair Store, Baskins and the Randhurst Professional Terrace, more than 70,000 homes with telephones in the local exchange areas, will receive time and temperature 24 hours a day by merely picking up a phone and dialing 392-7000!



DAVIS

Prior to August 1, a toll-call to Chicago was made to secure time and an additional toll-call to secure temperature — a rather expensive proposition for persons living in this area. Weather conditions in the suburban area, as we all know, are subject to a "quick" change and electrical power failure will set electric clocks off schedule. When this happens, sun-dials and thermometers (usually in the back-yard) are reliable sources but not as conveniently located for fast reference as the telephone.

Can't even use a "power failure" excuse for being late to work these days. This number is catching on fast in our office. First thing in the morning — all watches are synchronized by calling 392-7000. "The time is now 12:35 and the temperature is 90 degrees" (outside that is), but a pleasant 72 degrees "inside" . . . and it's lunch time. All of our eating establishments feature menus to suit most every gourmet taste.

If you're in a hurry, a fast snack is available at La Petit and Le Rendezvous. The children will love the "French Poodle" and the "Eifel Tower," a meal in itself or . . . the "pizza burger" is a specialty of the Apple Basket. A "fran-cheesy" (a variation in hot-dogs) or a corned beef sandwich with a kosher pickle on the side is a must at Randhurst Corned Beef. If you are counting calories, Kresge's menu consists of a very palatable diet-rite salad plate.

For a leisurely luncheon with a cool-cocktail as a beginner, Carson's International Restaurant features a "Duke of Windsor" sandwich with a "Heather-House" pie covered with rum sauce for dessert. This is not a calorie-controlled selection but promises to be delectable. Weiner-Schnitzel with noodles is a "shopper's special" in the Carson cafeteria, located on the concourse level.

Delicatessen counters in the Jewel Food Store, Wieboldt's, Randhurst Corned Beef Center and Kresge's are very difficult to pass by at any time without stopping, especially if you're going to be late arriving home after a day of shopping at Randhurst. Take home some "delicacies" to the family and they will be overjoyed with your "fast" service and the variety of a "spread" selection on the table.

Members of Northwest Suburban YMCA put on a demonstration of 'Y' activities for a recent Totem Club show on TV's Channel 11. Under guidance of Judy Hooper, water ballet instructor, several girls performed ballet numbers which they learned in classes at the 'Y' during the year.

One was an Indian number, in which the girls wore appropriate headdresses for their version of "Pale Moon." Another number was presented by girls wearing pink overblouses with white net hats, swimming in unison to the tune of "Cherry Pink and Apple Blossom Time."

SKILLS TAUGHT in the YMCA "minnow" classes were shown, including elementary back stroke, horizontal sculling and vertical sculling. The demonstrator for these basic strokes was Roddy Nelson of Mount Prospect.

Another of the 'Y' activities covered on the TV show was that of dog obedience training. Chuck Berry, volunteer instructor, introduced Ginger Dietz of Prospect Heights and Richard Oswald of Niles, who led their dogs through a series of commands used in all beginner classes at the 'Y' on Saturday mornings. Berry explained the details of obedience training while the youngsters put their dogs through the exercises. (B9

Girl Trips Shoots Dad

GREENSBURG, IND., (UPI)— A 15-year-old girl carrying a rifle on a groundhog hunting jaunt tripped over a garden hose and accidentally shot her father.

Albert Elliott, 50, R.R. 4, Greensburg, was wounded and taken to Robert Long Hospital of the Indiana University Medical Center at Indianapolis where his condition was described this morning as improved.

DOCTORS said the shot pierced Elliott's spleen. They were uncertain whether it punctured his lungs. They said he was on the critical list earlier but was removed when he showed improvement this morning.

Janet Elliott, 15, told authorities she started to hunt groundhogs along a railroad track near her home when she tripped over the hose. The rifle discharged and a bullet pierced the back of her father who was standing about 15 feet away feeding his dogs. (B8

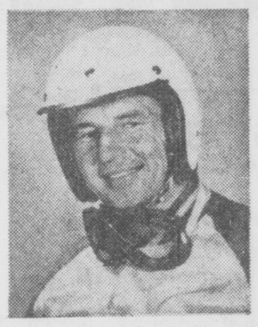
PARNELLI JONES TEST-DRIVES WARDS RIVERSIDE ST-107 TIRE AT SPEEDS UP TO 138.46 MPH!

RIVERSIDE TEST CAR
The Mercury Marauder Parnelli Jones used to set a new Pikes Peak Hill-Climb record.



PARNELLI JONES TESTED RIVERSIDE TIRES ON THE INDIANAPOLIS 500 SPEEDWAY TRACK. THEY DELIVERED OUTSTANDING PERFORMANCE FOR HIM AT STRAIGHTAWAY SPEEDS UP TO 138.46 MPH!

Parnelli Jones, record-breaking winner of the '63 Indianapolis 500-mile race, proves Riverside tires are built to last!

For the second time this year, Parnelli Jones drove the searing 2½ miles of Indianapolis track. This time to prove the strength and endurance of Riverside ST-107's tires.

Jones was merciless. He ground into turns and rocketed down at straightaway speeds up to 138.46 mph!

The ST-107's were pounded and baked in the Indiana sun. They suffered more abuse than tires ever receive; and they held!

This was no stunt. Riverside engineers knew the strength and quality built into every Riverside tire would take it. Though you will never drive 138 mph, it's comforting to ride on tires that can deliver high-speed proven Riverside tires!

Hapke Receives Award in Math

Lawrence Hapke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert G. Hapke, 324 W. Slade St., Palatine, has received the National Science Foundation Award in mathematics at Bowling Green State University, Bowling Green, Ohio.

Hapke was a 1954 graduate of Palatine Township High School and he received his bachelor of science degree in 1958 from Morningside College, Sioux City, Iowa. After receiving his Masters Degree from Bowling Green State University in Auguet, he will resume teaching math and coaching football and basketball at Safford High School, Safford, Ariz.

He is married to the former Betty Jackson of Carey, Ohio. They have one daughter, Holly Malissa, 7 months. (CC

At Wisconsin

Roger Davis, 127 S. Greenwood Ave., Palatine, was among the 1,036 outstanding students from the Midwest who have been participating in either the junior or senior sessions of the mer Music Clinic held in Madison through July 20.

The sessions were organized to give students experience in large and small music organizations with specialized training on individual instruments and voice, along with classes in music. Students studied fundamentals of music, music appreciation and conducting, and those enrolled were recommended by their music directors and school authorities.(CC

At Normal

Students who have been named to assist in the orientation of new students at Illinois State Normal University have been announced. From the area are Linda Krueger, daughter of the Fred Kruegers, 735 S. Evergreen, Arlington Heights; Ellen Kneis, daughter of the Frank Kneisses, 704 E. Chicago, Palatine; and Daniel Malloy, son of the Dan Malloys, 13 S. Wildwood Drive, Prospect Heights.

Chosen on the basis of leadership ability, personality and scholastic record, those elected as leaders will help welcome newcomers to the campus, assist them in making necessary adjustments to college life and interpret university traditions.

At Southern Calif.

Donald R. Neuman, 501 S. Windsor Drive, Arlington Heights, is attending a Summer Counseling Institute at the University of Southern California on a grant from the United States Office of Education.

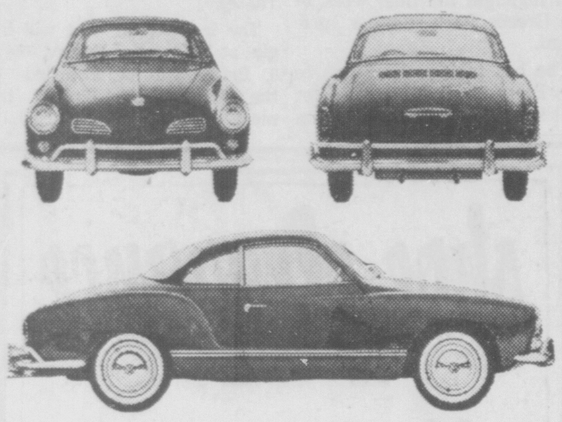
Only 30 secondary school teachers and counselors were accepted for the Institute from the entire country. The 6-week program provides intensive practice in counseling under supervision, along with a concentrated study of recent research in counseling and the use of standardized tests in the counseling program.

Under provisions of the National Defense Education Act, the carefully-chosen participants in the Institute are provided tuition costs and an additional living stipend. (CC

At Grinnell

Ronald Wood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur B. Wood, 721 E. Davis, Arlington Heights, is one of 48 high school juniors from 24 states attending the second Grinnell Behavior Science Institues on the Grinnell College campus.

The institute, directed by Dr. Neal D. Kent of the college's psychology faculty, will run until Aug. 2. (CC



This ad is 6 years late.

For 6 years this car has mystified millions. People have called it an Alfa Romeo, a Ferrari.

You may have seen one on the road and wondered what it was. Brace yourself . . . .

It's a Volkswagen. Our Karmann Ghia.

The Ghia is a limited production car. Only about 9,000 are made for this country each year. (Because of the handwork that goes into the body, it's impossible to build in our VW plant.)

Most auto bodies are designed for assembly lines. One stamping per part. Thunk, a fender. Thunk, a door. The Ghia stopped us on the first thunk.

Designed by Ghia of Turin, Italy, its lines are too sculptured for mass production. The fender curve alone is two parts, welded and hand-shaped. You can't stop for this in mass production. Karmann, Europe's leading custom coachmaker, builds the body. An assembly line can make 3 ordinary cars in the time they need for one Ghia. (That's the handwork.)

Underneath, the Ghia's all business. Its low center of gravity holds bumpy, barreltop roads at 70.

You've got VW's rear engine traction in snow, mud and sand. Air-cooling. (No water to freeze up or boil over.) 40,000-mile tires. And 32 miles to the gallon. Regular gas; regular driving.

Service? Simple. This is no temperamental prima donna. VW parts fit — you can get them anywhere.

Inside, you'll find things like adjustable bucket seats, a rear window defroster, 3 position doorstops.

How much? The coupe, $2,384.00; convertible, $2,584.00. Fully equipped. Sorry, can't do a thing about doormen who think it's a $5,000 car — and expect bigger tips.

But nothing's ever quite perfect, is it?

MAINTENANCE MEN start repairing another of the many acts of vandalism at 11 of 12 Arlington Heights elementary schools since vacation started June 12. Righting an overturned slide, damaged extensively, are, from left, Ira Sigler, Robert Leonard and Fred Schaeffer. Thirty-eight windows, seven exterior glass door panels and two outdoor light fixtures have also been damaged, reports Supt. R. E. Clabaugh. He estimates expense for repairs could amount to several hundred dollars before the summer ends. Clabaugh asks parents to remind their children to be careful in play on school grounds — golf clubs are not permitted, and firing of any sort of gun, including air rifles, is illegal.

Postmen Go to Work in Style

ST. LOUIS, (UPI) — Thirteen area postmen are going to work in style now to save the government money.

The mail carriers are taking taxicabs to and from their routes each day because traveling by bus was costing the post office too much in delays and overtime pay.

Eugene Housman, superintendent of delivery for the post office, said the taxi arrangement was started about a week ago and is working out very well.

THE CABS pick up a group of men at the post office and drive through the area they cover dropping them off along the way. A cab then returns in the afternoon and picks the men up and returns them to the post office.

Housman says the cabfare is far less expensive than paying the men for overtime needed when they traveled by bus.

Police Car Damage Cost Paid by Youth

An Arlington Heights youth who parked a home-made racing car trailer on a dark road in Schaumburg has paid for $439 damage to a police car.

Lawrence R. Schroeder, 21, of 131 S. Kennicott, appeared Monday night before Ray C. Haase, Schaumburg village magistrate, to answer charges arising out of the accident the night of July 12.

It occurred on Wiley Road, where two Schaumburg police squad cars had gone to investigate complaints of drag racing.

ONE OF THE cars hit the rear end of the trailer, which Schroeder had left on the road after unloading a racing car, estimated by police to be worth $5,000.

Haase, upon learning that Schroeder had paid for the squad car damages, fined him $5, plus $2 costs, on a charge of having no tail lights on the trailer.

Two other charges were nolprossed. They were failing to have proper license plates and damaging village property.

New Pupils Requested To Sign Up

Arlington Heights public elementary schools have continued to enroll students new to the district throughout the summer at the administrative offices, 310 W. South St.

Thus far, parents contacting the school represent over 100 students who will be added to the school roles in September.

SUPT. R. E. Clabaugh urges families who have recently moved into the district to call Cl 3-6100 and arrange a time to complete enrollment of their children.

One of the elementary school principals will be available to talk with parents and make certain that all enrollment requirements are met. (A

Wesler Wins $25 Prize For Design

Hugh R. Wesler, 16, 332 S. Derbyshire, has been awarded a $25 "honorable mention" prize in automobile design by the Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild.

Wesler, one of 16 youths honored from Illinois, was the only Arlington Heights entrant recognized in the nationwide competition.

The awards won by the Illinois craftsmen represent only part of the $117,000 in cash and scholarships awarded to boys throughout the country. (A

Nations in Asia to Hear About Work-Study College

CARLINVILLE, ILL., (UPI)—A college program whereby students construct, maintain and operate school buildings and facilities is being exported from Blackburn College to "college-poor" nations via the U. S. State Department.

It was announced today that the State Department's Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs has approved agrant under which Blackburn President Dr. Robert P. Ludlum will visit nations in the Near and Middle East this fall. He will lecture, consult and advise educational leaders in these countries on the work-study plan long in effect at Blackburn.

THE BLACKBURN program requires that each student give 15 hours a week toward construction, maintenance and operation of the college. In this way, students are able to receive a college education for half the price or less.

Information about the Blackburn program was distributed in at least nine Asian nations through exhibits sponsored by the U. S. Information Agency and the Voice of America Broadcasts.

Several countries requested expert counsel in establishing work-study colleges. Among them were India, Iran, Pakistan and Israel.

Youth Center Name Prize Goes to $75

The original $25 prize for the winning name for the new Arlington Heights youth center has been trippled.

In response to a request by the Chamber of Commerce, members Bowen Hardware, Morton Pontiac, Poole Motors and Country Side Inn this week added their contributions to the $25 offered by Arlington Heights National Bank.

The $75 will go to the park district high school-age resident who submits the name judged by student directors of the Arlington Heights Youth Organization. Deadline is midnight, Aug. 10, and in case of duplication the entry bearing the earliest postmark will win. Only one entry will be accepted per student.

The prize will be awarded at the youth organization's membership rally and dance Aug. 17 on the Recreation Park tennis courts. The "Hay Square" affair will feature both square and round dancing in a rustic setting.

Admission will be free of extra charge to students of the park district who purchase youth center memberships by that evening. Memberships are available at park district offices for $3.50.

The youth center, located in modernized club rooms in Recreation Park fieldhouse basement, will open officially in September.

Modern Etiquette

Q. What rules should a girl observe when walking with an escort on the street?

A. Always take the inside track, letting him walk on the side near the curb where he belongs. Even if there is another girl with you, and only one man, you both take the inside. You take the man's arm lightly when he offers assistance over the rough spots. Let go when the need is over. Don't cling and continue hanging on his arm while walking.

Few Municipalities Taking Steps To Meet Integration

Reactions Vary On Kerner's Session

by BOB SETLIK

Preparation for what most people consider inevitable — integration of the suburbs — still occupies the outer regions of most suburban officials' minds.

It takes this place because the problem doesn't exist yet in a suburban area that has been called the most segregated in North.

A survey shows that few municipalities have taken steps toward meeting potential racial problems, although some are considering activities in this direction.

"I PERSONALLY think you can create a problem if you want to," said one official, explaining why he wasn't recommending that his community take any kind of action at this time.

The interviews included some of the northwest suburban officials who attended the recent civil rights conference in Springfield called by Gov. Otto Kerner. The conference was attended by some 200 mayors, city managers, and other city officials.

Kerner issued a "code of fair practices" for the state of Illinois, summarizing the laws and policies of the state in regard to civil rights.

The 11-point program essentially held that the state would not discriminate because of race, color, creed or national origin; would do its best to see that no one else practices such discrimination, and would work for effective compliance with the present anti-discrimination statutes.

GOV. KERNER

Kerner recommended the use of human relations commissions on a local level or use of the state's commissions on human relations and fair employment practices to get "Negro and white leadership talking together."

AMONG AREA communities with representatives at the conference were Elk Grove Village, Rolling Meadows, Arlington Heights, Palatine and Mount Prospect.

The prevailing opinion seems to be that initial preparations for integration will not be taken without careful study, and then most of the work would be done behind the scenes.

Frank Dillon, an Elk Grove Village trustee who attended the conference, sees formation of a human relations council and other such steps as possibilities in the future. "Whether we need this right away is another thing," he said.

"IF WE established a human relations council, what would we have them do now?" asked Dillon.

He believes Kerner's intention was to see that civil rights is handled "calmly and intelligently."

The trustee came out of the meeting thinking a human relations council would work primarily "behind the scenes."

Dillon said he plans to discuss the conference and any proposals that Elk Grove Village might adopt with the village board in the future.

Representing Rolling Meadows at the conference was Mayor John J. Woods.

Woods said "this will not be ignored, or deferred for any great period of time."

Woods said the Rolling Meadows city council will review the conference proceedings soon and consider taking up some of the proposals suggested by Kerner.

He called the conference "timely" and said the governor should be commended for carrying the matter to officials throughout the state.

Palatine's Village Manager Robert Hollander and Village President Wilbur Harris attended.

HARRIS HAS written to the governor following the speech asking for additional information, but otherwise Palatine hasn't taken action on the governor's proposals.

Hollander said formation of a human relations commission is "an important thing" that shouldn't be considered without careful study beforehand.

L. A. Hanson, Arlington Heights village manager, thought the conference was of little use.

Hanson said Kerner "pushed the panic button," and that he (Hanson) was already aware of the information offered at the conference.

He said the main purpose of the conference seemed to be to go over existing laws pertaining to civil rights.

"When civil rights laws have been on the books for years, it seems senseless to suddenly call a meeting to discuss them," said Hanson.

Hanson does not foresee recommending, as a result of the conference, that Arlington Heights take any action setting up a human relations council.

Peanut Hunt

A bus trip and peanut hunt will highlight the final week of the Greens Park summer program.

The bus taking youngsters to the River Trail Nature Center will leave the park at 1:30 p.m. Monday. In case of rain, the trip will be postponed until Tuesday.

The last peanut hunt will begin at 3:30 p.m. Friday, Aug. 9. Prizes will be awarded to the girl and boy finding the most peanuts. (A

John Birch Society Coordinator to Talk

Norman L. Thomas of Northbrook, state coordinator for the right-wing John Birch Society, will address a meeting of the Wheeling Township Young Republican Club on Thursday, Aug. 8, it was announced this week.

Announcement of Thomas' appearance was made by Bruce Ladd, YR club program chairman, who said Thomas will discuss the society's principles, beliefs and goals.

The meeting will be held at the Old Orchard Country Club in Prospect Heights. Meetings begin at 8 p.m. and are open to the public.

"THE SCHEDULING of this speaker does not mean that the club endorses the John Birch Society, its beliefs or its actions," said George Coker, club president.

"Rather, this program is a continuation of a series to present people and issues of a controversial nature representing both popular and unpopular viewpoints.

"The John Birch Society is and has been a controversial issue and may be with us for a long time. We feel our members are entitled to a first-hand account of the society's activities and that we should have an opportunity to directly question a society representative," Coker concluded.

PAST YR programs have included speakers supporting liberal positions and welfare benefits, and future programs will include labor leaders, political candidates and public officials, Coker said.

Ladd pointed out that the club's board of directors has supported the effort to provide a wide spectrum of speakers, giving members an opportunity to hear all types of viewpoints—liberal as well as conservative.

Future club speakers will be:

SECRETARY of State Charles F. Carpentier, former Illinois Public Aid Commission (IPAC) Chairman C. Virgil Martin, State Supt. of Public Instruction Ray Page and GOP gubernatorial candidate, Charles H. Percy.

Thomas, 35, who holds a degree in psychology, left the advertising business recently to take a full-time job with the John Birch Society. (B8

MOUNT PROSPECT

Two hundred and fifty girls attended the annual Mount Prospect Camp Fire Girls 3-day Camp sessions held at Deer Grove recently. Mary Waishwell was chairman of the Camp Fire Girls' activities; Sally Hagen was chairman of the Junior Hi Level girls. Horizon Club Girls worked as aides at Day Camp.

In keeping with the theme of the event, "At Home in the Woods," the Camp Fire Girls made seed plaques. Seeds of all varieties were glued to a backing material to create colorful and interesting wall decorations.

Both Camp Fire and Junior Hi level girls made chemical gardens. These were made using coal, bluing, ammonia and salt. A variety of peaks and crystals were formed.

Junior Hi girls made nature prints by placing leaves on blueprint paper and dipping them in a solution.

Scarves, convertible to tote bags, were also made. Squares of 36-inch material were tied in knots and then dipped in dyes. When opened, a wavy colorful design was created.

The girls took part in a community cookout making casseroles, salads, donuts and other dishes. Softball, games and a camp sing also were part of the Day Camp activity.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS

Eight members of the Okiciyapi Junior Hi Campfire Girls from Arlington Heights, and their leader, Mrs. Louis M. Schomburg, 305 S. Evergreen, and co-leader, Mrs. Gordon Lyons, 612 S. Highland, recently toured the Old Graue Mill and Museum, Hinsdale.

The 111-year-old mill is situated on York Road just north of Ogden Avenue. Today it is the only operating, waterwheel grist mill in the state of Illinois. On the first floor visitors are able to see a miller demonstrate how corn was ground into meal just as in the days of our ancestors.

In the basement is the huge mill machinery which offers a lesson in gear ratio. The museum is contained on the upper two floors of the mill and contains objects from the period 1840-1885. This past winter the second floor has been converted into an authentic old-fashioned barn complete with hay, vehicles, machinery and roosting hen.

The third floor contains rooms furnished with Early American and Victorian heirlooms. (B9

Bill OK'd Reducing Required Residency

SPRINGFIELD, (UPI) — Gov. Otto Kerner has signed into law a bill lowering residency requirements for election of President and Vice-President to 60 days.

The new law affects only elections for those two national offices. Voting requirements for all other federal, state and local offices remain at a minimum of one year residence in the state.

Kerner said at a news conference Thursday, "I was disappointed this was not signed two years ago."

A SIMILAR bill was introduced at that time. However, by the time it was passed by the General Assembly, it had been "complicated" by a number of amendments that actually divided voting qualifications into three categories, the governor said.

A great part of the news conference was devoted to recent remarks by State Treasurer William Scott that the state was headed for financial disaster. Kerner said the charge was "basically not true."

The treasurer said the state was in financial danger because of increased expenditures for public aid and increasing numbers of state employes.

"THIS TYPE of charge is made irresponsibly," Kerner said. "Most departments under the governor are down."

Kerner said Illinois ranked 49th among the 50 states in the number of state employes per 10,000 population. Illinois has 60 employes per 10,000 population, he said, while the figure in Kensas is 98, in New York 70, and Oregon 123. Only new Jersey, with 56 state employes per 10,000 population, is below Illinois in this category, he said.

THE GOVERNOR ALSO:

—Announced that Howard Cartwright of Chicago was made permanent chairman of the Illinois Liquor Control Commission. Cartwright had been acting chairman.

—Denied a report that he recently had conferred in Chicago with former Secretary of State Edward Barrett about the possibility of Barrett running for the same post in 1964. Kerner said his only recent conversation with Barrett was during the legislative session, when Barrett telephoned him to ask about the status of certain bills.

—Said he did not know whether he would sign or veto a bill to raise firemen's and policemen's minimum wages. (A-14

Bishop Is Topic of Argument

A Sunday night quarrel over disqualification of their church bishop reached a stalemate when the two antagonists—one 71, the other 59—signed battery complaints against each other.

Nick Rasovich, 71, of 414 W. Campbell, told Arlington Heights police he was arguing with Liubomik Bozicic, 59, of North tSate Road, and "before I knew what was happening" Bozicic started beating him.

BUT BOZICIC said he didn't start fighting until he was grabbed by the tie and had to defend himself.

However, Bozicic did admit hitting Rasovich on the head with a wooden sitting stool while Rasovich was floored, lying on his back.

The two were picked up about 8 p.m.

Rasovich was taken to Northwest Community Hospital for treatment of arm lacerations and lumps on he head. Bozicic required no medical aid.

At New St. Thomas Church

Service Held for Rev. Wall

A Mass commemorating the death of Rev. John J. Wall was held Tuesday in the new St. Thomas of Villanova Roman Catholic Church, 1141 E. Anderson Drive, Palatine. He was the church's founder.

The St. Thomas of Villanova parish was canonically erected Nov. 9, 1961 by Wall. He died July 30, 1962.

Parishioners from the northeast area of Palatine and northwest area of Arlington Heights attended the first Masses in the air-conditioned church Sunday.

THE OPENING of the new church definitely proved a boost in attendance, said Fr. John McEnroe, assistant pastor. About 150 more people attended the Sunday services.

An extra Mass has been added to the schedule to ease any overcrowding at late Masses. Masses are 6:30, 8, 9, 10:15, 11:15 a.m. and 12:15 p.m. Daily masses will be 6:30 and 8 a.m.

Parishioners generally expressed pleasure at being in their own building. But they took obvious delight in the air conditioning which got them out of the summer heat.

FR. JOHN WALDRON, pastor of the church, Father McEnroe, and St. Thomas parishioners expressed thanks to Palatine's Winston School and the Elks Club in Arlington Heights for use of their facilities for Sunday services.

The move into the new church is a contrast to the parish beginnings. When Father Wall first founded the parish, he and his assistant lived, held daily Mass, and conducted parish business from a small bungalow on Lincoln Street.

The rectory since has been moved into a Winston home across from the school.

ST. THOMAS of Villanova Church will be located in the school until the parish manages to complete its school building program.

The school will open in September for fourth, fifth, and sixth graders taught by the Sisters of St. Dominic from Sinsinawa, Wis.

Parents of 10 Say Guilty of Cruelty

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., (UPI)(UPI) The parents of 10 children went to court Friday and pleaded guilty to charges of cruelty to children.

Edward Miller, 37, a truck driver, and his wife, Betty, 36, entered the plea before Juvenile Judge Harold Fields but denied charges of child neglect.

The charges were lodged against them after two sons were found chained to a staircase.

THE MILLERS explained they took the step to keep the boys from stealing in the neighborhood. The boys are eight and nine years old.

Nine of the couple's 10 children have been sent to the County Guardian Home pending disposition of the case.

The judge reelased the couple without bond. No date was set for sentencing or for another hearing. (B8

Weighty Problem: School Asks Diet

ST. LOUIS, (UPI) — Heavy problems often weigh on a minister's mind, but the heaviest on the mind of aspiring - minister Michael Hughes have been concerning his weight.

Hughes reported Saturday he has lost 65 of the 200 pounds he must shed by September 1964, in preparation for a Lutheran seminary.

St. Paul's College, Concordia, Mo., suspended the youth at the end of this school year with the stipulation he would be readmitted if he trimmed his 419-pound frame down to 200-225 pounds. Michael has 135 pounds to go.

The suburban Jennings youth now weighs 354 pounds after a rigorous diet he underwent in Faith Hospital when he entered in mid-June.

Michael said he has dropped from 380 to 354 since he left the hospital and began maintaining a 1,00 calorie a day with the help of his mother.(B8

Obituaries

Fred A. Herbertz

Services for Fred A. Herbertz, 1152 W. Wood St., Palatine, were held July 30 in Tharp Funeral Home with Rev. Eichacher officiating. Interment was in Rand Hill Cemetery.

A retired machine superintendent, Mr. Herbertz was born in Chicago May 30, 1890 and died in Northwest Community Hospital July 28 at the age of 73. His wife, Mary, preceded him in death as did a son, Fred Jr.

He leaves a daughter, Marilyn Payne of Cincinnati and a sister, Elsa Cadora of Oregon. (B9

James McCoy Sommer

James McCoy Sommers, who served on school and civic boards while residing in Arlington Heights from 1936 to 1945, died July 29 in Decatur at the age of 62. Born in Indianapolis July 28, 1901, he was graduated from Purdue University in 1925.

Mr. Sommers made his home in Decatur before moving to Arlington Heights, and again after leaving Arlington Heights, retiring as manager of the Hugh J. Baker Co. in 1962. He was a member of many civic and fraternal groups.

Mass was said July 31 in St. John Episcopal Church, Decatur, with interment in Fairlawn Cemetery.

He leaves his wife, Helen Gandall Sommers; a daughter, Mrs. A. E. Bleach of Lockport, N.Y.; two grandchildren; his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Edgar McCoy Sommers and a brother, Francis of Indianapolis. A son, 2nd Lt. Norman, preceded him in death. (B9

Modern Etiquette

Q. My fiance and I disagree in the matter of wedding invitations. He claims we should not mail invitations to those we know are unable to attend—that this would be just a bid for gifts. What do you think?

A. Wedding invitations are not in any sense a "demand" for gifts, and failure to include certain good friends on your list could very well hurt some feelings.

The DuPage County Historical Society presented an AWARD OF HONOR to Mount Emblem in 1956 for preserving the Old Dutch Mill as an educational and historic exhibit.
Visitors to the Old Dutch Mill are always welcome.
Mount Emblem is distinctly different.
Here is the expression of an ideal — Nature's eternal loveliness transformed into a memorial of Living Beauty. Natural Beauty — unmarred by artificiality or perishable structures. This is the keynote of our landscape policy. Objects of nature are real, their appeal is universal, continuous through time.
When you visit, you will be aware of the meticulous maintenance. You will find that our prices are moderate. It costs no more to own the best.

"EVERYBODY'S IN SUCH A HURRY TO START THEIR VACATIONS!!"

Vengeance
"Vengeance is mine; I will repay, saith the Lord."—Leviticus 19:18

IT APPEARS not fashionable in these modern times to "turn the other cheek." Most of us consider the act of forgiving our fellow man a luxury we cannot afford. How often have you heard someone say "I'll forgive—but I won't forget."
Such is not forgiveness. It is more than a word. If we forgive with words, not with our heart, we have not forgiven at all.
We can find it easier to forgive others if we remember that we ourselves are not perfect. We make mistakes, all of us and we expect forgiveness when we do.
Chaos would reign in the world of business if there were no policy of forgiveness. If a "boss" fired every employee who hade a simple mistake, he'd soon have no help at all.
It is the same in our daily living. If we cannot forgive the little things that fail to please us, we eventually discover that we have lost many a good friend along the way.

The Way We See It

Elk Grove Industry Crisis Is 'Lesson'

Elk Grove Village is recognized as an outstanding example of a "planned" suburban community. From a cornfield six years ago, the village has grown at a spectacular rate and now numbers nearly 14,000 residents. National attention and acclaim has been focused on its huge industrial park, frequently cited for its careful planning and development.

It is ironic, therefore, that a lack of planning has involved the village in a serious community crisis. The circumstances of that crisis are pertinent to all northwest suburbs.

In April, Chicago Magnet Wire Co. moved from its Chicago location and began operations at the east of Elk Grove Village on a tract abutting the residential section.

The plant produces a distinctive odor that has proved distressing to residents, many of whom have protested to village officials. A citizens committee, appointed by the village board, submitted a report July 12 that called permitting Magnet Wire's entrance into the village a "colossal blunder."

Stated the report: "The commending of Chicago Magnet Wire Co. operations so close to residential property has changed the essential character of Elk Grove Village from a desirable suburban residential community into one which suffers from the same kind of blight so often associated with the most sordid, industrialized areas."

The committee recommended that the village take legal action if Magnet Wire does not voluntarily suspend all odor-producing operations. Last week trustees granted Magnet Wire 12 weeks in which to resolve its problems.

Accusing fingers have been pointed at the village's developer, the land agents who sold the property to Magnet Wire, and the village board of trustees.

Some trustees have disavowed responsibility, relying on an argument that the tract was already zoned heavy industrial and leaving them with little choice but to permit the company to enter the village. It is difficult, however, to believe that Magnet Wire would have considered locating in the village if the official atmosphere were unfriendly — regardless of the wishes of the developers or land agents.

Some residents protested when announcement of the land sale was announced; a first citizens committee itself was divided on whether Magnet Wire would be a "nuisance," buts its report definitly cautioned against allowing the plant to operate in the village. Further visits were made by village officials, who reported nothing objectionable.

The investigation apparently ended with these visits, and the acceptance of oral assurances from company officials.

In its July 12 report, the second citizens committee stated: "It can be reasonably concluded . . . that an error was committed by not thoroughly investigating the magnet wire industry in general and relying upon assurances that this company would not cause odor problems which, in the light of current facts, would make it the exception in the magnet wire industry."

Elk Grove Village is now faced with the familiar problem of closing the barn door after the horse has been stolen. If the company cannot solve its odor problems, the village is likely to become involved in costly litigation. It is certain that the situation — intolerable to residents — cannot be allowed to continue unchecked.

This unfortunate incident occurred in a suburb that counts industry as one of its assets. Elk Grove possesses one of the largest industrial developments in the state. It is regrettable that benefits promised by growing industrial investment may be negated by a single lapse.

The village's ordinances clearly have not kept pace with industrial growth. Work on a strong air pollution ordinance did not begin until after Magnet Wire indicated its intention to locate in the village; it wasn't until last week that the ordinance was finally adopted.

Another failing is that Magnet Wire occupies part of a large tract zoned for heavy industry but located adjacent to residential area. No "buffer" is provided. Initially, heavy industrial development was in a preferrable location — an area set apart from the village's homes.

The lack of prior investigation and pre-planning in this instance is apparent. It should serve as a lesson to other suburbs courting industry.

Corporate management and suburban officials alike have a vital stake in averting the costly dangers of haphazard industrial invasion. Both must think of the future — not only of the industrial parks and the companies brought into them, but of the whole community and its long-range problems.

Two Men to Watch

Economy and efficiency in government are often talked about—but rarely practiced — by politicians. It is gratifying to observe two "freshmen" Cook County officials who are earnestly working to eliminate waste and bring about reductions in government spending.

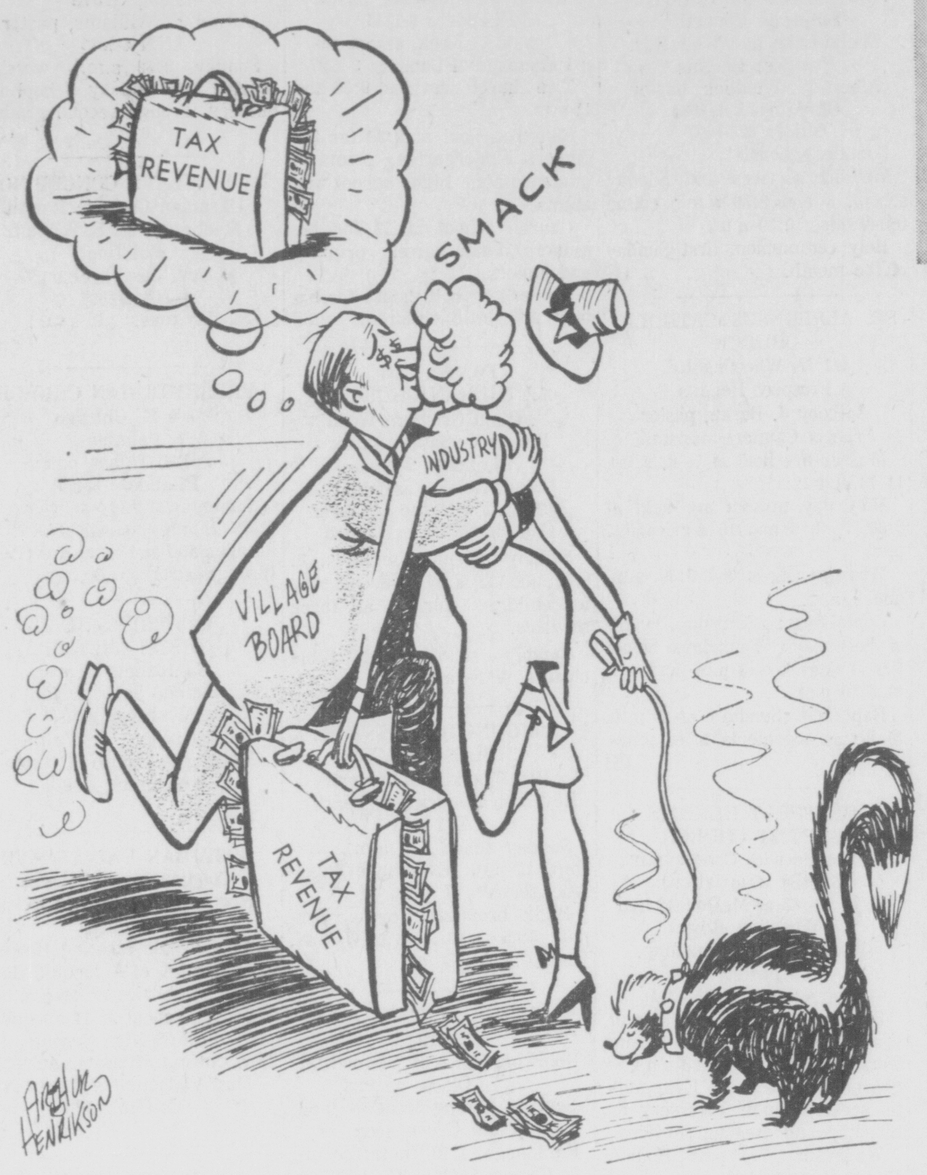
We have already commented editorially on the satisfactory manner in which Democrat Seymour Simon, president of the county board of commissioners, is attending to the concerns of northwest suburbs. Of equal merit is his attention to the taxpayer's pocketbook. Without sacrificing essential services, Simon has accomplished major savings in his first year as president. He cut the county budget by $4 million, realized other reductions by eliminating duplication of services, invested idle forest preserve funds into interest-bearing securities, enacted closer supervision over contract changes, and implemented close inspection and audit of all records of funds disbursed by county offices.

The other official is Republican Richard Ogilvie, who inherited a county office traditionally regarded as a party patronage plum. It is especially heartening to note the manner in which he has begun to revamp and rebuild the Cook County Sheriff's police. He successfully campaigned for approval of a bill to establish a new merit system for sheriff's employes — a major step in eliminating law enforcement personnel from political pressure. In his first six months as sheriff, Ogilvie has reduced the total number of employes while increasing the effectiveness and efficiency of the department. This has been accomplished as a result of his requesting outside, professional studies of administrative and record-keeping procedures which have enabled economical changes in operation.

Both Simon and Ogilvie appear to be making good on campaign promises to be concerned with the needs of northwest suburbs. Both make frequent appearances in the area to discuss local problems with local officials and residents. Both are making a political investment in the northwest suburbs.

On Election Day, local voters will take with them to the polls the knowledge that these two public office holders are not only responsive to the hopes and fears of their constituents, but are also aware of the value of the taxpayer's dollar.

Oh You Great Big Beautiful Dollars



Noisy But Faithful

Democracy Is Like Jalopy

by BOB CUMMINS
Staff Writer

It is fascinating to watch democratic self government in operation. It behaves like an old jalopy. Sometimes it won't start. At other times the gears mesh with hideous grinding noises.

But it has rendered such good and faithful service that its shortcomings are forgiven. It is like "one of the family."

Some of its squeaks and rattles are quite predictable by anyone who has been along for the ride for quite some time such as a newspaper reporter who covers municipal affairs.

TAKE THE CASE of a person who has been running a rooming house in a single-family residential area in violation of the law. The city officials discover his transgression and warn him.

CUMMINS

He decides the only way to keep the rooming house going is to get rezoning for his property.

He makes his pitch to the zoning board and they turn him down. Any veteran observer can predict what will happen next. The frustrated petitioner will stomp from the room firing this parting shot: "I guess the only thing to do is sell to colored!"

THIS IS supposed to be a bombshell and is calculated to cause some zoning board member to shout in turn: "Mr. Chairman! Mr. Chairman! I move we reconsider!"

But that doesn't happen. The zoning board has heard the threat too many times.

Another situation where each step is more predictable than a minuet is the campaign on neighborhood lighting.

CORNCOB HEIGHTS doesn't have any street lights and a problem develops with prowlers and burglars and what not.

So Mort Gage gets a petition started in the subdivision asking for street lights. Everybody signs and Gage leads a delegation to the city council to present the signatures.

The council hears about the darkness, the prowlers, and the petition and says, "O.K., O.K. He hereby direct the engineer to draw up plans for the street lighting."

ACT II. The scene: Council chambers. The time: One month later. Who comes on stage? You guessed it.

Mort Gage is there with a petition. He wants to stop the street lights. Why? The engineering layout shows one of the light poles in front of his house.

I have come to think that one of the most useful inventions — it would really be invaluable — would be movable light poles.

YOU SEE, we would construct tracks along the streets of the subdivision, and light poles would be mounted on miniature railroad flat cars and run around and around the block.

Then no one could complain he had a light pole in front of his house. At least it wouldn't be in front of his house all the time. The onus and hardship of lighting would be equally distributed.

You might even combine recreation with street lighting by getting the park district to operate a kiddie train on the light tracks.

Credit Mess Exposed

by BRUCE LADD
Associate Editor

One day credit requirements are going to drop so low that everyone will have one credit card to use throughout his life. He'll never get billed and the whole thing will be charged off to his estate.

This is a standard joke in the credit industry, but with the widespread use of cards today, it's not that farfetched.

Sound like a heretic talking? No. It's a top-flight journalist, Clyde H. Farnsworth of the New York Times, whose new book "No Money Down" should enjoy tremendous readership in the northwest suburbs. It gets to the guts of the credit mess. (MacFadden Books, 1963, 157 pages. 50 cents.)

FARNSWORTH has studied loan laws. He explains, with facts and figures, how credit has become a billion dollar racket. He shows how to figure true interest rates and tells how to avoid being the joker in the credit deck.

LADD

"Don't talk to me about credit," says one man vehemently. "I don't owe anything to anybody. I pay cash on the line. My house is free and clear. And if I don't have the money, I do without."

People who talk this way are in short supply, Farnsworth points out. For every person who frowns on credit, 10 others say they couldn't live without it. Most people owe money, have owed money, or are planning to owe money sooner or later.

OF MORE THAN 180 million people in the United States, 100 million are installment buyers of houses, cars, boats, television sets, stoves, dogs, trips to Europe, or anything else that strikes their fancy. At the end of 1961, they owed $153.4 billion on their homes and an additional $57 billion on everything else.

Debt, far from being the "shamefaced dog" of the nineteenth century, has become respectable. Most of this impetus has come since World War II.

Borrowing used to be approached with as much trepidation as a trip to the dentist, Farnsworth muses. Few went unless they really had to, and then they attempted to pay back rapidly. Now a man borrows because he is able to, because the facilities are there, because the government gives tax breaks on interest, and because it is beaten into him that he has nothing to lose by borrowing.

LOUIS J. Lefkowitz, Attorney General of the State of New York, said recently, "In the credit picture as it exists today, the consumer is not asking for credit. Instead, the manufacturer, distributor, advertiser, financier, and retailer are all asking him to buy on credit."

And this situation leads to bankruptcy in many cases. In 1961, nearly 140,000 individual cases of bankruptcy were filed. One reason for this is that people don't realize they're in deep water. They don't understand the use of credit, and the lenders are the last to warn them that they're in over their heads.

In addition to the rise in personal bankruptcies, there has also been a disturbing increase in the number of home foreclosures. Easy credit apparently is the main culprit.

LENDING IS a profitable business. Spiegel, the country's third biggest mail-order house, makes more money from its credit business than it does from markups on merchandise. And there are the commercial banks, retailers, loan companies, credit unions, pawnshops, loan sharks and others. All profit by lending. It is estimated the interest on loans totals $20 billion annually.

In a chapter entitled "The Plunge," Farnsworth discusses the purchase of a home. Potential home buyers, he says, are fond of assuring themselves that by buying a house they are not really going into debt; instead they are building an equity and are being forced to save.

They compare rental costs and decide it's cheaper to buy. Tax savings are weighed heavily. So is the idea of more spacious quarters — and of having a place to call one's own.

AMONG THE things they fail to consider are the upkeep of the house, the absence of a landlord to complain to, unusually long commutation, and a decline in the value of the house.

If the buyer needs good sense in the new car market, he needs extrasensory perception in the used car market, Farnsworth notes. Most financing here is advertised in terms of weekly payments and it's rugged.

Most of the money spent via a credit card is spent at a service station. Some 53 million oil company cards are in use. It's easier to say "Fill 'er up" when no money changes hands.

A GOOD credit rating is not to be scoffed at. It, plus a $100 bill, will buy a key to a "Playboy" key club and open hundreds of other doors too. It's rather disconcerting to know that somewhere there is a file on anyone who has borrowed, charged, or has a line of credit at a bank. It's probably just as well that this information is confidential.

In another one of the book's 12 chapters, Farnsworth lays bare the Billie Sol Estes affair in the little Texas town of Pecos. Good reading for anyone who plays the stock market or banks heavily.

Chapter 11 is devoted to Sen. Paul Douglas' "truth in lending" bill. Those who block its passage in Congress are exposed.

Many people won't like reading Farnsworth's treatise. It'll hit them in the middle. It makes a guy take stock of his situation.

How to Get Publicity

by MELDA LYNN
Staff Writer

Why do some organizations get good newspaper publicity and others less coverage?

The answer is simple. An organization's publicity is just as good as its publicity chairman!

At a recent meeting following a "thank you" to the press for the good publicity received over the past year, the president snipped the bloom off the rose by saying, "But then, of course, the press knows we are a big and important group!"

This is a false — though common — conclusion.

LYNN

A newspaper is, always has been, and will probably always be the "fall guy" for poor publicity chairmen. A person too busy or unwilling to spend the necessary time and effort to do the job right always has a stock answer for distressed club members. Usually the absence of a story or the appearance of an inadequate one is blamed on the paper.

"It was sent in and not used" . . . "It was thrown away because the paper doesn't like our club" . . . or some other contrived excuse is standard propaganda.

Poor publicity chairmen waste much time and effort working other club members into a frenzy believing that the newspaper has nothing better to do with its time than carry on some cloak-and-dagger subversive campaign against their organization.

Newspapers are not infallible, but it is a rare occasion when a piece of copy gets lost or is deliberately not published. Some publicity chairmen, however, have been convincing fellow members for years that newspapers are always in the state of chaos portrayed by the movies.

If a piece of copy has been properly submitted before the newspaper's deadline and written according to a few general rules, it will not be lost; it will be edited and published as a credit to the club.

A good publicity chairman will first contact the editor with whom he is to deal and discuss the proper procedures so that both the paper and the chairman understand what is necessary to produce intelligent, interesting copy. Too few chairmen do this.

Organizations err, also, when they relegate the position of publicity chairman to the bottom of the totem pole, giving it to anyone who'll take it.

Many clubs consider publicity important but rarely seek out persons willing and qualified to handle it.

Serving as a publicity chairman is a demanding job, but it does not require a great deal of journalistic skill. Ability to type, to observe deadlines and copy rules are all that is needed.

Newspapers have changed, as have the communities they served. Where residents once were interested mainly in when the Ladies Aid Society was to meet and who was going to pour tea, they now want to know where their tax dollars are going and why.

Still, newspapers want — indeed, welcome — club news. It can be interesting. It can be presented in such a way that not only members of the group itself but others will enjoy reading it.

It's up to you, publicity chairmen!

Clarify Park Post: Citizen

Last Thursday evening saw an apparent new low point in the service being rendered to the public of Rolling Meadows by the group presently in the majority on the Rolling Meadows Park Board.

In the wake of a so-called hearing, Mr. Holste, who has been superintendent of the Rolling Meadows Park District since the creation of the post, was "fired."

It has been my understanding and that of most other persons in Rolling Meadows, that Mr. Holste was selected for the position of park superintendent (a position he has filled for the past two years) after an extensive search for the "right man." The actual choice being made from a group that had been approved to include only the six most qualified men applying for the position, based on their educational background and experience in park district affairs.

LIVING IN AN area adjacent to the park, I have been personally able to observe the transformation from an overgrown brush and swamp area with no facilities whatsoever, into what most of us consider a neat and orderly park, complete with swimming pool, ball diamonds, tennis courts and play areas for the tots. Most of this was created before the present majority came into being on the park board! I have also witnessed Mr. Holste and his aides working into the late hours flooding the skating areas in mid-winter, when most of us were quite snug indoors, with the heat turned up. This, so that our children and many of their parents could enjoy their winter sports.

Mr. Holste has also instituted and maintained an exceptional recreational program for which he is now being criticized, on the basis that it consumed too much of his time. Those in majority on the present park board contend that he should have been spending more of his time on other matters. According to Mr. Holste, this fact is being pushed for the first time, but he is not being given the opportunity to rectify his so-called mis-management.

ON TWO separate occasions, I have spoken to one of the majority members of the board regarding the shabby treatment being accorded Mr. Holste by them and on both have been informed that the firing was purely an economy move. This commissioner has also informed me that plans are either to not fill the post or to hire a part-time superintendent of parks. It is my understanding that the person seeking the position is a full-time Chicago fireman, who intends to accomplish on a part-time basis the duties which Mr. Holste allegedly could not accomplish on a full-time basis.

Just which of his qualifications will enable him to do this have not been made quite clear. I, however, cannot fathom how a man employed on a full-time basis in another municipality can hope to accomplish on a part-time basis what Mr. Holste could not do on a full-time basis, to the satisfaction of the group of commissioners presently in the majority, unless he is endowed with extraordinary powers and a much more advanced and complete education in park district affairs than Mr. Holste. If the latter is indeed fact, I am sure that he will be more than welcome to all of us.

In the meantime, I would like to suggest that the duties and responsibilities of Mr. Holste's successor be minutely detailed so that the situation which has occurred may not re-occur and thus force another person to go through the humiliation which Mr. Holste has been forced to endure.

Administrator Merits Support

Last week there appeared in this column an article signed "wondering" While the identity of this "bewildered" Itascan remains veiled in secrecy still his views did appear in public print and did denounce two persons whom he, despite his own apparent modesty did not hesitate to identify in full. These tactics are scarcely worthy of a reply unless there is always the slim chance that some readers may regard his arguments as valid.

Unlike this writer, I must not indulge in personalities Somehow it does not seem cricket to use a column as a stick to strike at unsuspecting victims whose integrity and ethics need no defense in any case.

INSTEAD LET us examine the facts concerning the school referendum and understand therefrom exactly why this person really is not competent to assume the role of Itasca as a majority opinion.

The referendum presented to the taxpayers of School District No. 10 was not only considered imperative and necessary by the school board but also by many citizens of the Citizens Committee. These individuals worked long and arduously to present the facts to the community.

These facts were not based upon lack of judgment but rather upon much research by the Citizens Committee in an effort to satisfy themselves of the need for the best facilities and talent available for the education of Itasca children. Aside from the benefit thus reaped by each student was the understanding implicit in a democracy — that a government of the people improves proportionately with the education of its electorate. All this was hashed out, carefully studied and presented to Itacsans as truthfully and ethically as those people whose names appeared on the literature passed out, knew how to do.

THE VOTERS supported the Citizens Committee by approving the referendum in December. They represent the majority of District No. 10 and they seemed neither "bewildered or wondering." They know all plans are future plans for future needs. They are mature and well-inform. They weighed the evidence and voted themselves the hardship of a tax increase.

The existence of empty classrooms at Washington School for 1963-64 seems to indicate to "bewildered" an indication of lack of necessity. I believe it requires only common sense to evaluate what conditions would be if there were no Franzen School for 1963-64.

If there were no Franzen School there would be no Art Room or Library at North School.

If there were no Franzen School there would be no EMH Room at Washington School.

IF THERE were no Franzen School there would be in excess of 32 pupils per classroom for 1963-64 with no available space for any increased enrollment. And increased enrollment is a fact and does not require judgment or common sense to recognize.

The issue of pay raises for administrative and teaching personnel is one in which only the duly elected school board members are and should be conversant.

I do not know what is right or wrong as far as salaries are concerned but I do know that common sense tells me that I want the best administrator and the best teacher in our school district, consistant with the fiscal responsibility assumed by the school board. Les us not lose him.

Sports Quote For Posterity

The sports page of your July 25 issue contained a quotation which is worth preserving for posterity. The quote which merits such a bouquet was simply stated by Al Glover, the baseball coach of Mt. Prospect 525, when he said, "We came to play!"

Mr. Glover's team had just lost an important game which could have been won had he enforced the rule of forfeit on the tardy competition. His decision to forego the forfeit was apparently an unpopular one with the team he coached. It was mentioned in the article that Mr. Glover's luck was bad throughout the tourney.

I WOULD respectfully take issue with this sentiment. How many people in their lifetime have both the opportunity and the intestinal fortitude to stand up for the spirit of the law as opposed to the letter of the law? Mr. Glover's "luck" was very good in both respects. His boys should go beyond the initial disappointment of losing a baseball game and take justifiable pride in the fact that they were present and accounted for when a very big man answered on their behalf, "We came to play!"

In these trying days when the news is filled with "letter of the law" people fighting battles of delaying tactics on both sides in struggles between East and West, or black and white, or labor and management, it is indeed refreshing if not downright hopeful, to hear an Al Glover say, "We came to play!"

Elk Grove Resident Voices Distress at Centex, Board

It was a beautiful evening with a gentle northeast wind. It was a relief . . . you could almost feel the moist air coming off of Lake Michigan. The gentle breeze was a pleasant change from the day's heat and discomfort. While savoring this change in weather, my olifactory sense rebelled at the annoying poignant odor which was conveyed by the previously pleasant breeze. The odor not unlike the odor of certain soaps apparently emanated from the Chicago Magnet Wire plant.

My memory flashed back to the time prior to our purchasing the house from Centex. I recall hearing a salesman named Joe reel his sales pitch about the industries having to comply with certain zoning laws including some gobbledegook about smoke, odors, etc. Somehow my nose told me that this salesman had given me a big snow job.

WHILE recalling the remarks of the salesman, I also recalled his statements about the new proposed shopping center. He proudly informed me that that fall they, Centex, were going to break ground for the new shopping center. The date that these statements were made was during August 1960. I am still looking for this promised center yet to be built.

It seems to me that the party most responsible for the above two situations is none other than the Centex Construction Company and to a lesser degree the Village Board of Elk Grove Village.

I thoroughly agree with the citizens' committee that it was a "colossal blunder" that the Chicago Magnet Wire plant was allowed into the village especially so adjacent to the residential area.

CONSIDERING the costs of converting the plant to their manufacturing processes, it is certainly reasonable to permit the Chicago Magnet Wire Company the opportunities to rectify the situation. However, if their efforts fail to eliminate the public nuisance and annoyance which the odors currently are, then the Village Board is obligated to take any action necessary to correct the situation. The Village Board should bring pressure to force the immediate construction of the shopping center by withholding approval of new proposed building tracts.

It is my hope that Centex for no other reasons than their own commercial ones of making Elk Grove Village an attractive, pleasant community in which to live will initiate immediate action for correcting these two glaring deficiencies. Who would want to buy in a community which forces its residents to travel 20 miles or better round trip to do weekly shopping or with an offensive odor which creates the urge to cover one's nose?

ONE POSSIBLE solution that Centex could investigate would be to petition the newly annexed western portion of the village to be rezoned for industry and go out of the housing business. This would please the school districts to the west who are always looking for new sources of tax revenue.

It would also please them because their new industries would not be flooding their schools with children because, after all, who ever heard of a manufacturing plant having children.

Urges Probe For Palatine

We have read articles in the Enterprise commenting on various phases of the Palatine Village Government. After reading these, we wonder why there hasn't been an investigation initiated by the village board of all departments, including administration, qualifications, capabilities and conduct of personnel, and the general attitude these people have towards the public who pays their salaries.

Are the village fathers afraid of what is there, in addition to what may be turned up? Perhaps they do not want such an investigation.

What other town has what Palatine has—the highest taxes, numerous inefficient village services, an administrative assistant, a village manager who announces in one week there is NO water shortage, then several weeks later the water department announces we DO have a shortage.

BY THE WAY, has anyone seen the three black luxury-type cars all equipped with the latest gadgets and special upholstery that the village fathers bought for the use of the village "officials"? Perhaps if Mr. Hollander could make do with the old cars, there would be sufficient funds available to remedy the water situation. Incidentally, why must the taxpayers provide the village manager with transportation from his home to the office?

The village board had a request from the village treasurer for a "continuing audit" with a vague explanation for its need. Rumor has it that there was a real need for a constant audit—something abount unposted items and jumbled records. Don't the taxpayers rate a clear explanation?

We still have a polluted creek, gas stations galore, spot zoning, building code violations, and a wonderful reputation.

Yes sir, we sure are lucky, hard-hit, taxpaying Palatine residents.

This Is IMPACT!

When a community reads that its schools are better, or worse, than average — that's IMPACT!

When a town learns its police department is corrupt, or incorruptible — that's IMPACT!

When a suburb learns it is to have a new industry or a new recreational center or a new municipal building, or it isn't — that's IMPACT!

When you want to keep up with integration in Birmingham, developments in the Far East, and Rocky's wedding in New York, the Big City Dailies provide the answer.

But if you're interested in what's happening on Main street, in village elections, and in the schools, you'll read about it in your local paper, and nowhere else — that's IMPACT!

Just imagine the IMPACT if you didn't have a local suburban paper. Who would attend the Village Theatre productions, subscribe to the Boy Scout fund drive, or know when to — and when not to — sprinkle the lawn?

And when Kiwanis sold its peanuts, the Lions aided the blind, and the Little League was holding a Pancake Day, how would you know where to go to help out — that's IMPACT!

We recognize our obligation — to our readers, our community, our churches and schools, our advertisers — to maintain the impact of good journalism, outstanding effort and a desire to serve.

We appreciate your plaudits, the responsibility you have cast upon us, and reaffirm our pledge to do what's right for our community.

KICKIN' IT AROUND

Medinah Rated Tougher

THE WESTERN GOLF ASSOCIATION received a solid stamp of approval for its major policy change in anchoring the Western Open permanently in Chicago, and the touring professionals certainly have been presented with two challenging courses in the past two years.

Medinah Country Club's No. 3 course is one of America's finest championship layouts, and the pros had nothing but praise for this classy layout in the 1962 spectacular.

There was tense action as Jacky Cupit drove to the title with a 281 total and pocketed the handsome $11,000 first prize.

Located in the heart of Chicago's South Side, Beverly Country Club hosted the golfers in the 1963 attraction and gave the play for pay linksmen a stiff challenge. Beverly is rated one of the nation's most deceptive masterpieces with trees, tight trapping and numerous out-of-bounds all combining to make it a test of precision.

Although Beverly provides a formidable challenge for the professionals, several of the standouts in the 1963 Western expressed the opinion that Medinah offered a tougher test than the South Side layout.

"There are some points of similarity," Cupit remarked as he prepared for the 60th presentation of the Western. "The fairways are narrow as they are at Medniah, and the greens are well trapped.

"However, the course is not as long, and you're not likely to get into as deep trouble as you can at Medinah with its heavy woods and tricky water holes."

Big Mike Souchak also pegs Medinah as the tougher course. "The chief difference, I believe, is that Medinah's fairways slope quite a bit and these don't," he pointed out.

"At Medinah you might hit a good drive and still wind up in the trees because of the slope. That won't happen to you at Beverly."

Most of the pros agreed that Beverly was a real good test of golf.

Arnie Palmer thought so too. He is $11,000 richer today because he didn't find it quite as tough as the others.

Is there any doubt that Palmer belongs in the top bracket with all the famed "killers" of sports today?

Talk about Jack Dempsey in boxing, Bill Tilden in tennis, or Jim Thorpe or Red Grange in football.

Arnie Palmer is something special, too. He certainly is well fitted to walk with such fairway immortals as Walter Hagen, Bobby Jones, and Ben Hogan.

It's been a strange year for Arnie and his Army. He admits he isn't playing as well as he has some years — he's missing the big titles — but still he's won some which paid real well and he's leading all money-winners.

Talk about your Dempsey, Tildens, and Thorpes.

But don't ever forget the name of Arnold Palmer. Here is a real "class" champion.

Sprint Start from Third

WHILE WE WERE SERVING our two weeks of active duty with the Air Force Reserve, we came across an interesting suggestion from a sports fan in Dayton, Ohio. The fan wondered why it might not be feasible for a base-runner to take a sprinter's start from third base when a sacrifice fly was hit.

The base itself could serve as a starting block, the fan added. He emphasized that bases today are well anchored, and sturdy, and would be ideal to brace the foot.

A third base coach would have to relay the starting signal to the base runner — clapping his hands — and the signals would change with each situation. The coach could clap his hands, yell the runner's name, use a certain word, etc.

Certainly it would take a lot of work on the part of the players but when you recall how many close plays there are at home plate on sacrifice fly situations you can appreciate how much even a fraction of a second advantage could mean to runners.

Links Headliner August 18

Golf Teams on Top Saturday Qualify for Paddock Tourney

Another talented field is shaping up for the summer spectacular that has attracted area golfers since 1950.

By Saturday, Aug. 3, the alignment will be set for Paddock Publications' 14th annual Inter-League handicap tournament.

First place teams of local divisions as of Saturday will be eligible for the links headliner at Barrington Hillcrest Golf Club on Saturday, Aug. 18.

Several crack outfits already have qualified for the Paddock meet although there are some Friday divisions still to be heard from. They'll be in action tomorrow evening with some tense action expected as the clubs battle for tourney slots.

DEADLINE for entries is Saturday, Aug. 10, although Paddock's sports department encourages early filing for additional promotional purposes. Greens fees of $16 per four man team are to be paid at time of making entry to Tournament Manager, Paddock Publications, Arlington Heights.

There will be no other costs to competitors.

Busse Automotive of the St. Raymond's league captured the top prize last summer with a 362 gross and 296 net over the Golden Acres layout.

BUSSE currently rests in second place in league play and will need an explosive effort Friday to pass Meeske's and claim another tourney berth.

The Paddock tournament was initiated in 1950 with Arlington Bank of the Arlington Heights capturing first place with a 285 net.

The handsome first place trophy has been passed around among various leagues in Paddock's circulation area although the Mount Prospect Monday division enjoyed a three-year reign from 1954-1956 with Mount Prospect Hardware, Mount Prospect Lions, and Whitton Realty.

Whitton Realty is the only sponsor annexing more than one tourney champion. The Whitton entry shared the top spot in 1952 at Mount Prospect Country Club with a 286 net and repeated in 1956 at Roselle with a 300 net.

AMONG SEVERAL hopefuls carrying the interest of the northwest suburban area in Chicagoland's biggest auto racing event of the year — the second annual O'Hare American 500 lanper for late model convertible stock cars — will be veteran Rob Chauncey, 33, 53 Forest Lane, Elk Grove Village. The 125-mile classic is set for Saturday night, Aug. 3, at O'Hare Stadium, Mannheim and Irving Park Roads. A competitor at O'Hare since the track opened in 1956, Chauncey will be driving a Chevrolet.

Spotlight on 3-Year-Olds

One Mile Event Draws Candy Spots, B. Major

The continuous 73-day summer season at Arlington Park hit the half-way mark this week, a special six-day period set aside as "All-Star Sports Week," featured here by four stakes which includes the $100,000 added Arlington Classic on Saturday worth a total $225,000 in added money, and all for charity under sponsorship of the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.

The six-day charity meeting has been coordinated with All-Star Sports Week, which includes Friday's annual gridiron classic in Soldier Field, to be climaxed the following day here by the famous one mile Classic for three-year-olds, third leg of Chicago's own Mid-America Triple along with the recently decided American Derby and the Chicagoan which was run in mid-June at Washington Park.

For sure the Classic will serve as "rubber match" between Rex C. Ellsworth's Candy Spots and Elmendorf's B. Major who split victories in the Chicagoan and American Derby. B. Major defeated Candy Spots a long neck in capturing the 1 1/8 miles Chicagoan, while Candy Spots took revenge with a dramatic 1¼ lengths score in the 1¼ miles American Derby after the two battled head-and-head for 6 furlongs.

BUT THERE are sure to be others for the one mile tussle—like Mrs. C. M. Ring's California invader, Olympiad King, the C. R. Mac Stable's Three Links, another well-regarded West Coaster, and Russell A. Firestone Jr.'s spirited sprinter Jet Traffic, who seems perfectly suited by the mile distance. And there's always a chance that Jaclyn Stable's flashy Ahoy will ship in for the race.

Another possibility is Y. Flash, who upset Maine Chance Farm's Get Around in the Hollywood Derby with a searing stretch rush. Y. Flash is on the grounds and should he covet the Classic he'll have to be supplemented.

Friday's Majorette, a $25,000 added spectacle for two-year-old fillies, could lure J. K. Houssels' classy Sari's Song, recent winner of the important Hollywood Lassie, and Grace Creek Farm's Bride of Note, the local queen thanks to her victory in the Mademoiselle here. John Olin's Merry Intent also could see action in the Majorette.

In last Saturday's $32,650 Round Table Handicap at 1 3-16 miles Hill-N-Dale Farm's Bronze Babu won a photo finish from Intercepted with Hard Rock Man a solid third.

The winner paid $6.80, $4.60, and $2.80 and earned $19,150 for his owners and breeders. Bronze Babu was timed in 1:55 4-5.

AS MENTIONED, Candy Spots and B. Major will cross paths again in the Classic—with the mile presenting even more of a problem at splitting the pair. At the mile of each the Chicagoan and American Derby you couldn't split 'em.

Olympiad King shows Hollywood stakes tallies in the Argonaut and Debonair and was a strong third behind Y. Flash

To Jamboree

Arlington Boy Wins Big Trip

Eleven-year-old Kyle Wiederhold will represent Arlington Heights at the Illinois Junior Sports Jamboree at Bloomington the weekend of Aug. 22-24.

Kyle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph R. Wiederhold, 1322 N. Chicago, won the 50-yard dash event at the jamboree sectional meet at Evanston July 20. The victory, achieved in 6.9 seconds, entitles Kyle to an expense-paid trip to the state meet, along with some 600 other sectional winners from all over the state.

The children will be housed in the new, modern dormitories at Illinois State Normal University, and will compete at the Bloomington High athletic field.

KYLE WIEDERHOLD

The 600 participants, including both boys and girls, are winners of 12 sectional meets held throughout the state last month.

All expenses, including transportation, housing and meals, will be paid for by the Illinois Youth Commission, which sponsors the big sports festival in cooperation with the Illinois Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The Bloomington-Normal Jaycees, hosts to the finalists, have planned a full schedule of activities for the Jamboree, supplementing the actual competition. Recreation, sports clinics, a parade, and the traditional awards banquet at the conclusion of the meet are all part of the program.

'Iron Mike' Kreevich Recalls Days of Blood 'n Guts Baseball

by BILL HALLS

A few years ago, before the White Sox won the pennant in 1959, Gene Shepherd, a New York disc jockey, recorded a nostalgic lament recalling his youth as a Sox fan on Chicago's south side.

Shepherd's satirical monologue described how it felt to be a White Sox fan for 40 years without a pennant winner. During the course of his nostalgia, he berated the nicknames given to modern baseball heroes.

"What kind of names do they have today," sneers Shepherd. "Bobbie, Mickey, Yogi. We had real names . . . names like Banana Nose Zeke Bonura, Bullet Bill Dietrich and Iron Moke Kreevich.

"Now there's a ballplayer's name. Iron Mike KreeVICH!"

Shepherd's tongue-in-cheek scorn for today's Sox heroes may have lost some punch when they won their first pennant since 1919 with such names as Nellie, Minnie and Louie, but his defense of "the old days" still carries weight with many oldtimers.

Among them is "Iron Mike" himself, who is whiling away the summer as a hod carrier on a construction job in Wheeling.

Kreevich, who spent the bulk of his 10-year bajor league career with the White Sox, and retired after the 1945 season with the Washington Senators, feels the players of his day were by and large superior to today's average big league ballplayer.

He named Joe DiMaggio, Ted Williams, Bob Feller, Charley Gehringer, Bill Dickey and Luke Appling, as some of the best.

"They were better than the one's we have now," he insists. "The high school and college kids are good in their own class but I question how much they improve when they get up in the major leagues."

The argument, of couse, is academic. But Shepherd might have a point in attributing the decline of major league baseball to nicknames. If this is the fault, it can correctly be attributed to the sportswriters, who are chiefly responsible for tagging catchy monickers on the ballplayers.

Kreevich credits a Chicago sportswriter for the "Iron Mike" tag.

"I ran into a brick wall in Boston," recalls Kreevich. "I was sent to the hospital for X-rays. The same night, I caught a train for New York and played the next day."

The name still fits. At 55, Kreevich weighs 168 pounds, "about my playing weight," and looks as though he could still handle left field for the White Sox.

His curly black hair, infiltrated with an occasional strand of grey, and rugged, well-tanned features are a reminder of the blood 'n guts baseball era recalled by Shepherd.

Kreevich admits he has never heard the recording, but he remembers Dietrich, Bonura, Appling and the rest of the players who wore White Sox uniforms from 1935 to 1942, during his best years in the majors.

There was Joe Kuhel, Jackie Hayes, Luke Sewell, Mike Tresh, Ted Lyons, Thornton Lee, Vernon Kennedy and Monte Stratton, the famed one-legged pitcher, who made a comeback after losing a leg in a hunting accident.

Jimmy Stewart played the part in the "Monte Stratton Story" several years ago in Hollywood.

Kreevich considers Jimmie Dykes, the old Sox manager, and now a coach with the Cleveland Indians, and Ossie Bluege, under whom he played his last big league season at Washington, the best two mentors he ever played for.

"I played under Connie Mack during the war," recalls Mike. "He was a great manager, but we was kind of old at that time, and his son, Earle, handled the team from the bench."

The sons of Lee and Tresh are now playing in the American League. Tom Tresh was "rookie-of-the-year" with the New York Yankees last season, and Don Lee is a pitcher with the Los Angeles Angels.

Kreevich said his two boys, Mike III, and Ken, never took to baseball. Ken, 17, and Mike's daughter, Barbara Ann, 20, live in Pana, Ill., and Mike III, 23, is a tool and die maker in Aurora.

"Mike likes hunting and fishing," said Kreevich. "In the fall, we'll go up to the Wisconsin River for fishing, and then bird hunting."

Kreevich, whose lifetime batting average was around .289, was born and raised in Mount Olive, a central Illinois hamlet. It's still his permanent home.

"I guess I started playing ball when I was five years old," he said.

Mike signed his first professional contract with McCook in the Nebraska State League in 1930. He got $90 a month and $1.50 a day for meals.

"McCook sold me to Des Moines," he said. The price was $500 cash or $650 in time payments, Kreevich recalls with a grin.

"I'll never forget that first day in the big leagues," he said. "The Cubs had suspended Hack Wilson for breaking training rules, and I was brought in to take his place for a Labor Day doubleheader. That was in 1931."

"We were playing the Cardinals and I got two for four off of Paul Derringer, and went 0 for four against Burleigh Grimes," he said.

Kreevich got in one more game that year as a pinch-hitter. He spent the next two years with Los Angeles and Albany. Later, he was traded to Kansas City in the American Association, and finally moved up to the White Sox in 1935 as an outfielder and third baseman.

Sox, Cubs Lose Big Games

Niles One Forces Colt Playoffs With Key Wins

Niles Number One backed pitcher Mike Kostecki with their bats last week, pounding both the Mount Prospect Sox and Cubs to force a playoff in the Northwest Suburban Colt League.

Niles blasted the Cubs, 11-1, July 23, and came back Friday to blank the Sox, 11-0.

The result left the Sox and Niles tied for first place in the final standings. The two teams met Wednesday in a championship playoff game but results were unavailable for publication.

STEVE Mueller took the loss for the Cubs, and Tom Manderscheid was the loser for the Sox in the Niles tilts.

The Sox picked up two more wins last week to keep in the running. July 24 they defeated Niles Number Two, 9-1, behind Cliff Macaulay's three-hit pitching. He walked one and fanned eight.

The Sox scored two runs in the second on Tim Rogers' double, and picked up three more in the third on a triple by Greg Kowal, a hit batsman, and singles by Keith Bergen and Jim LaRocco.

Three more runs scored in the fourth on a pair of Niles errors, and singles by Gregg Melzer and Wayne Kuklinski. The final tally came in the fifth on LaRocco's single, a stolen base, and another Niles' error.

THE NEXT DAY, the Sox beat Hoffman Estates, 8-6, with the help of Kuklinski's two-run homer in the fifth. Craig Thomas was on base, via a single.

Bergen picked up the win, although he needed help from Bill Phillips, Thomas and Kowal.

Doubles by Melzer and Don Greco, plus two errors, gave the Sox two runs in the first, and they scored another in the second on Kuklinski's double and Phillips' single.

Singles by Melzer and Bergen, plus two errors and a base on balls highlighted a three-run rally in the third.

OUTFIELDER BILL CHASE of Kelly Olds crashes into Mark Motors' catcher Ron Weber to score his team's lone run in the fourth inning of an Arlington Classic Fast Pitch League game at Pioneer Park Sunday. Chase, who reached third on a three-base error, came home on a passed ball. Weber recovered in time to tag Chase out, but had the ball jarred loose by Chase's hard slide. As it turned out, the run didn't hurt Mark much. They won the game, 11-1, to take sole possession of first place, breaking a season long tie with Kelly. Jumping out of the way is Jack Edwards of Kelly Olds, who was at bat. Other Mark players are pitcher Dick Hoffman (second from right) and first baseman Bob Prince. (Staff Photo by Tim Kane).

Park District to Sponsor Second Baseball Trip

The Arlington Heights Park District will sponsor its second baseball bus trip to Wrigley Field Wednesday, Aug. 7, for the Chicago Cubs — Los Angeles Dodgers game.

The district sponsored its first trip this season, July 17, for the Braves — Cubs contest. A total of 215 youngsters attended this trip.

Buses will leave from Pioneer Park at 11 a.m. for the ball park, and are expected to return to the same point at approximately 5 p.m.

Parent permits forms must accompany the $1.50 charge for bus fare and admission to the game. These forms may be obtained at any supervised playground or at the park district office.

Forms must be returned to the same locations by Monday, Aug. 5. Any boy or girl who has completed third grade is eligible to attend.

Chaperones for the trip will be Wayne Mueller, head of district softball activities; Dick Nelson, Recreation Park playground supervisor; Lynn Holste, Greens Park playground supervisor; and Art Segerbrecht, Pioneer Park playground supervisor.

There will also be parent chaperones who will take the bus trip.

Bankers Climb in Monday Division; Wistar Posts 38

Mount Prospect State Bank moved from fourth to first place in the Mount Prospect Monday twilight golf league with an impressive 10-point win over Karlsen's Pharmacy.

Carl's Food Shop, the previous leader, collected only two and one-half points from Busse Motors and fell from first to fourth.

Only six points now separate the first six teams in the tightest race in the league's history.

Five players came in with scores in the 30s with Dick Wistar leading the way on a fine 38. Ken Willert, George Kratsch, Len Arnold, and Herb Holman each had 39s.

Wistar had low gross with a 38. Kratsch had low net with a 39-13-26.

Birdies were recorded by Herb Holman, Kratsch, Carl Hammerl, Doug Sturgeon, Gus Knaack, Joe Sokal, Rasmussen, Ken Willert, and Fred Erickson.

Gus Knaack lost his match but remains in the top position with 21 points.

Wheeling Eliminated in Pony League Tournament

Wheeling was knocked out of the National Pony League tournament last weekend, dropping a pair of games to Northbrook.

Butch Pavelle was the losing pitcher Friday as Northbrook won, 8-1, and Bob Krug was charged with a 5-2 loss on Saturday. The Wheeling club managed only eight hits off of Northbrook pitching in the weekend series.

Wheeling eliminated Norridge last week. July 21, Wheeling edged Norridge, 3-2, in eight innings. Back to back doubles by Jerry Lemke and Dan Knowles gave Pavelle the win. Skip Grandt's fine relief pitching shut the door on Norridge in the eighth.

The next day, Grandt blanked Norridge, 6-0, on a three-hitter. Krug's triple and a homer by Knowles provided the bulk of the attack.

Other boys who played on the team, made up of all-stars selected from the Wheeling Pony League, include: Dave Eaton, Jeff Winterburg, Terry True, Danny DeVito, Tom Russell, Allan Rieger, Greg Fedyski, Robin Melzer, Bill Wasilewski and Rick Dyson. The team was coached by Lt. Cdr. James Pavelle.

Grid Call At Prospect Announced

J. O. Jackson, head football coach at Prospect High, issued the annual call for fall practice this week.

Jackson, whose team won the Interim League title last year, will open practice on Wednesday, August 21. Frosh practice starts August 24.

Candidates are asked to report for equipment issue at the Prospect fieldhouse on the following dates with their physical examination card, parent's consent card and insurance card. No boy will be allowed to draw equipment without the cards, Jackson said.

Juniors and seniors, 6 p.m., Monday, August 19; sophomores, 6 p.m., Tuesday, August 20; and freshmen, 10 a.m., Saturday, August 24.

Freshman boys, interested in becoming student managers, are also asked to report on August 24.

Jackson said all boys should break in their football shoes at least two weeks before practice starts in order to avoid blisters. A thin coat of vaseline, applied to the feet and ankles, normally prevents blisters, he said.

Jackson will be assisted by backfield coach Chuck Aldrich and line coach George Gattas this year. Dick Mudge is the Jayvee coach. Don Williams will handle the sophomores and Dave Ziemek and Earl Benoche will coach the freshmen.

The Knights will open with North Chicago High at 2 p.m., Saturday, Sept. 14. The Warhawks were the only team to beat Prospect last year.

New Baseball Club Formed In Arlington

In an effort to revive baseball for youths and young men 18 and older, Gus Alexakos of Arlington Heights has formed a new team called "The Hustlers."

"We like to get a regular league started in Arlington next year," said Alexakos. "But this year we're just playing exhibition games."

The Hustlers will meet the Chicago Braves, a team composed of American Indians, at 3 p.m., Saturday, at Recreation Park. Alexakos has also scheduled the Chicago Cobras from McKindly Park. This tilt is set for 2 p.m., Aug. 11, also at Recreation Park.

Some of the Hustlers from the Arlington Heights area include: Palu Splittorff, John Sigalos, Jim Eccles, Barry Reece, Bill Gertz, Dick Lehman, Jerry Lemeke and Alexakos.

Anyone interested in trying out for the team, or any coach interested in playing an exhibition game with the Hustlers, may contact Alexakos at 392-2373 after 6 p.m.

'Iron Mike'

Kreevich had his best year with the Sox in 1938, batting .323 and making the American League All-Star team.

He recalls two memorable experiences in the Big Leagues.

"I had two real good days," says Mike. "Once in Detroit I hit four doubles in one game to tie a major league record.

"The other was in Washington. I hit into four straight double plays. That also tied the record."

The fifth time Kreevich came to bat, there was a White Sox runner on first.

"I had a chance to break the record, but Dykes took me out for a pinch-hitter," recalls Kreevich with a grin.

At the end of the 1942 season, Mike was traded to the old Philadelphia Athletics for Wally Moses, another outfielder. He played one year for Connie Mack and then moved on to the St. Louis Browns in 1944.

Luke Sewell, his old Chicago teammate, piloted the Browns to their only pennant in American League history that year. Kreevich, a right-handed batter, played only against lefthanded pitchers. His .301 batting average was the highest on the team.

He still rebels against the two-platoon system in baseball.

"I think a ballplayer who is a regular is just as good a hitter against any kind of pitching," he said. "Certainly better than any guy who comes off the bench."

The Browns lost the World Series to the St. Louis Cardinals in six games. Mike picked up a $2,700 check for the loser's share. The San Francisco Giants ,who lost to the Yankees last year, collected more than $5,000 per man.

"Sportsman's Park (now Busch Stadium) only held about thirty thousand," explained Kreevich.

The Browns sold Kreevich to Washington in 1945. The Senators needed an outfielder because Gearge Case broke his leg, Mike said.

It was Kreevich's last season in the big leagues. He quit in the spring of 1946 over a salary dispute with Clark Griffith, the owner of the Washington club.

The decision was somewhat unfortunate for Kreevich. That same year, the Player's Pension Fund was organized. Mike wasn't eligible.

But Mike has no regrets. He enjoys the hardy outdoor life of his construction job, and hunting and fishing.

"I never thought about coaching or managing," he said. "I was getting tired of the constant travel, and was just glad to get away from it when I quit."

He still follows the big leagues in newspaper accounts and occasionally sees a game on television, but seldom attends one in person.

"It's too long a drive to the south side," he says.

And there are still people who ask about the old days.

"But once you leave the big leagues, you're pretty well forgotten," he said.

Cheerleaders Wanted for Mount Prospect Gridders

Girls, age eight to 13, interested in cheerleading for the Mount Prospect Midget Football Association, may register Saturday morning at the Lions Park Fieldhouse, the Association's Women's Auxiliary announced this week.

"Much of the success of the Midget Football program in the past must be ascribed to the spirited vocal support given the boys by enthusiastic cheerleaders," said Jack Griffin, association president. "They have been colorful, always speeding on the victory-bound, and rallying the underdogs."

Griffin said the program's 16 Bantam and Junior and four Senior teams will all need cheerleaders.

Saturday is also the second week of registration for players.

A record number of boys signed up on July 27, Griffin said, and the association, anticipating a sharp over-all increase for the final registration, request all boys interested in playing football to sign up early.

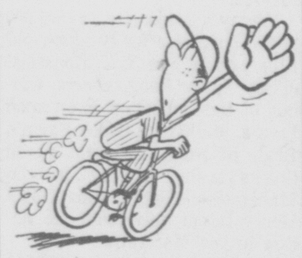
In response to many inquiries about equipment, Griffin said many former Midget footballers have used gear in good condition to offer at reasonable prices. Those interested in buying or selling football gear are asked to check with association personnel at the fieldhouse during registration.

In Weird Baseball Week

Braves, Sox Cop Meadows' Pennants

In a final wild week — filled with baseball curiousities — the Braves and the Sox clinched respective pennants in the National and American leagues and won the honor of meeting each other in the Rolling Meadows Boys Baseball World Series.

The strange happenings included one team scoring 49 runs in two games, three pitchers hooking up to hurl a no-hitter, and another boy who fanned 13, walked 10 and still pitched a hitless game.



The Indians carried the hottest bats, blasting the Senators, 22 to 1, and coming back to bombard the Tigers, 27-7. Ralph Schumacher, Dave Ristan and Mike Scholle teamed up to hurl a no-hitter against the Nats.

MIKE ROONEY helped himself to his fifth win of the year by spanking a homer in the Tiger tilt. Rick Smart collected two homers, and Steve Jones had a perfect day at the plate, bagging four for four, including a home run. Purcelli took the loss for the Tigers.

Meanwhile, the Sox defeated the Athletics, 6-2, as Mike Byrnes hurled a no-hitter, despite walking 10 men, and hitting another. He fanned 13, Abinanti, who was charged with the loss, faced only 27 men, but Byrnes' wildness forced him to face 30 Athletic batters.

Johnny Terrel and Joey Parsetich led the Sox attack with two hits apiece.

Ronnie Richards fanned 12 in pitching the Sox to a 3-1 win over the Tigers in the only other American League game. Dan Marcucci took the loss. Jack Byrnes led the attack with a triple and a home run, and brother Mike blasted two hits, including a triple.

IN THE National League, the Braves clinched the flag with an 8-7 win over the Cardinals. Paul Lloyd picked up the win, although he needed relief help from John Macior.

Glen Hedmark and Bob Gaddini hurled for the Cards. Gaddini took the loss. Macior (3 for 4) and Marty Komondoros led the Brave offense. Komondoros had two hits in two trips, including a three-run homer.

Stu Yakes had three of the Cardinals' four hits, including a triple and a home run.

Pat Corrado's five-hitter set down the Giants as the Braves, led by Macior's seven RBI's, won again, 18-3. Macior crashed three homers and a single to account for the bulk of the Brave attack.

CORRADO and Paul Lloyd also homered for the winners. Frank Koc and Bruce Brod helped loser Bob Batchlor with the pitching chores. Bob Brodman had a two-run homer for the Giants.

Richard Kolle drove in the winning run as the Pirates downed the Cubs, 5-4. Bill Manning was the winning pitcher in relief of Larry Piekarski. O'Donnell was the loser for the Cubs. Bob Scholle's grand slam homer accounted for the Cub runs.

Epperly, Rams Win Playoff Contest, 8-2

Tom Epperly fanned 12 and allowed only two hits Monday evening in pitching the Rams to an 8-2 playoff victory over the Knights in Arlington's Varsity I competition.

The winners scored in each of the first four innings with four markers in an explosive fourth.

Bill Schaefer hit a two-run homer and collected a single, and Craig Butler and Epperly also had two hits.

The Rams had captured the second round title with the Knight ruling the first round.

Deadline August 6 For Entries in Obedience Trial

Noon, Aug. 6, is the deadline for entries to the sixth annual, licensed obedience trial sponsored by the Northwest Obedience Club, Inc., of Suburban Chicago.

More than 200 entries, including many from the Rand Park Training Club, are expected for the show scheduled for Aug. 18 on the grounds of Prospect High School, Foundry Road, Mount Prospect.

Also a part of the show is a tracking test the same day at the Becher Hungerford estate in Barrington.

Limit of dogs for the Novice A and B classes has been set at 60 entries; for the Open classes, 50 in each, and in Utility only 40 will be accepted. Tracking test entrants are limited to six.

A record number of trophies have been donated for this year's show, acording to show chairman, Tony Giovenco of Mount Prospect.

Judges are Bed E. Burge, Novice A; Mrs. Lorraine Meyer, Novice B; Miss Betty M. Davis, Open A; Arthur Piunti, Open B; H. Stewart FitzGibbon Jr., Utility; and Roy M. Malzahn and Ralph E. Bergstrom, Tracking.

Northwest Obedience Club members train in Palatine, though they represent nearly a dozen nearby communities. Stan Petry of Arlington Heights is the club president.

Jets Win 2 of 3 in Colt Loop; Playoffs Slated

Tom Kelly and Bob Kranz sparked Rolling Meadows Jets to two victories in three outings last week in the Northwest Traveling Junior Colt League.

Kelly cracked two hits and pitched the Jets to a 6-2 win over the Lake Zurich Colts, then crashed a grand slam homer to back Kranz as he hurled the Jets to a 13-4 win over Waycinden Park.

Kranz and Tom Govedarica drove in two runs apiece in the win over Lake Zurich. Don Cooper and Rick Prucha drove in the other tallies.

Errors and walks contributed to Waycinden Park's downfall. Cooper and Lynch each drove in a run for the Jets.

Lake Zurich gained a measure of revenge with a 6-4 win behind the pitching of Ray Culp. Prucha took the loss for the Jets. Jeff Jacoby, Rick Sawyer, Pat Marucci and Kelly drove in the runs for Rolling Meadows.

Starting Monday, Aug. 5, the Jets, Elk Grove, Waycinden Park and Lake Zurich will play a round robin tourney to determine the league champion. The remaining games will be played Aug. 6 and 8, with the championship game slated for 1 p.m., Aug. 10, at Lake Zurich.

Justinians Hold Annual Golf Outing

The Justinian Society of Lawyers held their annual golf outing last week at Vernon Hills Country Club.

One-hunlred and fifteen members participated in the all-day outing which included golf, swimming, and dinner. Joseph Rubinelli, Assistant State's Attorney, was program chairman.

Winners of golf prizes were: R. Pastore, low gross (85); J. Sanello, low net (66); A. Chiara and J. Nix, blind bogey.

Corr, Mutert Spark Club to Mid-Teen Title

With Tom Corr driving two key runs with a pair of base hits, and Bill Mutert doing the pitching, Mount Prospect clinched the Northwest Mid-Teen baseball title Sunday with a 7-2 win over Rolling Meadows. Mount Prospect winds up the season with a home game at Prospect High Sunday. Elk Grove will be the opponent. Starting time is 2 p.m.

Arlington Realty Eyes Tourney Spot

Arlington Realty is in the commanding position this week in the battle for a Paddock tourney berth from the Old Orchard Scratch League.

The leaders are four points on top of second place Peters & Co. with one night of play remaining before selecting a tourney entry.

Big point winners last week were Nelson Realty, Lohr's Pharmacy, and Dean Landscapers.

Bob Kronn's 35 paced Nelson over Pitzen Movers with the latter operating without two regulars. Dave Borgardt fashioned a 34 for Lohr's in their battle with F-B-K Realtors, and Len Arnold and Bokelman both posted 37s as Dean's took six points from Peters & Co.

College League Has Bright Future, But Few Dividends Today

by ED SAINSBURY
UPI Sports Writer

Chicago, (UPI) — Organized baseball's "noble experiment" and $50,000 investment to subsidize amateur baseball may pay off, but not right away.

The future for the Central Illinois Collegiate Baseball League looks bright, and perhaps some time the major leagues will reap dividends from their investment, $2,500 from the world series share of each of the 20 teams.

This year the crop will be small, if there's enough to harvest. Though there are about 120 players on the six teams—Peoria, Springfield, Bloomington, Lincoln, Champaign-Urbana and Galesburg—even the most optimistic scout doesn't believe more than 10 have "major league potential."

ONE MAJOR league scout, who has watched the circuit of college players since its inception, said "There're no more than there are fingers on one hand, if that many."

Still the majors may get their money's worth from intangibles this year and perhaps much more in time to come. The six-week operation of the league can't cost more than $50,000.

"The way we're set up," President Bob Stewart, who is Athletic Director of St. Louis University during the school year, said, "We only have to average 10 people per game at the gate to break even."

That's because each team received $2,500 from the league to match locally raised funds. The collegiate baseball foundation pays the coaches, $1,500 each, the umpires, and all incidental expenses.

THE PLAYERS are volunteers from colleges from coast to coast who want a chance to develop and display their baseball skills for major league ivory hunters. They are unpaid. Instead each is guaranteed a job and the league seeks a minimin wage of $50 per week.

Some get more. One has a $3.75 hourly rate for 32 hours a week. Each team has one player whose job is groundskeeper or janitor at the ball park for the minimum. Some work in construction, some in offices.

There are dividends for some players. Tim Murtaugh, son of the manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, catches for Bloomington. His job is in the actuarial department of a large insurance company.

"It's good on-the-job-training for me," he said, "I'm minoring in mathematics and I'm doing the same work that the company has college graduates doing."

ANOTHER Bloomington player, Monty McBryde from Florida State, is the envy of the league because "he wears a white shirt and tie to work, has his own office, and a secretary."

McBryde is majoring in insurance and is in the investments department of the insurance company.

"We try to put these kids in jobs that fit their college courses," Stewart said. "But for some we can't find anything that fits."

The jobs are not sinecures. Two players working in construction found the labor too tough for ball players. They quit and got other jobs.

NOR DOES the league put up with questionable activities off the field. Two players were dismissed because of such antics. The players generally work full time or even extra hours on Monday and Friday, then half days or six hour days on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday to put in their 32 hours a week.

"You ought to see our games on Sunday only," Bill Wall, one of the administrators from MacMurray College, said. "The kids don't have to work Saturday so they're well rested and can play better."

Generally the baseball is good. Branch Rickey said he couldn't rate it equal with Class D, but suggested it might be better. Coach Jack Horenberger of Illinois Wesleyan, who coaches the Bloomington team, said it was "better than what I usually see in our type of competition, but I don't know whether it's better than that in major college leagues."

"BUT I told that to a Big Ten audience over at Champaign," he said, "and they told me it was better."

The players, who were chosen for a one week tryout camp, are in the league because they want to make the majors and big money. About 80 of them were recommended to the camp by major league teams, but only about half of these were good enough to play in the circuit.

"One of the things the major leagues are getting out of this," Stewart said, "is that they can find out early whether the kids they're thinking of are good enough. If they can't make our league, I would think they could forget them."

About 200 boys were invited to the camp, receiving their expenses. Others turned up, paying their own way, and those who made it had their expenses refunded. All had to be college underclassmen with at least one year of competition remaining.

"WHETHER they make the major leagues or not," Horenberger said, "They'll be better college players in their remaining competition."

There has been fear in the amateur ranks that major league baseball might harpoon the infant circuit before it's really under way by signing some players after the season ends August 15, thus making them ineligible for college play.

But there's little likelihood of this. For one thing, it would be too late in the season to obtain much competition from the player this year. For another, there isn't any standout talent in the league at this time. Also, baseball has agreed it won't sign a college player until he's completed his sophomore year and that rules out about half the league.

FORTY-FOUR scouts and evevy major league team get full statistics on the league every week. The players are under inspection constantly.

No great dividends are in sight for the majors right now. But less than 15 years ago there were 49 minor leagues to stock the name teams. Now there are 18.

Maybe such circuits as the Central Illinois Collegiate Baseball League are the answer. The majors are spending $50,000 this year to find out.

Lions Stop Holmes, Drop Two Winnemac Park League Games

Tom Collins, Jerry Donahue, and John Loughman combined to hurl a four-hitter as the Lions of Arlington Heights, a team made up of St. Viator High students, shelled Holmes Ford of Des Plaines, 9-2, and salvaged one victory in three games last week.

Coach Larry Nomellini's outfit rolled past Holmes in a non-league scuffle but didn't fare too well in Winnemac Park competition with successive losses to Mercury and the Marvels.

The Lions now stand 5-7 in league action and 7-7 over-all. They were scheduled to battle the Cards yesterday (Wednesday) and will be in action again Saturday.

COLLINS, Donahue, and Loughman each worked three innings in the victory over Holmes Ford with Donohue collecting the mound victory. The trio combined for 10 strikeouts in nine frames with Collins and Donahue each picking up four.

The Lions put the game away with six runs in an explosive first inning.

Mike Sheetz tripled to start things off and Jerry Donahue drove Mike home with a double. John Loughman reached first on an error, and after Dan Collins flied out Tom Collins, Jim Mikes, Bill Kaveny, and Bill Leonard contributed successive base knocks.

Kaveny and Leonard had doubles in that six-run explosion.

Two more markers came across in the fourth when Kaveny singled, stole second, and rode in on Gary Drabant's single.

In the ninth Nomellini's club added its final tally as a hit batsman was followed by a walk to Loughman and single by Tom Collins.

Kaveny and Tom Collins each had three singles for the victors.

THE MARVELS came up with two runs in both the second and fifth innings of an impressive 4-2 victory over the Lions last week.

The locals were checked with four hits in seven frames with two safeties leading to the two runs in the fifth.

In Monday evening's encounter the Mercury nine jumped off to a 2-0 lead in the first stanza and was never headed in posting an 8-2 victory.

Donahue went the distance for the locals and allowed nine hits, fanning five.

The Lions scored single runs in both the third and fifth while collecting five of their six hits.

Kaveny and Valentine put together singles in the third with Kaveny scoring on a balk. Valentine drove in Tom Collins in the fifth as Collins, Jim Mikes, and Valentine registered singles.

The sixth hit by the Lions was a sixth inning single by Loughman.

Mark Motors Rips Kelly In Softball

With the Bencic brothers, Mickey and Chuck, providing the punch, and Dick Hoffman hurling a three-hitter, Mark Motors blitzed Kelly Olds, 11-1, Sunday, to take sole possession of first place in the Arlington Classic Fast Pitch League.

The Bencic brothers each collected three hits in three trips to the plate to pace a 13-hit Mark attack against George Cresswell, the Kelly pitcher, who had given up only two-earned runs before Sunday's game.

Hoffman fanned six. The one Kelly run was unearned. Kelly's defense, which had helped Cresswell blank five opponents this year, committed 10 errors to aid the Mark cause.

The victory broke a season lone tie for first. Mark now sports an 8-0 record. Kelly is 7-1. The two teams still have a make-up game remaining. If Kelly wins, it will force a playoff for the league title.

Invitational League

Thunderbird Bowl Plans Division For Top Keglers

Thunderbird Bowl, 821 E. Rand Road, Mount Prospect, this week announced the formation of the Thunderbird Invitational League which will include 24 of the area's best bowlers.

Scheduled to open competition on Aug. 28 at 9:15 p.m., this hand-picked aggregation will roll six games per session. The first three will be in two-man team matches and immediately following, a three-game, head-to-head singles event.

Patterned after the famed Chicago Invitational League and already equipped with a full slate of local sponsors, this event must be definitely considered as one of the outstanding competitive opportunities for the high-average bowlers in the Northwest Suburban Area.

Negotiations for display-advertising publicity coverage in Paddock Publications have already been started and will include weekly scores and photos of both the bowler and the sponsor of the week.

As of this printing, eight of the 12 two-man team reservations have definitely been filled or spoken for. These were a direct result of more than 50 personal invitations which were mailed to individuals in June.

Information and applications for the four remaining spots can be had by calling 392-0550 and talking with Herb Freitag, Bob Citron or Al Paulin of Thunderbird Bowl. Minimum average requirement per man is 187 for 60 or more games for the 1962-63 season.

Nation's Top Two-Year-Olds Arriving Now

With a scant six weeks remaining before the 1963 renewals of the two world's richest races — the Arlington-Washington Futurity, open to all two-year-olds, and the Arlington-Washington Lassie, exclusively for two-year-old fillies — many of the top-level candidates already are converging on Arlington Park.

Latest to launch preparations for the seven-furlong Futurity on Sept. 7 are the much-talked about stars of the Rex C. Ellsworth stable — The Scoundrel and Close By.

It was Ellsworth's now-famous Candy Spots, supplemented at a fee of $25,000, which won the inauguaral in 1962 and which went on to win the Santa Anita Derby, the Florida Derby, the Preakness, the Jersey Derby and the American Derby as a three-year-old this year.

THE SCOUNDREL has won twice in four starts, including a division of the Haggin Stakes at Hollywood Park, while Close By has registered two victories in five outings, including a section of the Howard Stakes, also at Hollywood Park.

Settlers since the Arlington-Washington season opened are two undefeated youngsters—Grace Creek Farm's Amastar (four-for-four) and Mrs. Dorothy Comiskey Rigney's Dunfee (five-for-five). Others already on the grounds are Mrs. Lora Birr's Belleau Judge, Bwamazon Farm's Doubly Fare, and Harry L. Freyn's March Blow.

Among the non-stakes eligibles which have impressed the experts already in training at Arlington are Hugh A. Grant's Approbation; Mr. and Mrs. Herman Harris' Dog Gone, and Mary Fisher's Golden Ruler.

LASSIE potentials acquainting themselves with the Arlington racing strip include J. Kel Houssel's Hollywood Lassie winner, Sari's Song; R. G. Burn's Danville Miss, winner of the Debutante at Fair Grounds, and Bwamazon Farm's Royal Bund, winner of the Keeneland's Bewitch.

Among the ranking non-eligibles which would have to be supplemented ($25,000 each for the Futurity; $15,000 each for the Lassie) are: Harbor View Farm's Raise A Native; Greentree Stable's Malicious, and Clarke-Radkovich's Wil-Rad for the Futurity, and Hofbrau Stable's Behaving Deby for the Lassie.

Wheeling Softball Race Tight

Babiarz Builders and Jeffery Lanes picked up wins this week to continue unbeaten in the Wheeling Park District Adult Major softball league, while St. John's has a slim edge of the Jaycees in the Minor loop.

Jeffery blitzed Welflin's Sporting Goods, 13-3, and Babiarz outslugged Palatine Demos, 15-9, in last week's Major League action.

St. John's blanked Ekco Container, 10-0, to move in front of the Minor League standings. In other action, Schuler's Hardware split a pair, defeating McDonald's, 15-5, and dropping a 1-0 decision to Ekco.

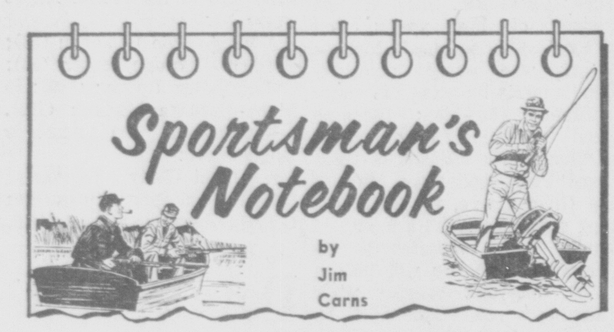
Kerr Triumphs In Jaycee Golf

ROCKFORD, ILL. (UPI) — Dave Kerr, a 17-year-old Waukegan High School senior, came from behind with a par 71 last week to win the Illinois State Jaycee Golf Tournament at Sandy Hollow course.

Kerr, along with second place finisher Dave Detweiler of Dixon, Ill., and the winner and runner-up in the novice division, qualified for the International Jaycee Tournament, August 15, at Midland, Texas. Kerr shot an opening round 78 for a 149 total.

James Lind, Glenview, won the novice division with a 78-73—151. John Place of Freeport, finished second with a 77-82—159.



At the beginning of August it is not too early to think about hunting. But not the pipe-dream thoughts of stag elk and mossy white-tail bucks.

What's necessary is a good deal of thought about the hunter's place in the field of game conservation. Is conservation serving the interests of hunting, or is hunting a tool of conservation?

It can be a two-way street, and in many regions of the United States posted seasons and limits indicate that "trophy" hunting and indiscriminate thinning of vegetarian big game herds is on the way out.

In Colorado, under the name of "happy hunting spree," game conservationists have instituted a big game season and limit schedule which reads something like a list of departing trains at Grand Central Station.

There will be 11 special deer seasons in that state, as well as 9,810 "hunter's choice" elk permits designed for highly concentrated control of herds on a local level.

Some permits allow up to three deer, while others permit the taking of antler-less elk. Even though the seasons are tagged a spree, hunting is controlled by locality and by need. The fanciful name serves to show that hunters and conservationists can both be happy at once.

For years, hunters have justified their places in the field by terming themselves replacements for disappearing predators. They have been keeping "nature's balance" according to the ancient law of survival.

But the hunter who always goes after a trophy animal forgets that it was easier for the wolf, bear or mountain lion to take a doe or a weakened animal.

This, ideally, was the balance of nature. The law was survival of the fittest, and it worked well. Not only was the number of any given herd kept within the limit of the habitat, but also the stock which survived was the cream, not the cull of the herd.

Today's primary predator, armed with a reasoning mind and modern hunting equipment, has his choice. He is by no means limited to dropping stragglers from the tail of a herd, or picking weaklings from the brush.

In the past, the hunter has even been encouraged or required to limit his choice to the strong adult male. It looks good stuffed, but it might have looked better in breeding figures.

Now, in almost every state with sutitable habitat, big game populations are on the upswing. Seasons are being opened and expanded throughout the country as they have been for Illinois deer in the past seven years.

More and more the hunter will be presented with a choice of his own. Regulations will give him an opportunity to shoot wisely.

The challenge of hunting has been measured in ivory and rhino horns in Africa, the curl of a ram's horn and the length of a bear skin.

But there is an equal challenge in hunting with an eye toward the future of the species, be it elk, deer or antelope. In selected areas the bold challenge awaits today's hunter.

How many can let the antlered buck pass while waiting for a doe?

Tickets Still Available for Badger Games

MADISON, WIS., (UPI)—The supply of $5.00 tickets for the University of Wisconsin's home football games against Purdue, Ohio State and Northwestern this season has been sold, ticket sales manager Oscar C. Damman announced last Saturday.

Damman pointed out that an ample supply of $4.00 and $3.00 tickets are still available for purchase for the games and emphasized that they are not a complete sellout at this time.

The Purdue game, October 12 is National "W" Club day, the Ohio State game, October 26 is Parents Day and the Northwestern game on November 9 is Wisconsin's 56th Homecoming celebration.

Oaks, Hornets Capture City Championships

Final Playoffs Next Week

Little League baseball action in Arlington Heights comes to a roaring climax this week with championships determined (weather permitting) in five divisions.

The remaining playoff games for titles have been scheduled, and several contests have been cancelled as they would have no bearing on the league winners.

The Oaks of the South Blue Juniors league battled to the city championship by downing the Bees of the North White Juniors 11-7 on Saturday after playing to a 5-5 tie Thursday evening.

THE OAKS earned the right to play the Bees by blanking the Atoms, South White titlist, 9-0. The Bees whipped the Badgers of the North Blue Juniors League to gain the Northside crown.

Intermediate honors went to the high-flying Hornets who dumped the Stars Sunday afternoon, 6-3. The Hornets gained the Northside championship Friday evening when they downed the Comets, defending city titlist, 17-0.

The Stars moved into the crucial finale with a crushing 19-0 victory over the Barons as Clark fanned 12, allowing only two hits. He also slapped a home run for the victors. McDonnell registered both safeties for the Barons.

Senior

The Browns and Indians were scheduled to meet Tuesday evening for the Senior League championship with the Browns posting an 8-1 mark in second half play.

Young bested Carroll and the Lions rolled past the Redlegs 9-3. The winning pitcher also delivered a key blow with a bases-loaded triple in the fourth. Tasvogel had three hits for the winners.

In a makeup game the Lions edged the Hawks 7-6 with both clubs collecting eight hits. Disbrow was the winner and he also posted a double. Derosa had a triple for the Hawks.

Scoring two runs in the fourth inning, the Browns slipped by the Bears 3-2 as Pat Martin went the route for the decision. Barry Tossi homered for the losers. Bob Armour drove in the deciding markers with a fourth inning double.

Although out-hit 4-2, the Indians still managed to record a 5-4 victory over the Hawks with LeStarge the winner. The Browns stopped the Lions 3-1 behind Lockwood's four-hitter.

Varsity I

Hooked up in the playoff for Varsity I honors were the Rams and Knights with action slated for Monday evening of this week. Complete details will be presented next week.

The Knights clobbered the Phillies 13-3 as Tom McDonald yielded only two hits, hurling no-hit baseball until the fifth. McDonald slammed a triple and single to help his own cause. The winners came up with nine runs in the first inning.

Although bothered by control problems, Edgerton still managed to collect 10 strikeouts and allow only three hits in pitching the Orioles to a 5-3 victory over the Rams. Edgerton also rapped out two hits. Saelens had a homer for the Rams.

The Rams recovered from a 7-4 fourth inning deficit and went on to stop the Knights, 9-7. Schaefer was the winning pitcher with Epperly slamming a three-run homer in the first.

A two-run ninth gave the Wildcats a 5-4 victory over the Knights with Cronin picking up the win in relief of starter Yaeger. Cronin's double drove in the deciding runs, and he stole home in the seventh to send the game into extra innings.

Schaefer fanned 13 and allowed only one hit in pitching the Rams to an 8-2 victory over the Redwings. Tom Epperly had three hits and Mark Hipple and Craig Butler chipped in with two each for the Rams.

Scoring four runs in the seventh inning, the Wildcats got by the Rams 6-4 with Jim Cronin besting Epperly. Cronin fanned 10. Pat Zeller and Jim Millay had doubles.

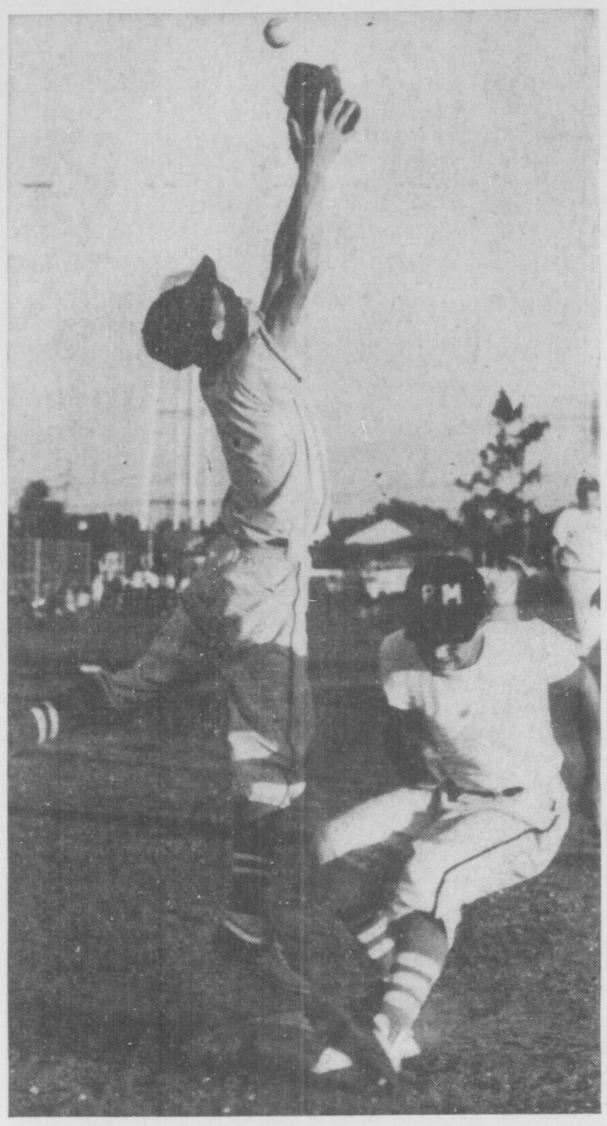
Varsity II

The Falcons and Vikings were scheduled to meet Tuesday evening for the league title after the Falcons annexed the second half crown.

Scoring three runs in the seventh inning, the Raiders stopped the Eagles 3-1 with Horcher besting Brandau. Doug Sanderson slammed a three-run homer to give the Raiders a come-from-behind victory.

Shawhan pitched a three-hitter and yielded only five hits in sparking the Falcons to an 11-5 victory over the Vikings. Jarvis also chipped in with three safeties for the winners, and Clark Simms got three hits for the losers, including a triple and double.

Roger Carroll pitched a two-hit game, striking out nine, as the Vikings clobbered the Pelicans 12-2. Clark Simms continued his heavy sticking with three hits, including a home run and double, and Scott Guilfoil had three safeties, including a double.



RICK PRUCHA of the Rolling Meadows Jets scampers safely back to third as an attempted pick-off throw gets away from the Lake Zurich third baseman. Prucha drove in one of the Jets six runs. Rolling Meadows won this game, 6-2, but lost a rematch later in the week, 6-4. Prucha was the losing pitcher in the second game.

Rapping out 10 hits in four innings, the Eagles bombed the Pelicans 16-4 with Hicks besting Gumz. Hicks fanned seven. Irmen topped Horcher in the Generals' 4-3 victory over the Raiders.

The Generals and Falcons battled to a 4-4 deadlock with the tie giving the Falcons first place in second half competition.

American

The White Sox and Senators were scheduled to square off Monday evening in a playoff game for the second half title of this division. If the Senators, first half champions, were victorious, they will reign as league titlist for 1963. A White Sox victory would necesitate another playoff contest.

In a well-played game that extended into eight innings the Tigers and White Sox battled to a 2-2 deadlock. Long of the Tigers stole home with two out in the sixth to tie the contest.

Miler bested Foreman as the Red Sox slapped down the White Sox, 3-1, and the Athletics edged the Red Sox 7-6 with the two decisive runs in the seventh inning. Schmelzer was the winner, and he also cracked two home runs for offensive laurels.

A six-run third inning carried the Senators to a 9-4 victory over the Yankees with Armstrong going the route for the win. Whitnell, Renz, and McDonald contributed homers in this outing.

National

In Monday's playoff the Cardinals, second half champions, were slated to battle the Cubs, first half titlist.

The Cardinals continued their winning ways wih an impressive 8-1 vicory over he Braves as Mike Blassey hurled his second two-hitter and struck out 14. The winners scored six runs in the fourth.

Bruc and Mark Frae combined for five hits in leading the Dodgers to a 9-6 victory over the Cubs. Blackburn paced the losing Cubs with three hits off Eleberg. McKay absorbed the reversal.

Brophy fanned nine and yielded only two hits in pitching the Twins to an easy 9-3 victory over the Giants. Rucker was tagged with the loss.

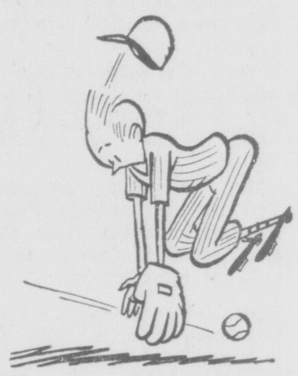
A three-run first inning was more than enough as the Giants whipped the Angels 4-1. Randy Bocian went the distance on a wield of three hits. Creswell was the loser. Bocian fanned 10.

Five errors paved the way to five runs in the second inning and the Cubs went on to decision the Pirates 9-3. Blackburn picked up the win.

A six-run first inning explision carried the Pirates to a 10-4 victory over the Angels with Spindler topping Fincher. Greene slammed a home run.

Kanak's homer was the long blow as the Braves buried the Dodgers 11-4, and the Cardinals edged the Twins 7-6 with the deciding marker coming across in the fifth. Ken Balinski was the winning pitcher with Mike Brophy and Mike Needleman each contributing a pair of hits.

Don Spink was the winner as the Braves blanked the Angels 8-0 with the losers collecting only one hit. Gary Korte rapped a home run and triple, and Ed Becker collected two doubles.



Emmet Quill lost his shutout in the sixth inning but still pitched the Cubs to an 8-4 victory over the Cardinals. The young hurler, who also slammed two home runs, pitched five no-hit, no-run innings before yielding four markers in the sixth.

Two was the magic number for the Cubs Saturday as they scored a pair in five of the six frames and rocked the Giants 10-0. Gunnison, the winning pitcher allowed only three hits and fanned eight. Quill unleashed a tremendous home run in this one that still has Little League observers talking.

Two big innings paid off in a 10-1 victory for the Cardinals over the Pirates with Blasey besting Ron Dolejs. With the victory the Cards clinched second half honors.

With a mathematical chance to win the second half the Braves put on a stretch drive by whipping the Dodgers 11-4 behind the seven-hit pithing of Jim Kanak, the Angels 8-0 behind the one-hit pitching of Spink, and the Twins 7-6 behind the combined eight-hit effort of Dave Kallman and Gordie Vidt.

In the 7-6 victory the Braves put the game away with two markers in the sixth. Vidt picked up the victory. A triple by Korte with Spink aboard tied the game for the Braves in the sixth. Jim Kanak tallied the winning run.

The Dodgers had no trouble rolling over the Angels 11-1 with Anderson topping Creswell on the mound. Anderson also delivered a home run.

500-Lap Stock Car Classic Set For O'Hare Oval

Chicagoland's biggest and richest auto racing event of the year will be presented Saturday night, Aug. 3, at O'Hare Stadium, Mannheim and Irving Park Roads—Routes 45 and 19, just northwest of the Chicago city limits in Schiller Park.

The second anual O'Hare American 500-lapper for 1963 will be a grueling 125-mile test for which 1959-63 American full size convertible stock cars are eligible. The fastest 3 cars in qualifying runs are slated to start in the classic in 11 rows of three cars each with the fastest entries at the front.

All of O'Hare's top stars and a flock of nationally known speedsters are entered to do battle for what will be the biggest purse of the year in the Chicago area with additional awards and lap money on the line as well.

Three leading entrants will pilot Chevrolets. They are the winer of last year's first "500," Bill Lutz of Melrose Park, who amazed onlookers and experts by going the entire distance non-stop; runnerup and defending champion at O'Hare, Erik Johnson of Highland Park, and Gene Marmor of River Grove, the 1963 driving sensation at O'Hare with 14 main event victories to his credit to date. He will pilot a 1963 Chevrolet convert while Johnson and Lutz will be wheeling '62 versions.

Local interest will be focused on Rob Chauncey, 53 Forest Lane, Elk Grove, driving a '60 Chevrolet.

Tri-City Ladies

Event of the day in the Tri-City ladies golf league was Low Gross.

Winners in the 18-hole league were:

A flight—Evie Goodman (83); B flight—Lorraine Jensen (93); C flight—Bea Rubner (100); D flight—Barbara Mackim (106).

Winners in the nine-hole league were:

A flight—Betty Hammerl (50); B flight—Mary Tures (60); C flight—Lorraine Hitchon (63).

Dove Season Dates Set In Illinois

The 1963 dove season will begin at noon (CST) Sunday, Sept. 1, and end at sunset Nov. 9, the Illinois Department of Conservation has announced. Hunting hours are from noon (CST) until sunset every day of the season.

The daily bag and possession limits have been lowered for the 1963 season. The daily limit is 10 doves, a reduction of two from the 1962 bag limit, and the possession limit is 20, four less than the 1962 possession limit. On the first day of the season the daily limit and the possession limit are both 10.

Arlington Softball

Pioneer Increases Lead

Pioneer Park widened its lead by three full games in Arlington Park District Borsl softball last week as it dumped second place Hasbrook, 11-0.

Pioneer got off to a quick lead in the first inning as Herb Irlbacker doubled and Tom Scharf homered. In the third inning Hasbrook practically handed the ball game to Pioneer with five errors permitting five runs to score. The only hits of the inning were singles by Scott Richie and Jim Cronin as nine men came to the plate.

After scoring one run in fourth, Pioneer added two more in the fifth as Herb Irlbacher hit a two-run homer. Bill Fortin drove in the other run with a double to right field.

HASBROOK had two good opportunities to score, but could not get the base hit when it counted. In the third Hasbrook had the bases loaded with two out as Pat Olson, Mike Blasey and Eric Stein recorded successive singles. Then Pioneer pitcher Mickey Wadzita got the next three batters out and three men were stranded.

Hasbrook took over sole possession of second place by bouncing back and dumping Greens 8-4.

In the first inning pitcher Eric Stein put Hasbrook into a two-run lead by hitting a home run with Corky Kent on base.

IN THE third inning it appeared Hasbrook was going to make a repeat of the Pioneer game as its defense fell apart. After two were out Greens scored four runs on three hits, a walk, and three errors. Bill Morrisett's double was the big hit of the inning.

However, Hasbrook settled down and came back with six runs in the fifth inning to put the game away. Mike Blasey led off the inning with a single and Fred Wood, Doug Sanderson, John Michon, Ron Nelson and Pete Olson followed with hits. An error and two walks also helped Hasbrook's cause.

The win over Greens put Hasbrook in sole possession of second place as this was Greens' second loss. Greens lost earlier in the week to Virginia 10-8.

VIRGINIA finally found its batting eye and knocked out 14 hits. After being held scoreless in the first inning, Virginia scored in every inning after that, putting acros four runs in the fourth.

John Templin was the leading hitter for Virginia with three hits, two singles and a double.

Greens scored two runs in the fourth inning on four hits. Greens did not have a hit until this inning. Then in the sixth Jim Spellan led off the inning with a triple. Greens then proceeded to send 10 men to the plate and score six runs. Clark Sims drove in two runs with a double. Spellan drove in the final run with a single, his second hit of the inning. Jim had a perfect day at the plate with four hits.

Rich Namovicz was the winning pitcher for Virginia.

RECREATION Park continued on its winning ways by picking up two more victories. In the first game Recreation had little trouble disposing of the High School 12-1, banging out 21 hits.

Recreation scored one run in the first and third innings and then proceeded to explode for six runs in the fifth and four more in the sixth inning

Paul Berwanger started the inning with a single and Bill Rickerson reached first on an error. After Joe Basak and Dan Collins singled to drive in two runs, John Comford hit a three-run homer. Another run was scored on a single by Art Weidner.

IN THE sixth inning Collins hit a home run with Basak on bas and Weidner came up with his third hit of the day, a two-run triple with John Comford and Terry Drout on base.

The High School managed to get only five hits off Recreation pitcher Bill Rickerson. Three of these hits came in the second inning when it scored its only run. Bill Von Bauchman opened the inning with a hit and was followed with successive hits by John Tollefson and Bill Lumpp, but there was no more scoring.

In its second game Recreation was practically handed the victory by Virginia as eight errors were committed in the field. Recreation took full advantage of these miscues as it managed to get only eight hits off Virginia pitcher Rich Namovicz.

ART WEIDNER once again led Recreation hitters with a double and two-run homer. A four-run fifth inning put the game on ice for Recreation. Paul Berwanger reached first base on an error. After John Comfort singled, Dennis Smith tripled to drive in two runs. Smith scored on an error and one more run scored on a single by Bill Rickerson.

Virginia did not have a scoring threat as it got only three scattered hits and only one man reached second base.

This Thursday Recreation will play front-running Pioneer and they will be out to avenge the 11-9 loss they took in their last meeting.

IN THE final game the High School defeated Evergreen 5-2. This was the first victory for the High School after five straight losses.

John Vetter got the High School in the scoring column with a three-run homer in the second inning. Paul Tollefson drove in the other two runs with a double.

Evergreen got their two runs in the fourth inning on singles by Ken Bahnski and Mike Cooper and a double by Scott Pregent.

Tie Loop Leaders

After knocking off first place Hofbrau last week and sending them down to second place, the Pioneers once again gave the first place team, Arlington Lanes, a real battle in the Arlington Classic softball league and the game ended in an 11-11 tie.

Hofbrau remained in second place by getting back on the winning trail after two straight defeats, winning over Bob Scuba 11-8.

Chesney's Democrats defeated the Pure Oil Firebirds 11-5 and last place Arlington Gardens was handed their 10th loss by Sigwalts 9-6.

O'Neill, Matayas Head Randhurst Golf Outing

George O'Neill and Frank Matayas captured top honors last week during the Golf and Dinner Outing for Randhurst employees and their friends.

O'Neill posted an 81 for first place in low gross competition, and Matayas headed the low net totals with a nifty 66.

Other low scorers in the low net competition were John Novotny (67), Harold Tracy (73), Al Wick (75), Hank Brudder (81), and Duane Garrison (103).

In the low gross listing behind O'Neill were Ted Small (88), Dud Carmichael (96), Paul Dasso (97), and Henry Salby (99).

HIGH SCHOOL FIRST BASEMAN John Vetter (back to camer) and rightfielder John Raitt converge on a fly ball during a game with Evergreen Park last week in the Arlington Park District's Boys' Softball League. The ball was caught by an unidentified High School player. Vetter's three-run homer paced his club to a 5-2 win, ending a five-game losing streak for the High School squad. (Staff photo).

Friday Night League Boasts New Leader; Pro Sport in First

It has taken all season, but there is finally a new leader in the Friday night twilight golf league at the Mount Prospect Country Club.

The Pro Sport Shop five, led by Erwin Kokes, moved into first place by virtue of their 7.6 to 4.3 win over Dick Wood and his Doyno Motors quintet and with the help of Harold Lins and his Kruse'-men who handed the season-long leaders, Jim's Standard Service led by Dick Piehl, a solid 7 to 3 drubbing.

In the absence of their leader, Erwin Kokes, the remainder of the Pro Sport Shoppers rose to the occasion with Herman Falldin, Holmes McClendon and John Burck all contributing to the victory column with match and net points.

AND WITH only one more week left to qualify for the annual Inter-League Handicap tournament sponsored by the Paddock Publications, the Pro Sport Shop five holds a slim three point lead over Jim's Standard Service. A win next Friday night will assure them a berth in the Mount Prospect Country Club contingent at the Barrington Hillcrest Golf Club Aug. 18.

But while the Pro Sport Shoppers were seeking out their narrow win, on the other side of the golf course, it was the story of David and Goliath over again. And this time, too, the outcome was the same.

Captain Harold Lins led his last place Kruse five against Dick Piehl and the league-leading Jim's Standard Service. When the cards were turned in, the Davids had soundly trounced the Goliath's 7-3; moved out of the cellar into 11th place; dropped the leaders into second place; and helped establish a new leader.

IN THE KEY match of the evening, Kruse's Harold Lins caught Captain Dick Piehl looking the other way as he shot a fine 40 over Mount Prospect's back nine to hand the Jim's Standard Service No. 1 man one of his few defeats of the season.

And playing follow the leader, Fred Garlock beat Dick Stone and Fred Turner beat Walt Czeropski to contribute to the important league win. Only Joe Kubik could have face for the former leaders as he downed Elmer Blasco for the only Jim's Standard Service win.

The biggest jump in the standings came as Dudley Hartman and his Esquire Barbers neatly lathered, trimmed and clipped Ken Sophie and his Meeske's Super Marketeers 8.5 to 2.5. The win moved the Barbers from sixth to third in the standings with four more weeks remaining to make their move for the league lead.

THE MATCH between Dudley Hartman of the Barbers and Ken Sophie of Meeske's was not decided until the last shot on the last hole—the 155 yard 12th. After Ken Sophie had dropped his approach shot from the edge of the green for his birdie two and an apparent win, Dudley Hartman proceeded to knock in a 15-foot putt for his bird and a halved match, and a fine 38 for the Barber captain.

Aiding in the Esquire Barber move into third place was Carl Campbell, who contributed a win over Tom McShane that included a birdie three on the 268-yard 13th, while teammates Don Quigley and Walt Rutkowski also added victories to the Barber win column.

It was birdie night for the F.B.K. Realtors as Captain Warren Collier fired the best round of the night, a 37 over Mount Prospect's front nine which included a birdie 3 on the 328-yard third. Teammate Jordan Italia also added a bird on the 342-yard eighth.

AND IN the 7.8 to 4.1 win by the Mount Prospect State Bankers over the Arlington Camera Shop, it was Captain Jim Carter of the Bankers firing a fine 40 to beat Bill Harner of the Cameramen. Fellow Banker Bob Tesmer also contributed to the team victory with his birdie on the 328-yard par-4 third.

Completing the bird parade for the evening was Meeske's Len Bergquist who carded a four on the 485-yard par-5 15th.

Kruse's Lead Cut to Four Points in Tuesday League

Tuesday division leaders, Kruse's Tavern and Restaurant put together another victory last week as they subdued Kirchhoff Insurance, 6½-3½ in Mount Prospect Twilight league competition. However, the Schlitzers were discouraged to see their league lead shrink to four points as second-place Annen and Busse Realtors topped Illinois Range 8-2.

With only one night of play left before the Paddock Tournament deadline it seems to be narrowed down to a contest between Kruse's and the Realtors as to who will represent the Tuesday division. Odds favor the Schlitzers.

Keefer Pharmacy, tied with Annen and Busse two weeks ago, faltered for the second consecutive week, falling this time 4½-5½, to Mount Prospect Bowling Lanes, and seem to be somewhat out of the running for the Paddock.

PHIL'S PURE OIL had to be content with a 5-5 tie with Winkelman's Shell Service, but the Oilers held on to their fourth place position a scant point behind Keefer's.

Mount Prospect Electric Constr. Co. couldn't stand the prosperity of the previous week, dropping their match with Golden Isle Restaurant 2½-7½, but managed to maintain their fifth place position.

Best team performance of the night was put on by the erratic Licht Paint Store aggregation as they clobbered the strong Wille Lumber and Fuel team 9½-½. League president Pete Petersen of Wille's scored an eagle three on the par 5 fifteenth but couldn't perform consistently on the other eight holes and dropped his match.

Low shooter for the night was Glenn Adams who scored a one-over-par 36 on the front nine.

Birdies were reported by G. Adams number 9, Jilek number 11, and R. Becker number and 12.

Bob Holbert Cops Sports Car Lead

WESTPOINT, CONN., (UPI) — Bob Holbert, Warrington, Pa., continued in the lead for the first Sports Car Club of America U.S. Road Racing Circuit drivers championship today with a seven point margin over Don Webster of Monterey, Calif., and Tim Mayer, another Pennsylvanian.

Holbert finished fourth in a race at Kent, Wash., last weekend to pick up four points toward the 1963 title. Pedro Rodriguez of Mexico City was the winner.

The Shelby-American Cobra-Ford team took a huge lead in the manufacturers' championship with 19 points in a companion Kent race to run its total to 60, more than twice as many as the second-place Ferrari team. Chevrolet is third and Jaguar fourth. Cobras swept the first three places.

Doug Thiem of Milwaukee is fourth in the drivers' championship race with 14 points. Chuck Parsons, Monterey, Calif., is fifth with 13 points.

Cellar Unit Shows Signs Of Revival

The cellar dwellers are showing some signs of life in St. Raymond's golf play.

Mount Prospect Savings & Loan Association, currently settled in the basement of League No. 2, hammered Keefer's Pharmacy 11½-½ in last week's play.

With fiv nights of golf remaining and a possible 60 points to be won, the Savings & Loan gang (red-hot right now) could cause quite a stir in the league.

League No. 1 continues to be dominated by Phil Jeuck and his Illinois Range team. They now lead second second place Safford Stamps by five points and third place Strass Ladies Apparel by 0½ points.

Meeske's holds a five-point advantage in League No. 2 with Busse Automotive second and Moran Furs third. Big Jack Moran is leading a club that's also shown some signs of zeroing in on the top spot.

With one night of play remaining before the Paddock tourney deadline it looks like Illinois Range and Meeske's will represent St. Raymond's in the forthcoming attraction.

HOT SHOTS for the week: Becker (37), McAuliff, Moran (38); Minton (41); St. Denis (42); Louthain (43); Sommers, Moore, and Eder (44); Gager, Selbach, McNichols, and F. Giuntini (45).

Birdmen were McAuliff on 11 and 18, Becker on 12 and 15, Selbach on 12, Dempsey on 13, Moisan on 11, Broeren on 9, and McNichols on 6.

Borchardt's Threatens in Rob Roy Golf

Now just 12 points behind the leaders in the Rob Roy Tuesday league Borchardt's poses a threat for this year's division championship.

Leo Kazmierczak, No. 4 man on his team, has suddenly taken to shooting in the 30's. He has added another 39 to his string.

Along with Leo are Chuck Van Boxthele, Red Ackerman, and Hap Procunier.

THE LEADERS only need two points in two weeks to close the door on this gang as far as the Paddock tournament is concerned, but there are still six weeks left of league play.

C. P. Floor and Tile added two more points to the lead and now enjoys a 7½ point margin over the nearest rival. To clinch the Paddock berth they only need match the Golf Rand points this coming week.

Absenteeism has ruined the good chances of Golf Rand in the battle for the tourney position.

Absenteeism also played havoc with Rankin Radio & TV's chances to win. The third placers can ill afford these losses at this stage of the season. A win next week is a must if they are to stay in contention.

Plaza Liquors Vaults to Ninth In Hoffman Golf

Plaza Liquors captured low team net for the second time in three weeks with 185, won their fourth straight team victory and vaulted from the basement to a tie for ninth place with a 15-1 win over Snyders Drugs in the Hoffman men's golf league.

Scott MacEachron salvaged the only point for the druggists by halving his match with Jack Reedy, while losing the medal play.

Alternate Roger Leland, subbing for Plaza Shell Captain Roy Jenkins took individual low net with a 33 to help the Shellers nose out Roselle Ace Hardware 8-7.

ONE-SIDED scores were in the majority as Monroe Auto Equipment blasted Tony's Sinclair 13-3, Jupiter Cleaners cleaned up on Kiczula Insurance 12½-3½, Rainbow Inn took Roselle State Bank 10-6 and Schaumrose Inn downed Roselle Color Center 9-7.

Ray Larson shot the week's low gross 40 in a losing cause, bowing 0-3 to John Milke.

Point pacesetter Nick Chochron kept his individual lead alive with a 3 point sweep over Paul O'Dea and Harvey Goetsch took over second place by taking three from Earl Conrad.

Lady Golf Pro Set for Clinic At Rolling Green

Shirley Engelhorn, third leading money winner on the 1963 Women's Professional Golfers Association Tour, will conduct a clinic and golf exhibition at 3 p.m., Tuesday, at Rolling Green Country Club, Arlington Heights.

Miss Engelhorn will be assisted by Chuck Pedersen, Rolling Green professional, and a Class A PGA golfer himself. Following the exhibition, Miss Engelhorn will play a round of golf with Pedersen, Tom Coward, Rolling Greens president, and Jim Cox, club champion.

Record Climbs To Second in 59ers League

The Record climbed into second place in the Hoffman 59ers ladies golf league with an 11-3 victory over the Clothes Basket Tuesday.

Plaza Liquors continues to hold the top rung with a two-point bulge over The Record.

Winners of the "Mystery Event" competition were (1) Darlene Koertgen; (2) Joy Keesee; and (3) Polly Culpepper.

Hole-in-One

Bill Becker, a junior golfer at Prospect High, aced the 155-yard 12th hole at Mount Prospect Country Club recently. He used a four iron. The hole-in-one gave Bill a 75 for the round, his best ever. He normally shoots in the low 80's. Becker's partner was Jim Junkunc, a Forest View High student. Bill is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Becker, 1211 Woodford Place, Arlington Heights.

Old Orchard Ladies League

Event of the day in the Old Orchard ladies golf league was "Throw Out Three Worst Holes."

Winners were Dottie Geisler on the sporty nine, and Jan Haire on the first nine.

Arlington Twilight

Summers, Harris Share Low Gross

The Arlington Heights Twilight Golf League, after being rained out last week, was back at play at Golden Acres and the results were great for some players.

Ernie Summers and Len Harris Jr. shared low gross honors, both shooting 35's. It's been a long time since Ernie had a sub par round and he accomplished this as a Number 2 man.

Next week he will move up to Number 1 position since Ralph Panek had to settle for a 38. Bill Dobbelaere who plays Number 3 for the same team, Horcher Decorators, shot the best game of his golfing career — an even par, 36. Enough for Horcher — they are 13½ points out in front and will play in the Paddock Tournament.

Layoff Fails To Slow Down Golf Leaders

A week layoff didn't slow up the Prospect Plaza Bank golfers in the St. Emily's division.

The leaders now have increased their lead from 15 to an almost untouchable 21½ points and will represent the league in the Paddock Publications tournament on Sunday, Aug. 18.

The rest of the league remains close with only 11 points separating second place J & B Village Meat Market from seventh place Thunderbird Bowl.

ONLY FOUR birdies were were scored during the evening's play. Len Wood and Vince Shields birdied the par four No. 6 and Bob Boylan and young Mike Seleski canned their birds on No. 9 and No. 4.

Mike Seleski, Paul's son, had quite a night going into the ninth hole with a nifty 31. Mike ran into trouble but came in with a fine 39 to tie his opponent Bob Boylan for low gross.

Low net for the night was scored by unpredictable Ed Ryan who came up with a 28.

IT SHOULD be noted that Jay Weislo, who brought his son along as a lucky charm, needed something more to beat Lee Wood. Lee's bird three on No. 6 seemed to set the pace although Jay tried hard when he chipped in from a trip on No. 8 for his par four.

The league extends its thanks to the committee of his two-ball foursome event held at Rob Roy. Bob Horan, John Tofano, Vince Shields, Ed Ryan, and Frank Lombardo did a fine job making the day a pleasant one for the gals who are golf widows every Friday night.

Lortie Plumbing moved into second place in the St. Colette golf league by dumping first place Jim's Service 4-2.

Scherrer and Waldron took the wins while Ignarski and Kohnke tied their matches for Lortie.

Beverly Lanes got by Quadriga Mfg. Co. 3½-2½, as Engerman and Kunz took the wins for Beverly. Simonsen captured low net for Quadriga.

Clark Brass took five points by drubbing Quality Steel. Winning honors went to Bronke, Hickey, and Folks. Bronke and Folks also tied for low net laurels.

Bugiel's Bakery and F. J. Die Mold fought to a tie for the evening with Hampton and Smego taking the points for the Bakery. Swett and Medina collected F. J.'s markers.

Jarezyk's 45-12-33 was enough for the low net.

The standings:

Jim's Service	15½
Lortie Plumbing	14½
Quadriga	13
Bugiel's	12½
Beverly Lanes	12½
F. J. Die Mold	11½
Quality Steel	8½
Clark Brass	8

Quill Wins Low Net in Lutheran Golf Tournament

A pair of northwest area residents walked off with trophies in the fourth annual Chicagoland All-Lutheran Championship Golf Tournament recently.

Steve Quill, Mount Prospect, representing St. Mark Lutheran Church, won the first place handicap trophy with a net score of 67. Bob Moore of Elk Grove Village took third place in low gross with a 78.

The tournament was held at Nordic Hills Country Club in Itasca. A total of 94 golfers competed.

Hoffman Golf Loops Combine In Tournament

The Hoffman 59ers Ladies Golf League and the Hoffman Men's Golf League held a combined mixed two-ball foursome tournament on Sunday afternoon, July 28, at Golden Acres Country Club.

The first place winners were Florence Spiess and Jerry Emrick. Second place was won by the team of Sharon Koppari and Harvey Goetsch. Runners-up in third place were Doris Morrissey and Louis Giedl.

ORDINANCE NO. 302

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND THE PRESENT ZONING ORDINANCE OF ELK GROVE VILLAGE BY PROVIDING CERTAIN GENERAL REQUIREMENTS APPLICABLE TO ALL MANUFACTURING DISTRICTS.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED by the President and Board of Trustees of the Village of Elk Grove Village, Counties of Cook and DuPage, Illinois:

Section 1. That the Zoning Ordinance of Elk Grove Village is hereby amended by adding thereto the following:

"Article XII B.

A. GENERAL REQUIREMENTS APPLYING TO ALL MANUFACTURING DISTRICTS

1. No lot, parcel, or tract of land shall be used, and no building or structure shall be erected, altered or remodeled for any of the following uses: abattoirs; arsenals, crematories; creosote treatment or manufacture; fat rendering; fertilizer manufacture, fireworks or explosive manufacture or storage; dumping, reduction, or other processing of garbage, dead animals, offal or refuse, except as customarily incidental to a permitted principal use; ore reduction; petroleum processing or refining; pryoxylin manufacture; natural or synthetic rubber, caoutchouc, or gutta percha manufacture or treatment; salt works, sauerkraut manufacture; soap manufacture; smelters; stock yard or slaughter of animals or fowls; tallow, grease, or lard manufacture or treatment; tanning, curing, or storage of rawhides or skins; tar distillation or manufacture; or cement concrete or asphaltic concrete mixing plants. Paint plants — junk shop — junk yards or automobile wrecking yards.

2. No activities involving the storage, utilization or manufacturing of materials or products which decompose by detonation shall be permitted, except such as are specifically licensed by the Village of Elk Grove Village, or are used as customarily incidental to the operation of a principal use in such quantities, and in a manner conforming with applicable performance standards set forth hereafter under A-5 of this Section. Such materials shall include, but shall not be confined to; all primary explosives such as lead azide, lead styphnate, fulminates and tetracene; all high explosives such as TNT, RDX, HMX, PETN, and picric acid; propellants and components thereof such as nitrocellulose, black powder, boron hydrides, hydrazine and its derivatives; pyrotechnics and fireworks such as magnesium powder, potassium chlorate and potassium nitrate; blasting explosives such as dynamite and nitroglycerine; unstable organic compounds such as acetylide, tetrazoles, perchloric acid, perchlorates, chlorates, hydrogen peroxide in concentrations greater than 35 per cent; and nuclear fuel, fissionable materials and products and reactor elements such as Uranium 235 and Plutonium 239.

3. All activities involving the manufacturing, fabricating, assembly, disassembly, repairing, storing, cleaning, servicing, and testing of materials, products, and goods shall be within completely enclosed buildings.

4. Any use established in a Manufacturing District which involves the manufacturing, fabricating, assembly, disassembly, repairing, storing, cleaning, servicing, or testing of materials, goods, or products, shall be operated in such a manner as to comply with applicable performance standards as hereinafter set forth governing noise, smoke, particulate matter, toxic or noxious matter, odors, fire and explosive hazards, or vibration, or glare or heat for the district in which such use shall be located; and no use, already established on the effective date of this ordinance, shall be so altered or modified as to conflict with, or further conflict with such applicable performance standards for the district in which such use is located.

a. Performance Standards — Noise.

Sound levels shall be measured with a sound level meter and associated octave band filter manufactured, according to standards prescribed by the American Standards Association. Measurements shall be made using the flat network of the sound level meter. Impulsive type noises shall be subject to the performance standards hereinafter prescribed, provided that such noises shall be capable of being accurately measured with such equipment. Noises capable of being so measured, for the purpose of this ordinance, shall be those noises which cause rapid fluctuations of the needle of the sound level meter, with a variation of no more than plus or minus two decibels. Noises incapable of being so measured, such as those of an irregular and intermittent nature, shall be controlled so as not to become a nuisance to adjacent uses.

At no point on the boundary of a Residence or Business District shall the sound intensity level of any individual operation or plant (other than the operation of motor vehicles or other transportation facilities) exceed the decibel levels in the designated octave bands shown in the following table:

OCTAVE BAND (Frequency, cycles per second)	MAXIMUM PERMITTED SOUND LEVEL (decibels) Along Residence District Boundaries	Along Business District Boundaries
75 to 150	67	70
150 to 300	59	63
300 to 600	52	57
600 to 1,200	46	52
1,200 to 2,400	40	45
2,400 to 4,800	34	40
above 4,800	32	38

b. Performance Standards—Smoke and Particulate Matter.

The emission of smoke or particulate matter in such manner or quantity as to endanger or to be detrimental to the public health, safety, comfort, or welfare, is hereby declared to be a public nuisance, and shall henceforth be unlawful.

For the purpose of grading the density of smoke, the Ringelmann Chart, published and used by the United States Bureau of Mines, shall be employed. The emission of smoke or particulate matter of a density greater than No. 2 on the Ringelmann Chart is prohibited at all times, except as otherwise provided hereinafter.

The emission, from all sources within any lot area, of particulate matter containing more than ten per cent by weight of particles having a particle diameter larger than 44 microns is prohibited.

Dust and other types of air pollution, borne by the wind from such sources as storage area, yards, roads, and the like, within lot boundaries, shall be kept to a minimum by appropriate landscaping, paving, oiling, fencing, or acceptable means. Emission of particulate matter from such sources in excess of the weight limitation herein specified is prohibited.

Smoke

The emission of more than eight smoke units per hour per stack is prohibited, including smoke of a density in excess of Ringelmann No. 2. However, during one one-hour period in each 24-hour day, each stack may emit up to 16 smoke units when blowing soot or cleaning fires. Only during fire-cleaning periods, however, shall smoke of Ringelmann No. 3 be permitted, and then for not more than three minutes.

c. Performance Standards — Toxic or Noxious Matter.

No use shall, for any period of time, discharge across the boundaries of the lot wherein it is located toxic or noxious matter in such concentrations as to be detrimental to, or endanger the public health, safety, comfort, or welfare, or cause injury or damage to property or business.

d. Performance Standards — Odors

The emission of odorous matter in such quantity as to be readily detectable at any point along lot lines, or as to produce a public nuisance or hazard beyond lot lines is prohibited.

e. Performance Standards — Fire and Explosion Hazard

1. The storage, utilization, or manufacture of materials or products ranging from incombustible to moderate burning —as determined for liquids by a closed cup flash point of not less than 187 degrees F—is permitted subject to compliance with all other performance standards for the M District.

2. The storage, utilization, or manufacture of materials or products ranging from free or active burning to intense burning—as determined for liquids by a closed cup flash point of less than 187 degrees F but not less than 105 degrees F—is permitted, subject to compliance with all other performance standards for the M District, and provided the following conditions are met:

   a. Said materials or products shall be stored, utilized, or produced within completely enclosed buildings or structures having incombustible exterior walls.

   b. All such buildings or structures shall be set back at least 40 feet from lot lines, or, in lieu thereof, all such buildings or structures shall be protected throughout by an automatic sprinkler system complying with installation standards prescribed by the National Fire Protection Association or Factory Insurance Association; or if the materials, goods, or products are liquids, the protection thereof shall be in conformity with standards prescribed by the National Fire Protection Association or Factory Insurance Association.

3. The utilization in manufacturing processes of materials which produce flammable or explosive vapors or gasses —as determined for liquids by a closed cup flash point of less than 105 degrees F—shall be permitted in this District provided:

   a. That the final manufactured product does not itself have a closed cup flash point of less than 187 degrees F.

   b. That the use and storage of such materials shall be in conformity with standards prescribed by the National Fire Protection Association, and the requirements of other ordinances of the Village of Elk Grove Village.

   c. That the storage of more than 50,000 gallons of materials or products having a closed cup flash point of less than 105 degrees F (exclusive of storage of finished products in original sealed containers) is prohibited.

   d. That the storage of more than 100,000 gallons of materials or products having a closed cup flash point of less than 187 degrees F (exclusive of storage of finished products in original sealed containers) is prohibited.

6. Screening

Wherever such District immediately adjoins a residentially zoned area, screen planting in the form of trees, shrubs, hedges, or similar planting shall be installed and maintained by the owners or occupants of the industrial property.

7. All industrial buildings shall conform compatibly architecturally in design to surrounding areas, when located in same proximity to residence areas.

Section 2. That this amendment to the Zoning Ordinance of Elk Grove Village shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage, approval and publication as provided for by law.

PASSED and APPROVED this 25th day of July, 1963.

Please take notice that on the 20th day of August, 1963 the Zoning Board of Appeals of the Village of Elk Grove Village sitting as a Zoning Commission at the hour of 8:30 P.M. at the Village Hall shall conduct a public hearing for the purpose of considering an amendment to the text of the Zoning Ordinance of the Village of Elk Grove Village, at which time and place all persons interested are invited to attend. Said amendment being set forth in the tentative ordinance noted below:

TENTATIVE ZONING ORDINANCE, VILLAGE OF ELK GROVE VILLAGE

(an ordinance to amend the present zoning Ordinance of Elk Grove Village relating to Parking Regulations)

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED by the President and Board of Trustees of the Village of Elk Grove Village, Counties of Cook and DuPage, Illinois:

Section 1. That Section 3 of Article X of the Elk Grove Village Zoning Ordinance be amended to read as follows:

"Section 3. Parking regulations. Whenever a structure is erected or reconstructed for any purpose permitted in this district, four square feet of parking area shall be required for each one square foot of floor area in the building. Said parking area shall be provided on the same lot or parcel of land as the building for which the parking area is required. Floor Area for purposes of this section is the sum of the gross horizontal area of the several floors of a building measured from the exterior walls, and shall not include garage and basement areas.

Surfacing: All open off-street parking areas shall be improved with a compacted macadam base, or equal, not less than eight inches thick, surfaced with asphaltic concrete or comparable hard-surfaced all-weather dustless material, not less than two inches thick, as approved by the Village of Elk Grove Village.

Screening and Landscaping; All open automobile parking areas containing more than four parking spaces shall be effectively screened on each side adjoining or abutting on any residential or institutional property by a solid wall or solid fence not less than six feet high or more than seven feet high erected in accordance with requirements of the Building Inspector, or a densely - planted, compact hedge not less than five feet in height.

Lighting: Illumination of an off-street parking area shall be arranged so as not to reflect light in excess of one foot candle at a point 10'-0" into adjacent residential districts. All lighting shall be extinguished no later than 30 minutes after the close of business of the use being served, except for "night light" or protective security lighting.

Each car stall shall be no less than 9'-0" by 20'-0". Each car stall shall be delineated and concrete or steel bumpers shall be provided where necessary for protection of building walls and fences. Where parking stalls face each other the cars shall be separated by a removable guide, such as rope, chain, etc. Aisles between rows of cars shall be no less than 15'-0" for 45 degrees diagonal parking or 24'-0" for perpendicular parking.

Nuclear Test Ban Treaty Supported

14 of 30 For; 11 Don't Know

by TOM EDWARDS
Staff Writer

A treaty to ban nuclear bomb tests above ground or under water has been agreed upon tentatively by the United States, Russia and Great Britain.

In a speech to the nation Friday, President Kennedy called the proposed treaty "an important first step . . . toward peace . . . toward reason . . . away from war."

He quoted a Chinese proverb, "A journey of a thousand miles must begin with a single step," and said "let us take the first step."

THE PRESIDENT pointed out that the nation has been on the brink of war three times in the 2½ years of his administration—in Laos, Berlin and Cuba. He warned of dangers of a continued spread of nuclear weapons, the increased chance of accidental war and contamination of the earth with radioactive fallout from testing—of a "collision course toward war" via a "spiraling arms race."

A two-thirds vote of the Senate is necessary to ratify the treaty (the House of Representatives does not vote).

There will be a "debate in the country" on the treaty, Kennedy said, as there "should be."

"This debate will involve military, scientific, and political experts, but it must not be left to them alone," he continued. "The right and responsibility (of decision) are yours (the citizens)."

"It is my hope that all of you will take part in that debate, for this treaty is for all of us. It is particularly for our children and our grandchildren—and they have no lobby here in Washington."

A public opinion survey was conducted by Paddock Publications. Saturday afternoon this reporter interviewed about 30 people in the mall of Randhurst Shopping Center in Mount Prospect, and Monday seven local village presidents by phone, plus one civil defense director.

THREE QUESTIONS were asked: (1) Are you opposed or in favor of the treaty and why? (2) Do you plan to express your opinion to your senator or the President? (3) If Russia tests again, should the United States?

Only three of the 30 interviewed at Randhurst said they were opposed to a treaty. (One of those wasn't even aware there was one proposed, but said he would be against it, anyway.)

Fourteen were for it, two were classified as undecided—and 11 declined to comment, most on the basis they didn't know anything about it.

Of the 14 for, three qualified somewhat.

On the second question, practically all said they did not intend to express any opinion to their elected representatives. Two, however, said they might.

Thirdly, if Russia tests, 10 said unqualifiedly that the United States should, too. Three qualifiedly said the United States should follow suit, and two indicated we shouldn't.

(On the second and third questions, 11 declined to comment, and four confined themselves to one general statement on questions one and three.)

In a national survey published July 8 by Louis Harris of the Washington Post, 73 per cent of Americans favored a test ban agreement. Of that number, 47 per cent gave an unqualified approval, and 26 per cent a qualified approval.

Here's what people said in the local survey:

ROBERT HANSEN, 2102 Campbell, Rolling Meadows—Although he said he hadn't studied the proposed treaty, he said he felt nuclear weapons should be banned in all countries. "I feel it (the nuclear bomb) should never have been invented in the first place."

People are only human, he continued, and as such cannot be trusted entirely with such weapons. If Russia tests again, the United States should do so only with "good reason."

A CHICAGO MAN who declined to give his name—In favor. "I feel we've got to have something . . . some policy" to help assure there won't be a "nuclear war." But if Russia tests, the United States should.

RICHARD PETERSON, 619 Russell, Mount Prospect—It "definitely, absolutely" should be ratified. "I think it is an excellent start toward peace throughout the whole world."

He indicated he was doubtful of Russia living up to it. However, if the nations of the world combine behind such a treaty, Russia could be pressured into living up to it.

WOMAN from Park Ridge—Hoped the treaty would be passed. "Then maybe we would have peace someday." United States should test if Russia does.

ANOTHER WOMAN brushed by with no comment.

A WOMAN from Villa Park said she had "no opinion right now."

STANLEY RUSSELL, 105 Park, Prospect Heights—"Generally, it sounds like a pretty good treaty," but it still allows underground testing. If Russia begins testing again, United States should: "We need all the information . . . that can be obtained for our defense."

MRS. MARION KUHL, 200 W. Dundee, Palatine—In favor. "I don't believe in all those tests . . . I think they should stop." Yes on reciprocal testing.

MAN from Mexico—Said he was not aware of the treaty, but would be against it.

KENNETH R. FLETCHER, 1408 Dogwood, Mount Prospect—"In favor, absolutely. If we can come to an agreement—if we can trust everyone—if we can live together happily without this friction . . . If they let go, it will be the end of the universe . . . This thing (cold war) has gone too far . . . We have enough problems in our own country (such as) racial problems."

If Russia starts testing again? "It would be terrible . . . It's a real shame we can't live in peace and quiet."

YOUNG ADULT COUPLE eating popcorn—Declined to comment.

MANAGER of a Randhurst store—Said he had "no opinion." "I have the store over there. I don't know if I am a good one to go by."

MR. AND MRS. J. O'BRIEN, 100 N. Shadow, Mundelein—Both indicated they were quite in favor of it. Why? "I could go on and on," he said. He mentioned "air pollution" from radioactive fallout, deformed babies. If Russia tests, "We have to," she said.

WOMAN from Des Plaines—"I don't know anything about it."

MRS. LAVERNE BORRE, Round Lake—In favor, but "I think there should be some kind of limitation put on it." United States should test if Russia does.

N. T. STUTTENBERGER, 120 Lee, Prospect Heights—Against. "I don't trust them (the Russians). Treaties to them are nothing but paper to throw away."

The United States should continue testing: "I was a pilot in the Air Force. I know what it means."

WHEELING WOMAN—"Naturally everybody is for it. Who likes war?"

MRS. CAROL KOBAT, 1120 Forest, Arlington Heights—In favor. Yet, "It is something that has to be debated and thought about . . . If it is just going to be a farce, there isn't much point in it."

And if Russia begins testing again? "Good question. I suppose we would have to, too."

MAN FROM MINNESOTA—"I have no feelings one way or the other."

JOHN CROTCHETT, 8651 Gregory Lane, Des Plaines—Said he couldn't give a definite answer "right now." He indicated distrust of Russia's intentions. "Definitely" the United should test if Russia does. Russia does.

MAN from Mundelein—Declined to comment.

JAMES CLARK, 277 Howard, Elmhurst—Against. "They are silly for trying to make any agreement with Russia . . . Can't trust Russia." If Russia begins testing again, the United States should "if the scientists think we need to."

MRS. JAMES NEEDHAM, 3702 Kingfisher, Rolling Meadows—In favor. "I think something should be done . . . it is a step forward. If there isn't a halt, there will be a war—or there may be nobody to start a war. We'll all be dead from tests." If Russia tests, "I imagine we would have to."

PAT CAVALLARI, 1658 Willow Road, Northfield—In favor. "I think it (the treaty) is pretty good," he said. It will help "avoid war," and bring "harmony." But if Russia tests, the United States should.

MRS. ROBERT KRAMER, Des Plaines—"I don't know enough about it," but "I don't believe that they could come to an greement suitable to both countries."

MAN from Peoria—"I'm really not concerned about it."

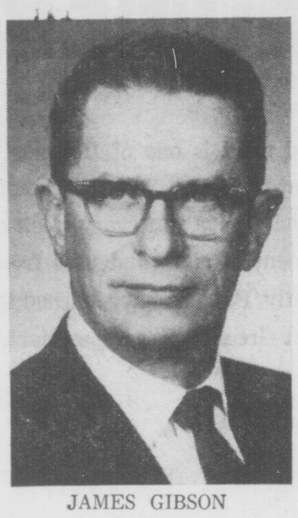
LADY from Holland, Mich.—"I haven't really thought about it."

MRS. HELEN KRAKOWIAK, 404 Dorset, Prospect Heights—The treaty is a "good thing . . . better than nothing." United States should test if Russia does. (A-14

Village Presidents Favor Treaty

JOHN G. WOODS

C. O. SCHLAVER



JAMES GIBSON

JOHN J. WOODS

A. R. McINTYRE

Seven area village presidents were interviewed Monday as a special aspect in the Paddock Publications public opinion poll on the nuclear test ban agreement being debated by the U.S. Senate now. (Others couldn't be reached by phone Monday evening.)

Five favored it, three with qualifications. One opposed it, and one said he would have to think about the question before answering.

Here's what they and one civil defense director said:

JOHN G. WOODS, Arlington Heights president—"I am inclined toward favoring it," but "it should be gone into very carefully and thoroughly" to eliminate any possible loopholes. It would be a "serious mistake if it would leave any split among the allies."

Yet, "I can't see the argument" that it would hinder development of an anti-missile missile. He expressed hope that all nations, especially France and China, could be brought into such an agreement.

Woods said he doesn't plan to voice his opinion to his senators or the President. "I am sure" that they have the facts. If Russia tests again, the United States should "only if we really need to" and for a "limited, specific purpose."

C. O. SCHLAVER, Mount Prospect—"I haven't studied" the proposal, "but I'm certainly in favor of any progress" that will help prevent a nuclear war if it doesn't give any advantage to the Russians.

He said he may contact his senators "after I formulate my opinion," but "Congress is a better judge." If Russia tests again, so should the United States, he said.

JAMES GIBSON, Elk Grove—"I don't think it is a meaningful ban. I think we're giving more than we are receiving." He said it appears the United States is giving up a type of atom bomb test it needs (atmospheric), whereas the type that would continue to be permissible would be underground tests, in which we evidently lead the Russians.

ROBERT BUERGER, Wheeling civil defense director—"Definitely" for it. Nuclear research should be turned into beneficial channels. United States should test if Russia does.

WILLIAM Farrington, Buffalo Grove—Although he said he didn't know too much about the actual treaty, "I am wholeheartedly in favor of a ban . . . I think the treaty is the first step . . . you must have a beginning." He expresed concern about radioactive fallout and said he felt the United States could work around any temporary disadvantage the treaty might bring.

Farrington said the United States should "not necessarily" begin testing again if Russia does. "All you are doing is retaliating" and further contaminating the world, he said.

JOHN J. WOODS, Rolling Meadows—In favor. "It is certainly better to draw the peace treaty before the war rather than after," he said. "It is something we all have hoped for. All have a dread of atomic war.

But if Russia tests, "I think that for self preservation we would have to." Woods said he isn't going to voice an opinion to his senators. "They are well equipped to look to our interests at that level of government."

A. R. McINTYRE, Wheeling—"I'll have to give it (the question) some thought."

ROBERT ATCHER, Schaumburg—"I am in favor of a treaty if it can apply to all nations," but "I don't know enough details" to give a statement on the treaty as proposed.

Should the United States test if Russia does? "There is, I believe, a saturation point on radioactive fallout," Atcher said. (A14

Tryouts for Guild Play Set 2 Days

Tryouts for "Critic's Choice," the Des Plaines Theatre Guild's first production of the 1963-64 season, will be held Monday and Tuesday evenings, Aug. 5 and 6, at 8 p.m. in the new Guild Playhouse at 620 Lee St. in Des Plaines.

Anyone interested, whether Guild member or not, is invited to try out.

Director is Don Baylor, who is well known to Des Plaines Theatre Guild audiences as both actor and director.

HE DIRECTED the '62-'63 season production of "Separate Tables," and his most recent appearance on stage for the Guild was in the role of Atroculous in last season's "Penelope."

"Critic's Choice" is a comedy by Ira Levin, author of the popular "No Time for Sergeants." The plot revolves around a critic's wife who writes a play which her critic-husband thinks is dreadful. He is determined to review it, however, and pull no punches. Divorce almost results. (BILL

THIS GREEN ST. SUPER MART FOOD AD BROUGHT 1900 REPLIES FROM BENSENVILLE HOMEMAKERS

This page food ad featuring a coupon deal offering Stebbenville Dinnerware at big savings was run in the Bensenville Register June 13, 1963. The response was overwhelming. More than 1900 coupons were returned that week with record sales for the Green Street Super Mart as well.

This food mart is one of the most progressive in the Paddock newspaper territory. Timely promotions with lots of price appeal to housewives are run every week of the year in page ads. The management is alert and uses fresh, dynamic marketing ideas consistently. Patrons have learned that dollars can be made to go farther at Green Street Super Mart.

Although the success of the Green Street Super Mart ad in the above account is extraordinary, such accounts are not unusual. The pulling power of the 14 Paddock Publications is well known.

Their editorial content and its presentation attracts a wide suburban readership and holds its interest week in and week out. The Paddock circulation is not tossed on a doorstep or on the lawn.

It is honest circulation, paid in advance, and is verified by one of the leading auditing firms in the country, ABC. Readers can get any of the 14 Paddock newspapers through their Newspaper Home Delivery service or at any newsstand, and also by subscription.

The advertiser doesn't gamble when buying space in a Paddock newspaper. He knows exactly what he's getting, and the price is geared to the area he wants to reach.

You cannot measure the results of your advertising unless you measure the qualifications of the medium in which you run your promotion. On this basis there is really no guesswork; it's a matter of ordinary horse sense.

Study Shows Younger Folks in Townhouses

What kind of people are buying townhouses?

Fifty-two per cent are families who have been in the neighborhood from 10-15 years and are selling their single family dwellings.

Thirty per cent are young families with two or more children and the remaining 18 per cent is composed principally of young and middle-aged childless couples.

FOLLOWING a record year in construction of townhouses, Dunbar Builders Corp. polled townhouse buyers to find out what kind of people were buying townhouses and why. The poll was taken at Dunbar's two newest developments, Cumberland Green in Park Ridge and Mount Prospect.

"Both pools were taken independently, but the results run parallel," said Herbert M. Rosenthal, president of Dunbar. "The only significant difference was in the median ages of the buyers—29 in Park Ridge and 33 in Mount Prospect."

Home ownership without the "slavery" of too much house and yard was the principal reason established families were selling their single family homes and moving to townhouses.

YOUNG families with two or more children decided on townhouses for more privacy, spaciousness and to have a solid housing investment.

"The young marrieds felt they could afford a townhouse, where they couldn't afford a single family dwelling," said Rosenthal. "They based this judgment on the fact they expected to pay upwards of $30,000 for a free standing home, plus landscaping and heavy maintenance costs at the beginning."

Middle-aged childless couples and retired folks selected a Dunbar townhouse because it gives them all the room they need and is centrally located in an established neighborhood, close to shopping and recreation.

THE AVERAGE Dunbar home buyer is 29 years old, married, and has 1.4 children. He makes between $8-10,000 a year, has 1.2 cars, and has an average of two years of college. Approximately 47 per cent are "white collar" workers, 17 per cent professional men, and 36 per cent "blue collar" workers.

The average family reads one daily newspaper every day, a weekly news magazine each week and three monthly general interest magazines. They spend an average of 3½ hours a day watching TV, entertain five nights a month and go out 1.1 nights a week. (BB

So Don't Worry

There are between 250 and 300 species of sharks, but only about 10 per cent are known to be man - killers.

Use the Telephone

Time, Temperature Reports Ready at Randhurst Number

Local calling for immediate, accurate "time and temperature" reports starts today, Thursday, for telephone customers in the northwest suburban area, announced a spokesman for the Randhurst Shopping Center.

Callers will hear recordings giving the current temperature within one degree and the time in hours and minutes by simply dialing a special Mount Prospect telephone number, 392-7000.

Arranged for by major firms of the Randhurst Shopping Center, Mount Prospect, it is the first such installation in the northwest suburban area, said Illinois Bell Manager G. W. Kaucher.

CUSTOMERS calling the new number will hear a short message from one of the sponsoring firms, then the time and temperature. The recordings play once on each customer call.

The equipment for this service is made by Audichron Corp., which also supplies the federal government's Bureau of Standards in Washington, D. C. with their time synchronization equipment, Kaucher said.

A computer-like device records the temperature taken by a special thermometer. The machine then selects and plays the proper recorded temperature reading at the instant a customer call is received.

TWO OTHER recording drums are automatically brought into play on each call, one announcing the time, the other a message from Randhurst.

The entire sequence requires about 10 seconds. There are 20 incoming telephone lines to the recording equipment, allowing it to answer up to 120 calls a minute or 7,200 calls per hour.

Although some 10,000 calls a day are now expected, as many lines can be added as future demand requires, Kaucher said, making the capacity of the time-temperature machine virtually unlimited. Routine maintenance and line additions will be cared for by Illinois Bell technicians.

A DISPLAY in the Randhurst Bank features a special telephone with a direct-line hookup to the time and temperature machine.

Without dialing the number, customers simply pick up the phone and listen, according to Ray Johnston, bank president and liaison man between Randhurst and the telephone company on the project. (BB

Economist: Tax Cut Needed for Economy

Tax cuts are necessary to stabilize the nation's economy late this year and to prevent a recesion in 1964, warns V. Lewis Bassie, University of Illinois economist.

He supports the view of the Kennedy Administration that a tax reduction is needed to push us ahead toward full employment and believes it also may be inexpensive insurance against economic disaster.

THE DANGER of a new recession arises from the fact that several important factors are now over-extended and therefore are headed for a downturn.

"For the first time in the postwar period, all the cyclical factors—autos, housing, inventories and capital outlays, aided and abetted by credit expansion—are working together," Bassie reports. For this reason, a new recession, with all cyclical factors turning down in concert, might prove to be economically unmanageable, despite tax cuts planned by the administration.

There are some favorable factors, he points out, that might preserve the upward economic trend. Further increases are expected in business outlays for plant and equipment, government spending, and the growing use of credit by consumers who have benefited by strong income advances since 1961.

NEVERTHELESS, even with the support of these favorable factors, an econimic slowdown must be expected, Bassie states.

"Many optimists now feel that a tax cut is unncessary despite continuing high unemployment, and some add that we should tighten up on credit and raise interest rates instead."

Much of this optimism, he holds, is based on arithmetical extensions of temporary spurts in business and is therefore unrealistic. The potent negative forces in the economy can result in a leveling off, if not an actual downward adjustment.

"EFFECT of negative influences will not necessarily be overriding, but they are certainly important enough to change the character of the upswing experienced so far in 1963," Bassie writes.

His report is a feature of the current issue of Illinois Business Review, publication of the University of Illinois Bureau of Economic and Business Research.

HINTS TO HOMEOWNERS

by James Fizzell, Associate Farm Advisor

ALERT HOMEOWNERS DIAL DAILY 392-3060

These last few days of July and the first part of August are important ones for pansy fanciers.

For plants to bloom early in the Spring, sow pansy seed the latter part of July in this area.

If healthy pansy plants are set out early in the Fall, they will bloom later before Winter. They'll even bloom during the winter if there is an extended thaw.

IT TAKES about four weeks from the time seed is sown in hot weather to grow seedlings with six to eight leaves. This is a good size for transplanting into the garden or cold frame. To come through the Winter well, pansies require another four weeks to become established and reach blooming size before cold weather starts.

Plant pansy seed in a mixture of one part loam, one part sand and one part peat moss. Place the seeds thinly and evenly in rows about two inches apart. Cover them lightly with soil. Keep the seedbed moist but not wet, and near 58 degrees F. during the five-to-seven day germination period.

Many gardeners prefer to buy pansy plants in the Fall at transplanting time. The better strains are grown by nurserymen and florists in this area.

When pansy plants are ready to set out, lift the seedlings carefully, and reset them at the same level as in the seedbed. Usually the plants are spaced about 6 to 10 inches apart in the garden.

AFTER THE ground freezes, apply a mulch of peat moss or straw to prevent temperature fluctuations. Hard freezing does not usually harm pansies, but alternate freezing and thawing does harm by lifting the plants out of the unprotected soil.

Colorful pansies belong to the hardy perennial group of garden flowers. They are known as cool-weather plants because they display their largest, most colorful flowers in a temperature range of 40 degrees F. at night and 50 to 60 degrees F. during the day. (BB

Ford's Inventions, Ideas Changed Society, Economy

Henry Ford got off to a rather inauspicious start, but before he was through he had done much to change the face of America from an agrarian to an urban society and had revolutionized the economics of civilized countries.

Born 100 years ago July 30, young Henry was a rebel. He went to the Springwells, Mich. school and led other boys away from their books to watch him build water wheels and steam turbines. He learned little in school except epigrams quoted in McGuffey's Readers.

BUT FROM the beginning he was a master of mechanical logic. He could understand the interdependence of a machine's parts, follow a line of reasoning through gears, ratchets, spurs, cams and levers.

Henry left the farm at 16 and hired on as an apprentice in a machine shop that made steam engines. then chucked it all to follow an improbable dream.

In the 1890's he began tinkering with the tiny vehicle that would be driven by a two-cylinder four-cycle engine.

By the spring of 1896, his first car was finished—and it worked.

By 1888 he had organized the Detroit Automobile Co. and was appointed chief engineer. The company was forced into bankruptcy a year and a half later because some of the stockholders refused to invest as heavily as the realities of the situation demanded.

SUBSEQUENTLY, he built other cars and began to win races with them. As a winner, he began to attract attention and backing. In June of 1903, he had gathered 11 backers, and with $28,000 in cash, they founded what was to become the Ford Motor Co.

Henry Ford had a dream that if a rugged, simple car could be made in sufficient quantity, it would be cheap enough for the average family to buy. On Oct. 1, 1908, he was ready with that car. He introduced the Model T, the famous old Tin Lizzie that gets credit for putting the world on wheels.

PRODUCTION began two years later in 1910 at the company's new plant in Highland Park, Mich. The first branch assembly facility in the industry was opened in Kansas City, Mo., in 1911, followed in 1914 by the Chicago assembly operations.

As simple as the Model T was, there remained the problem of volume production. To boost production Ford and his associates began subdividing jobs, bringing parts to workers, scheduling parts to arrive at the right spot at the right time in the production process.

Finally, they devised the moving assembly line which, with later refinements, pointed the way to mass production.

And with increased production, the price came down and pay of workers went up.

Ford startled the world on January 5, 1914, by announcing that Ford Motor Company's minimum wage would be $5 a day — more than double the minimum rate in his factory. He reasoned that since he now could build cheap cars in volume, he could sell more of them if his employes made enough to afford them.

THE YEAR 1925 saw the completion of the first of 196 Ford Tri - Motors, a triple engined airplane that carried the first commercial airmail in this country and the plane used by the first commercial airlines.

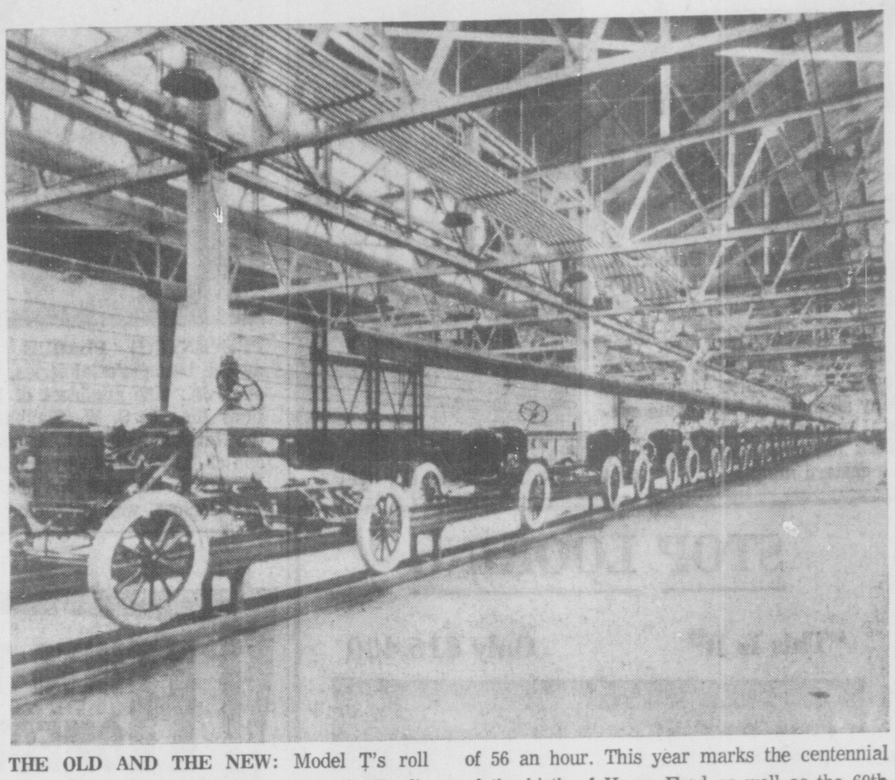
War brought aircraft production into Henry Ford's life again 18 years later. During World War II, Ford planned the Willow Run plant which produced 8,685 four-engine B-24 "Liberator" bombers at a maximum rate of one per hour on an assembly line that was the forerunner to today's modern aircraft manufacturing plants.

Other Ford plants pumped almost 60,000 aircraft engines and over a quarter of a million jeeps, tanks, tank destroyers and other pieces of equipment into the war effort.

During the last two years of his life, until his death April 7, 1947, Henry Ford relaxed with his wife from the labors of a lifetime and watched his assembly lines produce the last of the bombers and tanks and the first of the postwar cars and trucks.

The $5-a-day wage and Ford's philosophy behind it were pervasive influence in establishing the independence and dignity of the American working man.

His moving assembly line pointed the way to mass production in every kind of industry, making possible a new way of life with higher standards of living in every civilized country in the world. (BB



THE OLD AND THE NEW: Model T's roll along assembly line in 1920, above, in Ford's first Chicago plant. Today, below, Fords are coming off assembly lines in Chicago at the rate of 56 an hour. This year marks the centennial of the birth of Henry Ford as well as the 60th anniversary of Ford Motor Co. and the 50th anniversary of the moving assembly line. (BB

Arlington Men At Institute

JOSEPH H. ASKREN

KENNETH E. JOHNSON

Two Arlington Heights men will be among 36 senior business executives from 15 states, Peru and Belgium participating in the 28th session of the Institute for Management at Northwestern University this month.

They are Joseph H. Askren of 319 N. Kaspar Ave., regional general manager, marketing division, Pure Oil Co., and Kenneth E. Johnson of 906 E. Fairview St., general credit manager, U.S. Gypsum Co.

The executive development program is conducted by Northwestern's School of Business.

"THIS FOUR-WEEK program is designed to stretch the minds of policy-level executives and to help these specialists become generalists," said John E. Peterson, institute director.

At the institute, founded in 1951, the men consider a variety of business and social problems, actually faced by other executives, from the standpoint of the chief executive. Then they recommend appropriate corporate policy and social action. (BB

Concert At Park

Another in the weekly series of Palatine Northwest Community Band concerts will be given Friday evening at Palatine Community Park.

The concerts, offered every Friday at 8, will continue through August.

"Public support has been most gratifying," indicated president Paul P. Siegert. "Our audience has been growing each week and seems quite enthusiastic."

THE BAND performs a full range of music from marches and dixieland favorites to Broadway hits and classical selections. Different material is programmed each week.

Beginning Aug. 9, while regular conductor Fred Elliot is vacationing, guest conductor R. J. Chiorgno, Barrington High School band director, will take over.

Breathing Story

A whale cannot breathe under water. When it submerges, little valves close the blowholes through which it inhales air above water.

The weekly Palatine open-air concerts are open to the public at no admission charge. (Bill

'Guys and Dolls' Set For New Polar Dome

"Guys and Dolls," the Broadway musical about Broadway and the zany characters who haunt New York's show business main stem, comes to the Polar Dome at Santa's Village in Dundee, Ill., this coming Monday for seven performances.

There will be a show Monday through Friday at 8:30 p.m. and two on Saturday, Aug. 10, at 6:30 p.m. and 9:30 p.m.

This will be a full-scale professional production starring Peter Palmer, who gained his fame in New York as the title lead in "Li'l Abner." He was also star of the motion picture.

CATHY EMMA, featured on the musical comedy stage, the concert hall, and in many top musicals, is featured as the Salvation Army love interest "Sarah Brown."

Other well-known musical comedy actors in the cast include Ed Albrecht as "Nathan Detroit"; Delores Geibel, a comedienne who was starred in "Damn Yankees" and "Pajama Game," as "Adelaide"; and Dick Sasso as "Nicely-Nicely." Sassa has played the role more than 200 times in top travelling companies of the show.

Charles Rich, who has been featured in 35 musical shows in the past 18 years, portrays the con man "Benny."

THE SHOW is produced by BCNYC Productions and is staged and directed by Randolph Avery. Avery is a veteran in the field of spectacular productions for fairs, and the show has been specially adapted for the large capacity of the Polar Dome.

Special acoustical and sound engineering effects have been arranged to eliminate any sound problems the Dome has suffered in the past.

The musical director is a 14-year-old genius well known in the Fox River Valley, Rosemary Bailey. Choreography was handled the Conrad Hilton Ice Show and other shows produced by the famed Miss Merriell Abbott of the Palmer House.

New Exhibit At Gallery

"Paintings and Silver" is the title of the new exhibit at the Countryside Gallery, 10 W. Miner St., Arlington Heights. Opening Sunday, the exhibit will feature paintings and drawings with handcrafted jewelry in gold and sterling silver by 11 artists and craftsmen.

Professional artists living in this area whose work will be shown through Aug. 28 are:

Aloise A. Zehner, and Ruth Murray, Arlington Heights; Shirley Erickson, Mount Prospect; Michael Gorski, Wheeling, and Eleanor Rosenfeld, Barrington. Also featured are Robert Amft, Lucille Shellman, Ki Davis and Matt Foley.

HILDA RUBIN will be guest artist. Mrs. Rubin's adventures at the Oskar Kokoschka Art Studio, Salzburg, Austria, were recently published in the Sunday supplement of a Chicago newspaper.

"We will exhibit a number of watercolors painted during her stay in Salzburg; through the courtesy of Fairweather-Hardin Gallery, Chicago," Mrs. William Stull, exhibit chairman, said.

Mrs. Zehner, whose paintings have been shown in Findlay, Americafiore, and Oxbow Galleries, will be represented by recent watercolors and drawings created during her six-months travel and study in Italy and Greece. Both Mr. and Mrs. Carl Zehner have been actively associated with Countryside Art Center from its beginning six years ago.

REPRESENTED in over 22 Wisconsin exhibitions, Michael Gorski of Wheeling will be another stable gallery member featured in August. After receiving his degrees in Art and Art Education at the University of Wisconsin, Gorski has taught at the Universities of Wisconsin and Missouri and the National College of Education and Chicago Teachers College.

Shirley Erickson and Eleanor Rosenfeld, also stable gallery members, will exhibit recent oils in drawings.

This will be the tenth exhibit at the gallery since its opening last November. Sponsored by Countryside Art Center, Inc., Countryside Gallery is the first in the northwest suburban area to offer changing exhibits of paintings and sculpture by nationally known artists as well as professional artists and craftsmen residing in this area and in Chicago.

"AUGUST IS usually a quiet month in the art world—many galleries close," gallery board chairman, Helen Anderson admitted. "However, Countryside Gallery is continuing art sales and rental services to the community. College students home for the summer are discovering the gallery for the first time!"

Countryside Gallery is located in downtown Arlington Heights opposite Behrens Real Estate Office on West Miner Street. The gallery is sponsored by Countryside Art Center, Inc., as part of its format of offering exhibits and classes for adults and children. Membership in the Art Center is open to all adults.

Dues per season starting in September are exhibiting artist members $8, associate members $4, charter patron members $15.

Further information on membership and activities of the Center is available at the Gallery; open daily, except Mondays, 1-4 p.m. Other hours by appointment. 255-9718. (Bill

Gene Autry's Sahara Inn
SCHILLER PARK—CHICAGO, ILLINOIS
TELEPHONE 678-4800

August 1, 1963

Howdy Folks,

Well, sir, I'm proud and happy to tell you that Thursday, Aug. 1, 1963 is the Grand Opening of Gene Autry's Sahara Inn.

The Sultans' Table will have the Merriel Abbott production of "Gene Autry's Hootenanny" starring a fresh new singer, Nancy Ames, the famous New Wine Singers and music for dancin' by Ollie Raymand and Frankie Masters.

The Celebrity Room will feature "The Johnny Lewis Trio". They're a swingin' bunch.

And remember, king size drinks, fine food and above all, service and sensible prices.

If there's something you don't like, you just holler out loud, because we'll be listenin' real hard.

We aim to please you.

Sincerely,
Gene

A Ravinia Panorama

...The Duke and Ella Swing

by BOB SETLIK
Staff Writer

Highland Park is just another of the coat-and-tie communities lying along the North Shore, except for one distinction.

Nestled on its outskirts, a short hike from Lake Michigan, sits a woody plot that provides for many an answer to the summer cultural drought.

Highland Park is the home of Ravinia, a temporary summer stopping-off place for such varied performers as Pablo Casals and Count Basie, Byron Janis and Peter, Paul and Mary, Ella Fitzgerald and Igor Stravinski.

Ravinia numbers its days from 1902, when a corporation headed by the president of the Chicago and Milwaukee Railroad purchased 36 acres lying along the railroad right of way. The railroad still runs through the park.

FOR A WHILE plays were the main fare, then it became a favorite spot for dancing and dinner parties, and later opera was given a fling.

The park was silent for five years during the depression, until a group of Highland Park residents raised money to put it back on its feet.

It was then that Ravinia began concentrating on music, a policy still in existence today.

The park contains about 3,000 permanent seats on a concrete saucer-shaped foundation, sheltered by a fan-shaped pavilion erected in 1950.

THE PARK CAN handle crowds four times greater than its seating capacity — the Kingston Trio had drawn 14,000, and less than a month ago a "pop" folksong group, Peter, Paul and Mary, drew over 13,000.

A meadow extending beyond the pavilion is usually a patchwork of blankets by concert time. It's not unusual to see a family hold a pre-concert picnic in the meadow. The meadow is also a favored spot for the high school and college crowd.

RAVINIA OFFERS a little of everything in entertainment these days — both the crowd pleasers and the harder-to-sell artists.

The Chicago Symphony is the primary fare, led by such guest conductors as Igor Stravinsky and Robert Craft, Pablo Casals, Hans Schmidt-Isserstedt, and Sir William Walton.

Jazz and folk oriented programs fill the gaps. The seven week season ends after the New York City Ballet takes over for a full week.

A Paddock Publications reporter-photographer team visited Ravinia one July evening when Duke Ellington and Ella Fitzgerald were the attractions.

THE DUKE, abetted by his inimitable sidemen — Cootie Williams, Johnny Hodges, et al — went through his paces during the first half of the program, a performance which included "Lullaby of Birdland," "Sophisticated Lady," and "Mood Indigo."

Then it was Ella's turn. The fare she offered included "You Make Me Feel So Young," "Take The A-Train," "Misty," "Whatever Lola Wants," "Mack the Knife" "Bill Bailey," and "Stompin' at the Savoy." The crowd shouted for more, and Ella obliged with "Lady Be Good."

Bathing Beauties Cautioned

DUBUQUE, IOWA, (UPI) — The Archbishop of Dubuque has asked Catholics in the archdiocese to avoid beauty contests where bathing suits are worn by those competing.

Archbishop James J. Byrne said the bathing suit "has no reasonable place on the stage, where it can be only an occasion of sin for the male viewers."

He issued the advisement in a letter to priests and laity of the archdiocese which was read in all archdiocesan churches Sunday.

HE ASKED all Catholics not to attend beauty contests where bathing suits are worn, asked Catholic women not to take part in these contests, and Catholic men not to help with the arrangements.

"It is clear that the bathing suits reveal the body more than conceal it," the archbishop wrote.

"The bathing suit belongs on the bathing beach or in the water," he added.

Florida farmers planted 136,500 acres to cane sugar in 1962, almost three times the acreage of the previous year.

by SONDI BAKER
Staff Writer

The clatter of a typewriter is a familiar sound at 309 N. Elmhurst, Prospect Heights.

"You've absolutely nothing to lose," Mrs. George Kratt encourages area housewives and businessmen with deep-down aspirations to write magazine fiction.

And she should know.

Magazine readers know her as Valerie Kraft.

The out-going suburban homemaker holds down a job and teaches adult education creative writing workshops at Arlington High School—in addition to writing and selling approximately 50 short stores and articles in her 12 years of part time freelance writing.

HER WORK has appeared in Good Housekeeping, American Family, Better Homes and Gardens, American Home, Country Guide, the women's section of the Chicago Tribune, American Baby and Home Life, among others.

Two of her short stores are currently on the stands in women's group magazines.

Another story dealing with a teenage girl's personal dilemma, "Point of No Return?" appears in July's Hi-Way, teen publication of Westminister Press for Presbyterian youth.

"I worked around the edges of journalism for years," Mrs. Kraft said recently. "It's not an easy field to break into."

THE EVENING creative writing workshops, an increasingly popular feature of the adult education division at Arlington High, may be just the extra "boost" needed by numerous creative-minded amateurs in the surrounding suburbs.

"How some of the people have improved with just a little guidance and editing!" she exclaimed. "I know it's presumptuous to try to 'teach' writing, but it is certainly fun to try. The thrill of every teacher is seeing a trend toward improvement in her students."

Some class members may even sell some of their work in the near future, she said.

The local author hopes for two classes next year, since some would-be pupils had to be turned away one recent semester because size of classes is limited to 30 members.

BEGINNING and advanced writing workshops are held at the local high school. Mrs. Kratt has evolved a teaching outline on the short story, asking students to pinpoint specific subject matter before beginning to develop their writing skills.

"This takes it out of the daydream stage. Writing is both possible and practical if you have an idea about which you decide to write."

"I ENCOURAGE the students to jot down scribbles each morning when they get up, something which starts the creative flow and helps them write unself-consciously. It is often much easier to start this way then to sit in front of a typewriter, thinking and thinking without results."

A writing group was formed this summer by members of her classes. They meet in homes every two weeks between the semesters, reading manuscripts and spurring each other to further literary efforts, Mrs. Kratt explained.

"I have been so fortunate to have marvelously creative-minded people in my classes. They all have a creative spark, even though they don't always realize it at first themselves. It's such fun to see them develop."

MRS. KRATT wrote short stories for a "solid two years" before selling her first story, and knows the disappointments suffered when stories an author feels are good are returned by publishers.

She then had "the fortune or misfortune" to sell her second story to Good Housekeeping.

"A big sale of this kind may make an author feel overconfident, that she is on her way, but this is seldom the case." Mrs. Kratt noted. "The professional competition is terrific."

THE LOCAL author said there have been periods when she couldn't write at all. Yet at other times she can sit and type a 40-page story, selling it as it comes off the typewriter.

"The facility to write is developed through extensive writing."

Twice she has gone through the "ten-story system" which she suggests to students. By setting a goal of ten stories to be written within a set time limit "you somehow come up with ideas for the stories."

In slightly rewritten forms, some of these stories were sold, she added.

Writers can receive up to $500 or $1000 for articles accepted by top-notch national magazines like Readers Digest, she explained, "but it's not really easy to make much money at writing."

SHE NOTED a slump in the market in recent years. Women's magazines, the natural market for women writers has fallen to television to a great extent, according to Mrs. Kratt. Noting the field is in "dire straits financially," she explained this makes it even more difficult to sell stories.

"As a supplemental activity or hobby, it can be rewarding in so many other ways between the sales," she added.

"The lonely business of writing at a typewriter, mailing a manuscript to an unseen publisher, and possibly also receiving a check by mail is offset by seeing magazines with your story on the newstands and in stores as you travel."

"It's also extremely rewarding to write your feelings and ideas, even if the income isn't tops. Writing and an interest in creative people has widened my life." she emphasized.

SOME OF Mrs. Kratt's past experiences include work as a literary critic for a former Deerfield agent. She has also been a women's editor for a political magazine, helping with the campaign of former Chicago Mayor Martin Kennelley more than ten years ago.

She recently participated in a trip through the southern United States with the Chicago branch of the Illinois Women's Press Association, of which she is a member.

She has taught Sunday school to local five-year-olds and is a member and past chairman of the Off-Campus Writers' Workshop in Winnetka.

A flair for writing in high school, foreshadowed by the youthful organization of a "poetry writing club" at the age of ten, and the study of journalism at Northwestern University sent Mrs. Kratt on her creative way.

SHE IS currently one-fourth finished with a historical novel set in the Chicago area and pioneer Wisconsin of 1870. The second of four sections is researched.

"I know I'll finish it, but I don't know how it's going to end yet," she smiled.

Other plans include the writing of a creative writing textbook, to be used in classes similar to those she instructs.

She recently received an honorable mention award in a national Writers Digest annual contest.

"I've given up a lot for writing and it has given me a lot in return, as any artistic endeavor will," she concluded this week.

MRS. GEORGE KRATT of Prospect Heights, know professionally as Valerie Kraft, writes short stories for publication in national magazines and instructs adult creative writing classes at Arlington High School.

State Medical Society

Offers Suggestions on How To Overcome Sizzling Heat

With temperatures soaring into the upper 80's and 90's so frequently these days, here are a few tips from the Illinois State Medical Society to help suburbanites beat the sizzling heat.

MEN: If summer heat gets you down, keep your shirt on—your T-shirt, that is. Studies show you'll be much more comfortable wearing a T-shirt under an outer garment because it will absorb perspiration and protect your skin from irritation by exuded salts.

WOMEN: Conserve your energy. Hot weather is a signal for you to concentrate on easy-to-prepare meals with a minimum of dishwashing. Leave heavy work for the cool part of the morning or evening.

TEENAGERS: If you really want to beat the heat, stay away from the beach. Why? Because when the sun beats down on the sand, temperatures at ground level can easily soar as high as 140 degrees. Though a dive in the lake may cool you off temporarily, the hot sun and bright surroundings will often add more heat than the water can handle.

EVERYONE: Watch what you eat. When it's hot eat lighter meals with fewer spicy, heavy or fat foods. Drink plenty of liquids, but go easy on iced drinks; often they just make you feel hotter, for they are warmed to body temperature rather quickly after consumption and absorb little heat in the process.

Wear light, loose, absorbent clothing and get plenty of rest. Doctors advise that you get an extra hour of sleep every day during hot spells.

Exercise moderately, but don't overdo sports or work. Get help for big jobs if you're spending your vacation on do-it-youself projects. And if you're participating in a game, remember it's better to lose a few points on a game score than spend several sick weeks in bed.

And did you know that it is much more cooling to submerge a hand and forearm in water than to fan one's face or to lie motionless in the heat? Although the hand and forearm constitute only about 5.5 per cent of the total body surface, the great vascularity of fingers and hands brings large amounts of blood in proximity to a surrounding water bath for cooling.

Junior Judge Is Garden Club Speaker

Mrs. John R. Dunston of Glenview, junior judge in the Garden Club of Illinois and a member of Countryside Gardeners of Glenview, will be speaker at the Aug. 1 meeting of Countryside Garden Club when members meet at 8 p.m. in the Rolling Meadows Bank Meeting Room. Experienced in flower shop work, Mrs. Dunston and her husband raise orchids as a hobby.

Mrs. B. Trepte, president of Countryside Garden Club, extends an invitation to anyone interested in flower arranging or table decorations to join members for the evening.

Hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. J. Royer and Mrs. E. Pace of Arlington Heights.

4-H'ers Earn Ribbons

Two of the five Bankers Ribbons for County Achievement Demonstrations went to the Snappy 4-H'ers: Andrea Krueger for her brownies, and Pat Pukszta for her yeast bread.

Delegates to the State Fair were chosen at South Cook July 19, where Miss Pukszta, 107 S. Forrest, Arlington Heights, will go for her demonstration. Qualifying in flower arranging last year, Miss Pukszta also qualified in flower arranging this year, but since a member can go for only one, she chose the demonstrations.

Retailers Cater To Teenage Girls

Retailers across the country are cranking up for their traditionally sizable piece of the back-to-school business. While the boys constitute a sizable portion of back-to-school business, the bulk of the spending will be done by the 10,685,000 teenage girls going off to school this year. And on the basis of this a good season is expected by both retailers and manufacturers.

These young ladies, the now grown products of the post-war baby boom, have created a new demand for wearing apparel, which in turn has created new outlets. One of these new outlets is the variety store, which used to be thought of only as a fount of "five and dime" merchandise.

WOOLWORTH'S, for example, has gone into ladies ready-to-wear extensively and sucessfully. Lloyd F. LaBarre, supervisor of buyers for the company, explains that it began with many new items aimed at the style-conscious teenage market, and expect one of our best seasons," Mr. LaBarre adds.

Week's Best Food Buys

There is a wider selection of beef, lamb and poultry cuts offered as better retail buys this week, according to the University of Illinois Consumer Service. Picnic and barbecue-type items predominate. Livestock and wholesale costs are steady to lower.

Egg retails are up despite lower costs. A flood of fair quality produce arrivals have tumbled major fruit and vegetable prices.

BEST FRUIT and vegetable buys, most of them in their peak season, are as follows:

Vegetables — Cabbage, beets, eggplant, green beans, green onions, garlic, lettuce, lima beans, okra, sweet corn, Swiss chard, peppers and tomatoes.

Fruit—avocados, blackberries, blueberries, figs, grapes, lemons, limes, nectarines, peaches, pears, plum-prunes and raspberries.

Melons — cataloupe, casabas, crenshaws, honeydews, Persians and watermelon.

Homemaking Hints, Tips

Curtains made of synthetic fiber fabrics, blends and those treated with the latest in durable finishes are easy to wash and dry. These fabrics shed soil quickly and thus do not need hard scrubbing, rubbing or twisting that sets wrinkles into such materials. The manufacturer's label usually specifies whether curtains require handwashing or may be put into the washing machine.

Ivy poisoning is no joke. Poison ivy and its close kin, poison oak, are three-leafed climbing plants. On the ground they are about a foot high. Usually they climb walls, trees, fences. Poison sumac is a small shrub with small white berries. Ivy, oak or sumac — the results are the same — a stinging, itching patch of blisters. If you have been exposed, wash thoroughly, several times, with warm water and plenty of soap.

Patty's Final Letter to Peg

Dear Peg:

I'm starting a new adventure this fall. I shall be a full time kindergarten teacher. Although I'm looking forward to this new experience, I have one regret. My teaching time, plus my time caring for the family will not allow me to continue my weekly letters to you.

I've enjoyed our correspondence (one-sided though it has been) for the past 10 years and I wish you the very best in whatever venture you may undertake and whatever life offers you and your family.

My love,

Her Game's in the Rough

I may give up the game of golf. Which, after becoming one of its most adoring fans and advocates, is almost like saying that I think I'll give up breathing. But I had a rather nasty shock. And, I'm not playing so hot anyway.

The other day two of my buddies talked me into going out just for a quick nine, you know. I'm playing so badly, they thought I might need the practice. They are so right. So we blissfully got up on the first tee where I promptly shanked one into the rough. In fact, I like long grass. Long grass and trees else why do I spend so much time in their company.

MARY

Then we came to the second hole where I teed off, shanked it into the rough and trees, set out with my little cart and clubs to play down the wrong side of the fairway. As usual. "Oh," I called happily to my merry, merry companions, "here is my ball." With that I glanced down at my feet in time to discover that I was about to plonk a foot right on top of a long dead rat. I don't care much for rats alive, but dead they are even more repulsive. By a long shot.

Without even once touching the ground, cart, clubs and I rose ten feet into the air and came down some distance away from that place. But I am a plucky one and went on playing. Not well but plugging along. By the time we had reached the sixth fairway, which is right next to the second fairway, the one with the rat, you know, I was feeling fairly fit.

I was feeling fit until I sliced one into the rough on the second fairway and guess where it nestled up. Yup, right next to my rat friend, deceased. Feeling rather definitely that this just wasn't my day, I quit after the six holes and haven't played since. I may never play again, which may be a great loss to the women's pro circuit, but they must be strong. Gotta expect losses in this life.

Janet Burmeister's Father Officiates at Her Wedding

Rev. Wilbert C. Burmeister had a dual role July 6 in the wedding ceremony which united his daughter, Janet Mae, and David Allen Rosebraugh in marriage, for not only did he give his daughter in marriage, but he was also the officiating clergyman.

The groom is the son of the Earl Rosebraughs of Elmhurst, while Rev. and Mrs. Burmeister are Hoffman Estates residents on Jamison Lane.

The 7 o'clock double ring service took place in Trinity Lutheran Church, Des Plaines, where glads and peonies decorated the altar, along with palms and candles. Candles, lighted by the bride's cousin, William Thielker, acolyte, also marked the center aisle of the church.

For her wedding, the bride chose a silk organza gown with chapel train, appliqued with Alencon lace and seed pearls on the bodice and skirt. Her chapel veil of French illusion was caught up in a pearl and crystal crown and she carried a prayer book with orchids and stephanotis.

MISS MARILYN Wohlleber of Signal Hill, Tenn. was maid of honor and bridesmaids were the Misses Margaret Lahrmann, cousin of the bride from University City, Mo. and Earlene Rosebraugh, sister of the groom from Elmhurst. Miss Andrea Lynn Thielker of Sunset Hills, Mo., another cousin of the bride, was junior bridesmaid.

All wore identical gowns of pink silk organza over taffeta and carried white daisies and ivy. Pink crowns with veils completed their ensembles.

Mrs. Burmeister chose a gown of blue lace over taffeta with tiered skirt, blue hat, white accessories and a white orchid corsage. Mrs. Rosebraugh chose a pink silk linen dress with jacket, beige accessories and hat and a white orchid.

John Petersen of Des Plaines was best man to the groom while groomsmen were the bride's brother, Richard Burmeister of Hoffman Estates, and Fred Koechlein of Clarendon Hills. Junior groomsman was the bride's brother, Paul Burmeister, and ushers were Allen Wehrmeister and Joseph Charles.

A RECEPTION for 250 guests was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church, after which Mr. Rosebraugh took his bride on a 2-week honeymoon trip through the New England states and Canada. Since July 21, they have been residing in Des Plaines.

The bride studied at Palatine High School and the Lutheran Hospital School of Nursing in St. Louis. She is now employed by Pure Oil Company in Palatine. Mr. Rosebraugh studied at Culver-Stockton College and is with the Lincoln Life Insurance Company.

Keep Kitchen Clean For Summer Health

Protect yourself and others from summer food poisoning by consistent kitchen sanitation, advises Mrs. Jane Myers, University of Illinois extension foods and nutrition specialist.

Such practices help prevent foods from becoming contaminated with spoilage and bacteria causing poisoning.

SHE LISTS these sanitation measures:

Whenever necessary for cleanliness, wash your hands thoroughly before preparing food and during the preparation process. If you have a cut or sore on your hand, avoid handling food or wear rubber gloves. Open infections are a primary source of food-poisoning types of bacteria.

Use clean spoons, forks or knives, not your hands, whenever possible in preparing or serving food.

GET RID of flies, roaches, other insects and mice and rats around the kitchen and food storage areas. Be careful not to get insecticides in food or on food contact surfaces.

Wash dishes carefully in hot water and clean suds. In washing dishes for a crowd, prerinse the dishes. If you don't use a dishwashing machine, wash in hot, sudsy water (125 degrees F.). Rinse with hot water (about 170 degrees F.).

Be sure mixing bowls and refrigerator containers are clean.

Keep perishable foods or foods highly susceptible to spoilage covered when out of the refrigerator. (S

Summertime Stains A Chore to Remove

Summertime is that glorious time, the time that's made for picnics, beach parties, early morning gardening, evening barbecues—just plain family fun. It's filled with days too wonderful to waste indoors, sometimes too warm to spend on household chores.

You can lighten your laundry burden by including all your washables in your laundry bundle and let a professional laundry take over washing and ironing worries.

WHEN DAD dons his apron and hat to do the outdoor cooking, the menu is bound to include hot dogs prepared over an open fire. And whether this is an American delicacy or not, it can spoil your disposition and fresh appearance when catsup or mustard from it drops onto your play togs. Creamy mayonnaise gives added tang to sandwiches but loses its appeal when it decorates your garments. Refreshing iced coffee and soda pop can become stubborn stains when spilled on fabrics. And grass adds color to the picture.

If you're seeing spots like these before your eyes, the American Institute of Laundering, research and educational center for the professional laundry industry, suggests several do's and don'ts to help you take care of your colorful summer apparel.

MOST housewives do not have the needed chemicals and knowledge of fabrics to remove the more aggravating spots successfully. Particularly difficult to remove are shoe dyes, fruit juices, perspiration, oil and grease, vegetable and animal fats, and inks.

The worry-free formula recommended by the textile chemists at the American Institute for home treatment of food stains is a simple one, rinsing in cold water before the garment is laundered.

Don't let spots become old and "set" into washable fabrics. This makes removal difficult. Fresh stains are more easily taken out. Send the garment for laundering as soon as possible. It's also advisable to tell the laundry routeman what caused the stain. This information will aid the epxert spotters in removing the stain. (S

Earle Cromer Jr. Claims Richview Bride June 22nd

Following their June 22 wedding and a honeymoon in Rhinelander, Wis., Mr. and Mrs. Earle G. Cromer Jr. are residing at 622 N. Main St. in Mount Prospect.

The bride is a teacher in Forest View Elementary School in Elk Grove and is the daughter of the Gus Draeges of Richview, Ill. The groom, an electrical engineer with Streeter-Amet Manufacturing Co., is the son of the senior Earle G. Cromers of the Main Street address.

The wedding took place in Richview Methodist Church and was followed by a reception in the church where 200 guests greeted the couple. Rev. John D. Gangi was the officiating clergyman for the 8 o'clock, double ring service. Huckleberry, white daisies and candlelight decorated the church for the ceremony, during which Mr. Draege gave his daughter in marriage.

Miss Draege's bridal gown was of silk organza trimmed in seed pearls and her veil was fingertip in length. White daisies made up her bouquet as well as the bouquets of her attendants. Mrs. Robert Collester of Richview, sister of the bride, was matron of honor while bridesmaids were the bride's cousin, Mrs. Hazel Borowiak of St. Louis, and Mrs. Dee Cromer of Antigo, Wis. Their gowns were of aqua organza and their headpices were matching organza roses.

ALSO IN the wedding party were a 4-year-old flower girl, the groom's niece, Julie Cromer of Antigo, and an 8-year-old ring bearer, Kevin Draege of Ashley, Ill., nephew of the bride. Julie's gown and flowers matched the older attendants gowns and flowers.

Mrs. Draege was in an aqua organza dress with white accessories and Mrs. Cromer was in a lavender lace. Corsages of white carnations were chosen by both Mrs. Draege and Mrs. Cromer.

DR. ROBERT Cromer, brother of the groom from Antigo, was best man and ushers were the groom's brother-in-law, William Trombello of Maywood, the bride's brothers, Harold Draege of Ashley and Otto Draege of Richview, and the bride's brother-in-law, Robert Collester Jr. of Richview.

The bride received her B.S. and M.Ed degrees from Southern Illinois University . The groom received a B.S.Ch.E. and B.S.E.E. from Northwestern University. (S

Nurses Set Rummage Sale Date

The annual rummage sale sponsored by Mount Prospect Nurse's Club is being held Thursday, Aug. 8, from 7 to 9 p.m. and Friday Aug. 9, from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. As in previous years, the sale will be held in Central School, Central and Main Streets, Mount Prospect.

Chairman of the event, Mrs. Neil Lane, has announced that "good" rummage will be featured and that anyone having rummage to donate may call CL 9-3110.

The sale is the club's money-raising event of the year. With proceeds, the group has donated needed equipment to Northwest Community Hospital and maintains a lending closet for Mount Prospect residents. (S

ROOM DIVIDERS serve several purposes. They can divide areas within a home and they can display accessories for a room. Now a new function has been added by Motorola in this handsome room divider-stereo from their designer and decorator collection. Retaining all its original uses, the divider is also a home entertainment product containing a stereo phonograph and AM-FM radio with FM stereo. The unit is crafted from walnut and contains five speakers concealed behind the caning at the top.

Room Divider Equipped With Stereo Phonograph

The average homemaker today has become more design conscious than ever before, and this is particularly true in the field of home entertainment. Not only is she interested in how the stereo sounds and how clear the picture is, but she also wants the set to harmonize with her over-all decor. The solution, of course, is to combine home entertainment components with fine furniture, and this is exactly what one electronics firm has done.

Marketed recently by Motorola, Inc. is their designer and decorator collection, a group that includes television receivers and stero high fidelity instruments housed in fine furniture cabinets styled by the company's design department in conjunction with Drexel Furniture Co. and Heritage Furniture Co.

VERSATILITY is one of the most important attributes of the group. Each of the 14 pieces in the line functions as furniture as well as a stereo or television set. For example, there is a room divider equipped with a record changer and radio which not only offers your favorite music while it divides areas of space in the home, but it can also display an heirloom glass collection.

A serving cart equipped with television can be rolled from patio to living room to dining room with equal ease for serving and viewing. There are window chest-stereo sets that can fit into many kinds of furniture arrangements.

Woods and finishes run the gamut in the new line, and Mrs. Consumer can find a style to blend with any decorating theme. Walnut, pecan, mahogany, and cherry have been used, with finishes ranging from rich, dark brown to antique white. Spanish, French, Danish, English, and Italian influences can be seen in the styling of the Designer and Decorator Collection as well as authentic Early American design.

Motorola's new luxury line is available locally at Schneller's Furniture Co., Arlington Market. (S

Curved Bench Handy in Yard

You can make an all-purpose, extra wide curved bench for poolside or for any handy spot in the yard which will give the family many hours of enjoyment.

To give the bench extra texture, build the top with one-inch fir lumber laid edgewise with one-inch spacing. To get the curved effect, you build the bench frame of Douglas fir 2x4s and then bend the bench slats into place, row after row.

YOU CAN also have inch or three-fourths inch lumber for the bench top, depending on what you can get from your retail lumber yard. The bench boards need not be more than three inches wide.

This curved bench will attract a lot of attention in your yard. If it is built about three feet wide, it becomes a bench for seating and wide enough for trays or glass filled refreshments or food.

You can stain the bench, you can let it gray and weather to a lovely silvery tone, or you can give it a sparkling coat of bright colored paint for accent in your yard. (S

Here's HAUGH to Plan a Party

'Wooden Shoe' Come to A Dutch Dinner Party?

Around this time of year in 1663, the Dutch purchased a piece of land and built a fort which later became a city, Hartford, Conn. And so this month we wll give ideas for a little Dutch Dinner Party.

INVITATION

Cut a wooden shoe from yellow construction paper and write on the opposite side:

"Wooden shoe" like to come to dinner?

If the answer is "ya"

Let us know and we will lay a place.

State time, place and if you chose to make this a potluck, which is most helpful for a large gathering, include the type of dish but ask that it have a Dutch background. Anyone knowing that the Dutch are famous for chocolate will have no trouble with dessert.

DECORATIONS

Dutch blue and white will prevail as the colors with accents of red in tulips or other garden flowers. Set the table with blue cloth, paper or linen and set it up outside under the trees. Use tall heavy blue candles and nestle white ones in between. For the centerpiece, a wooden shoe filled with garden flowers or artificial tulips in yellow or red. White china, gleaming pewter, if you have some, and a wooden salad bowls will definitely be "Dutchy."

MENU

For the menu you plan yourself plan for Chicken Soup Supreme or potato soup, Gouda cheese, Ham Kabobs made with ham, cheese and green peppers cooked out-of-doors, with ham and onion gravy. For desserts, a selection of Moravian Sugar Cake, Lemon Strip Pie, Shoe Fly pie and Daffodil Cake will give you a sweet treat long remembered by your guests.

ENTERTAINMENT

Anything to do with windmills, tulips, or wooden shoes will make up the list for games. Prizes may be dolls, shoes or lace for the ladies, pipes or chocolates for the men. Keep the games few and simple, as lounging over coffee and good old-fashioned conversation will fit the picture fine after all of these hearty foods.

So put on your wooden shoes and give your guests a real "Dutch Treat." (S

It's Fresh Peach Time: Try It in Ice Cream

THERE'S NO MORE heavenly spooning than with a dish of old-fashioned fresh peach ice cream. With peaches now in season, this is the time to enjoy the fresh flavor at its peak. The ice cream is easily made in the ice cube tray if you don't have a freezer. (SH

Even though modern science has eliminated or minimized many of the dangers threatening our annual supply of fruits and vegetables, it takes someone with a farm background to realize how great and shining is the miracle which heaps our produce counters with beautiful abundance.

Take peaches, for instance, which, this year, have been threatened variously by the elements. Yet, happily enough, neither cold, snow, hail, nor drought seem to have affected seriously the growing and ripening of our peach crop.

This year, peaches are of excellent quality and the early varieties will be above average in supply. Late-maturing peaches from northern states are not apt to be this abundant, however.

THERE ARE thousands of named varieties of peaches, but some 60 varieties—early, midseason and late—keep our fruit bowls filled from late May to mid-October, with July and August the peak months. According to the number of trees, the top 10 varieties are Alberta, Redhaven, Halehaven, Dixired, Dixigem, Golden Jubilee, Sullivan Early Elberta, Burbank July Elberta, Coronet, and Sunhigh.

Most of these peach varieties for the fresh market will be yellowfleshed, freestone and have what produce men call "melting" consistency. The yellow varieties with melting flesh —and that means they are most certainly freestones—are excellent for all-purpose use. Improving the quality of peaches in general nowadays is the use of hydrocoolers. The prompt chilling in a water bath means peaches can now be picked in more mature state and still arrive at our produce counters in fine condition.

WEIGHT-WATCHERS will be delighted to learn that a ripe peach amounts to no more than a dainty 46 calories. Peaches are also a good source of vitamin A because of the quantities eaten at the height of the fresh peach season.

Fresh peach ice cream or sherbet is a luscious dessert at any time, but especially tempting on a hot day. Both are planned as refrigerator desserts.

FRESH PEACH ICE CREAM

- 1 rennet (junket) tablet
- 1 tablespoon cold water
- 2 cups milk
- ½ cup sugar
- 2 tablespoons light corn syrup
- 1/16 teaspoon salt
- 1½ teaspoons pure vanilla extract
- 1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
- 2 cups crushed ripe fresh peaches

Crush rennet tablet and dissolve in cold water. Combine milk, sugar, corn syrup, salt and pure vanilla extract. Mix well. Heat to lukewarm, stirring constantly. Test a drop on the inside of the wrist frequently. When it is comfortably warm (110 degrees F.), not hot, remove from heat at once. Add dissolved rennet tablet. Stir a few seconds only. Pour, at once, while still liquid into an ice cube tray. Do not disturb for 10 minutes while milk sets. Place in the freezing compartment of refrigerator and freeze until almost firm.

Remove from freezer, break up with a fork and beat with an electric or rotary beater until free from lumps, but still thick and mushy. Beat at high speed 2 minutes. Fold in fresh lemon juice and crushed fresh peaches. Turn into 2 ice cube trays. Return to freezer and freeze until firm and ready to serve.

Yield: 12 servings.

FRESH PEACH MILK SHERBET

- 2 cups crushed fresh peaches
- 1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
- ½ cup sugar
- 1 cup light corn syrup
- 2 cups milk
- ¼ teaspoon almond extract
- 2 egg whites, unbeaten

Combine peaches, lemon juice, sugar, corn syrup, milk and almond extract. Turn into two ice cube trays and freeze until the mixture is a stiff mush. Remove from freezer, turn into a bowl, add egg whites and beat until the mixture is fluffy and has increased in volume.

Return to freezing trays and freeze until firm. If sherbet is too hard to spoon out of trays, let it stand at room temperature 15 to 20 minutes to soften slightly.

Yield: About 2 quarts. (SH

Polynesian Lamb Chops

Cook-out enthusiasts take note! No need to stick to the same, tried and true meats every time. Try succulent lamb as a way of bringing new excitement to backyard suppers.

From lamb chops of all kinds (shoulder, rib, loin, sirloin) to leg steaks, from a rolled leg roast on the rotisserie to cubes for kabobs, you'll find a wide range of choice in lamb. Practically all lamb cuts are tender enough to broil or roast — the important consideration when selecting meat for the grill.

NOT ONLY can you vary the meat cut, but many sauces and marinades temptingly enhance grilled lamb. For instance, a simple marinade for chops blends soy sauce, lemon juice and salad oil. The resulting Polynesian Lamb Chops, crusty brown and flavorful, certainly increase the reputation of the chef.

POLYNESIAN LAMB CHOPS

- 4 to 5 rib, loin or shoulder lamb chops, cut about 1 inch thick
- 1/3 cup salad oil
- 1/3 cup soy sauce
- ¼ cup lemon juice

Mix together salad oil, soy sauce and lemon juice. Place chops in a shallow dish. Pour marinade over chops and marinate for about 2 hours, turning occasionally. Place chops on charcoal grill or in broiler, so that the surface of the chops is about 3 inches from the heat.

Broil until browned, 6 to 8 minutes. Turn and broil second side until browned, 4 to 5 minutes. Brush occasionally with remaining marinade during broiling; 4 to 5 servings. (SH

Calorie-Shy Fruit Punch A Real Thirst-Quencher

If you're counting calories, as so many people are these days, be on guard against hidden calories in hot weather thirst-quenchers. Ordinary sweetening in many summer beverages can send the calorie count soaring.

It's easy to whittle unnecessary calories from your favorite drinks by replacing the sugar normally required with the calorie-free sweetener, Sucaryl. In this delightfully refreshing Three Fruit Punch (pineapple, orange and lemon), calories have been pared down from 110 to just 45 calories for each 8-ounce serving.

NOTE TOO, that there are no clouds in your sparkling punch when you make the tea this cold water way.

THREE FRUIT PUNCH
(Low-Calorie)

- ⅓ cup tea leaves
- 3 cups cold water
- 2½ cups unsweetened pineapple juice
- 2 cups orange juice
- ½ cup lemon juice
- 2 tablespoons Sucaryl solution
- 1 quart Sucaryl-sweetened noncalorie gingerale

Combine tea leaves and cold water; refrigerate overnight; strain. Add juices and Sucaryl. Just before serving, add gingerale. Pour over ice in tall glasses. Garnish, if desired, with orange slices, maraschino cherries and mint.

MAKES 3 quarts or 12 servings. Each serving contains 45 CALORIES; 0.5 gram protein; trace of fat; 12 grams carbohydrate. If made with sugar, each serving would contain 110 CALORIES. (SH

Keep Summer Meal Simple but Tasty

As the sun sets, summer appetities revive and so do the cooks who plan simple dinners. Make them delicious but be wise in the use of convenience foods.

For instance, canned beef ravioli as the filling for bologna slices can be sprinkled with cheese and baked for a short time. Here is a dish that looks delicious and tastes the same. You can save shopping time by buying the sausage packaged ready-sliced and the beef ravioli in the large can that serves four generously. Large sized cans will often save storage space in the kitchen, too.

With the filled ravioli-bologna slices, serve a cool summer salad of fresh crisp vegetables on a bed of mixed greens. For dessert, what could be better than slices of ripe cantaloupe and bunches of seedless green grapes.

BOLOGNA-RAVIOLI ROLL UPS

- 12 slices large bologna
- 2 tablespoons prepared mustard
- 1 (40-ounce) can beef ravioli

Set oven 350 degrees.

Remove casing from bologna slices. Spread each slice lightly with prepared mustard. On one-half of each slice of bologna, place three beef ravioli. Fold other half of bologna slice over ravioli. Repeat to use all bologna and ravioli. Place filled slices, in single layer, in 15 by 9 inch baking dish. Spoon any remaining sauce over the ravioli filled sausage pieces. Sprinkle top with grated cheese.

Bake for 20-25 minutes. Makes 4-6 servings. (From Chef Boy-Ar-Dee Co.) (SH

'Southern Belles' Attend Joanne Morlock June 22

Hoop-skirted gowns in the traditional "Southern Belle" fashion were worn by the six attendants who preceded Miss Joanne Beth Morlock down the aisle of St. Paul Lutheran Church in Mount Prospect June 22 when she became the bride of Clifford Allen Skarr. A mount Prospect couple, the bride is the daughter of the Joseph J. Morlocks, 4 S. Albert, and Mr. Skarr is the son of the Ted Skarrs, 802 W. Gregory St.

Rev. J. E. A. Mueller officiated at the 5:30 p.m., double ring service and Mr. Morlock gave his daughter in marriage. White floral sprays and pedestal vases of matching flowers decorated the altar while ribbons and greens marked the pews.

ORGANIST was the bride's uncle, Edgar G. Krenzke, and soloist was the bride's maid of honor, Mary Beth Brown of Long Point, Ill. Junior bridesmaid was the bride's sister, Julianne Morlock of Mount Prospect, and sisters, Teddi and Janet Skarr of Mount Prospect, Miriam Folfas, also of Mount Prospect, and Patricia Krenzke of Chicago, cousin of the bride.

Their "Southern Belle" floor-length gowns were in rainbow colors of green, yellow, orchid, peach, blue and pink nylon, with matching picture hats and parasols of lace cascading with multi-colored flowers completing their ensembles.

The bride's floor-length gown was of silk organza with bodice and skirt trimmed in petal lace and pearls. The full skirt ended in a chapel train and her illusion veil of imported English net with petal lace and pearls, was held in place with a headpiece that matched the lily design of the gown. Lilies and stephanotis made up her bridal bouquet.

THE BEST MAN, Richard Kostele of Joliet, the junior usher, Roger Skarr, brother of the groom, Alan and Craig Poegel of Chicago, Ed Blutheart of River Grove and Herb Tallitsch of Arlington Heights, wore boutonnieres in their lepels to match the color of the bridesmaid with whom they were paired.

Both mothers wore sheath dresses, of different design, with matching hats and shoes and corsages of white roses and blue delphiniums.

Two hundred guests toasted the newlyweds with champagne punch cocktails in Old Orchard Country Club and partook of the sit-down dinner which followed.

For the summer, Mr. Skarr and his bride are residing in Columbus, Ohio, where they are attending classes at Ohio State University. After Aug. 20, they will be at home in Des Moines, where they will continue their studies at Drake University. The bride, a graduate of Prospect High School, will be in her junior year at Drake and the groom, a graduate of Arlington High School, will be in his senior year.

New Bride Needs Durable Roaster

The new bride who has received more gifts of coffee pots and electric toasters than she can use would do well to exchange one of these duplicate gifts for a porcelain enameled roaster. There will come a time when she can use one.

Most hardware and housewares stores carry them. The bride should just be sure they are easy to clean and durable in construction. (S

Select Easy-Clean Appliances

In selecting appliances for your home, a major consideration should be how easy they are to clean and keep clean. You don't want to spend more time cleaning an appliance than you do using it.

In the case of automatic dishwashers that feature porcelain enamel interiors, the cleaning job is virtually eliminated because the interior is scrubbed clean every time the dishes are washed. All you have to do periodically is clean out the area along the bottom of the wash chamber to remove any accumulation of mineral deposits from the water.

The exterior of some of the new portable dishwashers is also finished in lifetime porcelain enamel to simplify cleaning. To clean, simple wipe with a damp cloth or use a mild soap or detergent.

Porcelain is non-porous as well as scratch and stain-resistant. Given ordinary care, it won't fade or discolor even after years of use. (S

Peace Parade

Women for Peace announce that they are holding a torchlight parade Tuesday, Aug. 6, 8 p.m., to commemorate Hiroshima.

The women will meet on the southeast corner of Randolph and Michigan Avenues in Chicago, according to Mrs. S. Whiteley, publicity chairman. They will walk through Grant Park to the bandshell there, where they are to be joined by their husbands and children.

For information, area women are asked to contact Mrs. Lillian Hayward at 1660 Greenleaf, Des Plaines, 827-3402. (S

June Good

Announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, June Carolyn Good, to Larry Gene Hatfield, son of the E. O. Hatfields, 138 S. Kennicott, Arlington Heights, are the James E. Goods, 327 S. Windsor Drive, Arlington Heights.

A graduate of Prospect High School, Miss Good also studied at the University of Illinois and is now employed by a Mount Prospect builder. Mr. Hatfield was graduated from Washington High School in St. Paul and studied at the University of Minnesota. He is now with Butler Brothers in Des Plaines.

The wedding will take place Sept. 1, 1963.

Judith Helms

A spring wedding is being planned by Judith Lynn Helms and Donald White, son of the Frank Whites, 131 S. Fremont, Palatine. Their engagement was announced by Miss Helms' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Helms, 140 N. Schubert, Palatine.

The couple are both graduates of Palatine High School. Miss Helms attended American Beauty School and is now employed at Dor-Lee Hair Stylist in Palatine. Her fiance is employed by Pepper Construction Co.

Sharan Witty

The engagement of Miss Sharan Lee Witty to James A. Farley was announced recently at a small dinner party in the home of the Fred Farleys, 602 E. Council Trail, Mount Prospect. Miss Witty is the daughter of the Lee T. Wittys of Portland, Ore.

Mr. Farley attends Reed College in Portland, where Miss Witty was recently graduated from Wilson High School. She plans to enter the University of Oregon Dental School's dental technician program in the fall.

Margarete Linzer

Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Linzer of Mount Prospect are announcing the Oct. 5 wedding date of their daughter, Margarete, and Houshang Homampour, son of Mr. and Mrs. Haider Homampour of Teheran, Iran.

Miss Linzer attended Milwaukee-Downer College for three semesters and is now employed by a Chicago art studio. Her fiance is presently studying radiology at Cook County Medical Schol and plans to go on to specialized medicine.

Rummage Sale

A rummage sale, spnsored by St. Peter Lutheran Dorcas Aid, Arlington Heights, will be held Friday, Aug. 9, in the cafeteria at the church, 111 W. Olive St. Household items and wearing apparel will be sold at bargain prices from 5 p.m. until 9 p.m.

Quotoons

Humility is what makes some people take a backseat —in church.

A man who eats out of his wife's hand is usually broke.

The surest way to lose control of your car is to fall behind on the payments.

An enterprising young husband is one who gives his wife an electric dishwasher so that both of them can get out of doing the dishes.

A modern executive is a man who wears out several trouser seats to every pair of shoes.

One of the troubles with some modern girls is they believe in having husbands instead of babies.

Before the average college student reads a letter from home he holds it to the light to see if there's a check in it.

Sometimes the man of the hour is one who is married . . . and waiting patiently for his wife.

The trouble with modern civilization is that too many people have the mistaken idea that a good living consists in being able to afford one.

Make Your Electric Mixer Work for You

Is your electric mixer a part-time worker for you?

It is, if it sits idle most of the time, neatly covered and stored away in the corner of the cabinet. It is, too, if you use it merely as a substitute for an egg beater.

The heavy-duty, all-purpose mixer of today is much more than an egg beater. Not only is it designed to handle the most demanding mixing tasks, but equipped with a variety of special attachments it is becoming the most valuable appliance in the kitchen.

MIXER accessories include attachments that will do everything from sharpen knives to freeze ice cream. They will chop, slice, grate and shred; even buff silver, open cans, and make fruit juice.

Consider a typical meal that includes a sliced cucumber salad, meat loaf and mashed potatoes as the main course, bread or rolls, and a dessert of cake or ice cream. The mixer, in one form or another, can be used in the preparation of each item.

A SLICER attachment provides uniform slicing of the cucumber in seconds. Ingredients for a meat loaf are blended right in the mixer after the meat has been chopped on the meat grinder attachment. Bread or rolls are made with yeast dough kneaded by the dough hook.

Ice cream is made with the freezer attachment or the cake whipped up in the mixer.

The secret to "good mixing" is to own a quality mixer, keep it where it's handy and use it often. The practical, daily value of a mixer is only as good as the uses to which it is put.

Bethel Girls To Sponsor Clean-Up Day

Mowing lawns, washing windows and cleaning house will be included in the chores Bethel 103 girls will perform Saturday, Aug. 10, when they hold Clean-up day. Homeowners wishing help for the day may call Miss Bonnie Birch at CL 5-1890 or Miss Carol Cory at CL 5-4664, who are accepting orders for clean-up jobs, according to Miss Dixie Alletto, Honored Queen.

Bethel 103, International Order of Jobs Daughters, Arlington Heights, observed Friend's Night at its July 24 meeting. Miss Rebecca Moulton of Arlington Heights, Musician, was Acting Honored Queen, and guests were Olav Larsen associate guardian of 103, and Manning Stires, associate guardian of Bethel 107, Palatine.

Last Sunday, a group of 45, including Bethel 103 members, their parents, sisters, brothers and grandparents, picnicked at the Paddock Lake Cottage of Mrs. George A. Sharp. (S

Willow Road Families United in June Rites

Newly married and also new homeowners in Arlington Heights are former Prospect Heights residents, Carol Von Bergen and Richard E. Grimm. The bride is the daughter of the Gerhard Von Bergens of 706 W. Willow Road. The groom also resided on Willow Road before his marriage. His parents, the Louis Grimms, live at 500 W. Willow.

June 29 was the wedding date, the couple exchanging vows and rings in St. Peter Lutheran Church at 5 in the afternoon. Rev. Robert O. Bartz officiated, with Dan Sass singing appropriate selections, accompanied at the organ by Donald Hermann.

TWO LARGE vases of glads and mums, all in yellow and white, decorated the altar as the bride came down the aisle on the arm of her father. She wore a white silk organza over taffeta gown, floor length with a chapel train. Alencon lace appliques accented the bodice and skirt, and the gown was fashioned with long sleeves, sweetheart neckline and an empire waistline.

A double crown of alencon lace and pearls held her fingertip veil in place, and she carried a bouquet of white roses, white daisy mums and stephanotis.

THREE ATTENDANTS came down the aisle wearing aqua dresses, styled with bell shaped skirt and a large bow at the back of the waistline. Their headpieces were an aqua crown of net and pearls, and their bouquets were composed of yellow daisy mums. Each wore white short gloves and pearl earrings.

(Bak Studio

The bride's sister, Shirley Von Bergen, was her maid of honor, and serving as bridesmaids were her cousin, Marilyn Kolpin of Des Plaines, and Janice Grimm of Rolling Meadows, a sister-in-law of the groom.

IN THE BRIDAL party were two flower girls, 2-year-old Bonnie Grimm of Rolling Meadows and 5-year-old Susan Von Bergen of Elk Grove. The youngest is a niece of the groom, and the other a cousin of the bride.

The two were dressed in white nylon organza dresses with aqua boleros, and each carried a bouquet of yellow daisy mums.

The groom's brother, Kenneth Grimm of Rolling Meadows, was his best man, and ushers were Roger Goebbert of Arlington Heights and Kenneth Kolpin of Des Plaines.

EACH MOTHER of the bridal pair had a corsage of pink baby roses with a single feathered carnation pinned to her shoulder as she witnessed the rites. Mrs. Von Bergen was attired in a light blue peau de soie sheath dress with matching accessories, and Mrs. Grimm chose a silk organza sheath in aqua with white accessories.

The newlyweds greeted 275 guests at a buffet reception in Arlington Heights VFW Hall following the ceremony.

They then left for a few days in Wisconsin before starting married life in their new home on the north side of Arlington Heights.

The bride, a Prospect High School graduate, is employed at Arlington Heights National Bank. The groom, an Arlington High graduate, works as an IBM tab operator for International Packers Limited. (S

Much in Family Food Basket Is Not Edible

You have your grocer worried about the way you sometimes talk about your "food bill." It's his problem, really, but as you grouse about the dollars you spend in your favorite retail store, the owner knows that about two out of every 12 items you put in your shopping cart are things you had better not try to eat.

They are what used to be called in the trade "non-foods," but which more recently have become known by the fancier name of "convenience general merchandise."

THERE ARE more and more of these items in your neighborhood super market, reports Super Market Institute, and what you don't realize is how much of what you call your "food bill" is spent for these everyday non-food necessities and semi-luxuries.

Young homemakers particularly are prone to include such things as phonograph records, toothpaste, children's toys, household cleaners, beach sandals and "Capri pants" in lemon-yellow or fire-engine red in their shopping cart — items bought with their "grocery money."

How much general merchandise does the average super market shopper buy? Intrigued by the question, a survey team from Purdue University peeked into the shopping carts of more than 11,000 Indiana homemakers for an answer. The average value of the items in the carts was $4.59, and of this 83 cents went for non-food items. Put another way, of every $10 spent in a super market, nearly $2 went for products that are not edible.

FOOD STORES, going back to the corner grocery store of grandma's day, have always carried non-food items — soap, matches, tobacco, household cleaners, etc. Traditionally, these are recorded as "grocery" sales, and as a result, some two-thirds of current expenditures for non-edible items are not included in industry statistics on "general merchandise" sales.

BUT THE cost of food has gone down, not up, as a percentage of average disposable income after taxes. Food today takes less than 19 cents out of every dollar of consumer disposable income, the lowest percentage on record. And this despite the fact that consumers are buying more and better food today. If the same items were bought as were in the average pre-war food basket, the cost would be less than 15% of disposable income. Efficiencies on the farm, in food processing plants, and in mass-buying, self-service super markets, have held down rising costs, while the rise that has been experienced was more than offset by increases in average consumer income. Here's Shortcut To Fine Eating From the Grill

Here's an easy way to add a gourmet flair to the burgers you prepare this summer on the outdoor grill.

Simply crumble some mellow American blue cheese on the regular beef patties just before they are done. The result—delicious blueburgers.

THE COMBINATION of beef and blue cheese always has been popular, and a blueburger is an easy way to combine the two flavormates.

American blue cheese is budget-priced at supermarkets and other stores that sell cheese. (SH

'Finger Foods' Need Few Utensils in Outdoor Meal

Fried chicken ranks among the most popular of main courses with the family, and the outdoor season is also a popular time to serve this old standby. Outdoor meals are a boon to homemakers because they are so simple, with a minimum of work involved.

With simplicity as the keynote, plan to use paper plates, cups and napkins. Complete the fried chicken dinner with other finger-foods so that there'll be no fuss with knives and forks. Also, plan to prepare the chicken in a frying pan that can be used as a serving dish and is easy to clean when the meal is over.

THE CHICKEN fryer pictured is a Fiesta pattern constructed of porcelain-on-steel. It has an oven-proof handle and a matching cover that aids in spatter-free cooking and helps keep the food warm on the table. Fiesta ware is available at Ace Hardware in Rolling Meadows.

KEEP YOUR OUTDOOR meals simple and easy to prepare by planning them around finger-foods, such as fried chicken and corn on the cob. To save time and effort, prepare the chicken in a frying pan that can be used as a serving dish. The decorative Fiesta pattern on the pan adds eye appeal, and the smooth non-porous finish on this porcelain-enameled fryer makes it as easy to clean as an ordinary dish. (SH

Preparing the main course of the outdoor meal can be easy, adding to it corn on the cob, relishes, potato chips and beverage.

FIESTA FRIED CHICKEN

(Serves 4)

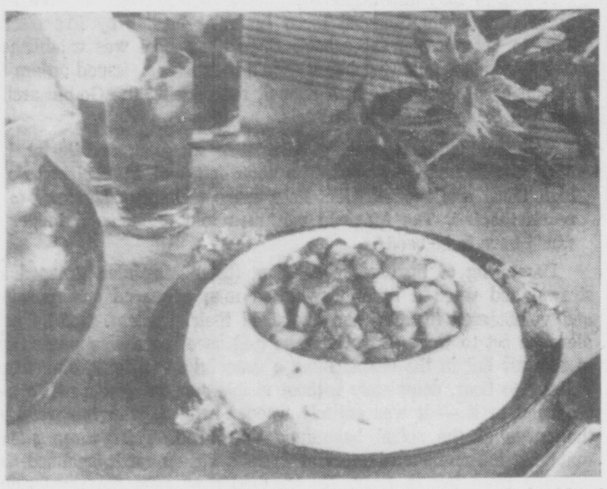
- 1 2½- to 3-pound broiler-frier chicken cut in serving pieces
- ¾ cup flour
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 1 tablespoon paprika
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- ½ teaspoon tarragon
- 1/3 cup butter
- 2/3 cup olive oil

Rinse chicken with water; drain, but do not dry. Combine flour, salt, paprika, pepper and tarragon in a paper bag; add a few pieces of chicken at a time and shake to coat.

Combine butter and olive oil in chicken fryer to a depth of ½-inch. Heat through, but not to smoking point. Add larger pieces of chicken first, then smaller ones. Brown on both sides (about 15 minutes).

Reduce heat, cover tightly, and cook about 30 minutes more until tender. If crips crust is desired, uncover for last 10 minutes of cooking time. (SH

Two-Cheese Ring Mold Is Versatile



A perfect companion for the barbecue banquet is a deliciously cool molded salad.

An intriguing combination of American blue cheese and strawberries is as appealing to the family gourmet as it is to the "little league" set. Tangy American blue cheese gives a flavor-lift on warm summer days and easily perks-up leftovers.

FOR A MEATLESS luncheon, try serving this molded salad with iced tea and piping hot cinnamon rolls. A light dessert, such as sherbet and brownies, will complete your luncheon fare.

SUMMER DELIGHT
(Serves 8)

- 2 tablespoons (2 envelops) unflavored gelatin
- ¼ cup cold water
- ½ cup boiling water
- 1 (8-ounce) package cream cheese
- ½ cup crumbled American blue cheese (about 3 ounces)
- 4 tablespoons lemon juice (juice of one medium lemon)
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup heavy cream, whipped
- ¼ cup broken walnut meats
- Salad greens
- Fresh strawberries, chilled and sliced

Soften gelatin in cold water for five minutes. Add boiling water to dissolve. Mash cheeses well together with a fork; blend until smooth and creamy. Gradually beat in lemon juice. Add salt.

Add dissolved gelatin to cheese mixture, stirring until well blended. Fold in whipped cream. Rinse 1-quart ring mold with cold water. Sprinkle walnut meats into mold. Pour in cheese gelatin; chill until firm. Unmold on crisp greens and fill center with chilled, sliced strawberries. (SH

Senses Respond To Food Images

Would you want to eat a crisp custard? Not likely, even if you could make one.

Inherent to food, and therefore to its flavor, is its texture. The texture of food, in part, predicates how rapidly the flavor is released, and also triggers a mental image of how the food will taste.

The sight of a stalk of celery recalls the sensation of how cerery feels against the teeth when given an authoritative chomp. If you like celery, your mouth will begin to water even before you pick up a stalk.

If you're partial to custard, your taste buds will receive a message from the brain reminding them of the smooth creamy custard texture.

Much of the pleasure of eating lies in the anticipation. The senses respond, the brain remembers, and appetite appears.

Cooked Beef Added to Hearty Salad

Where does leftover beef go in the summertime? Why, into the most refreshing kind of a main dish—a meat salad, of course!

Meat salads keep both you and your kitchen cool and calm while providing your family with a completely satisfying entree. The meat supplies the high-quality protein so necessary every day, whether the weather outside is 19 degrees or 90 degrees.

WHEN THE temperature soars, you'll enjoy this particularly appealing and hearty salad prepared from cooked beef. It's all made without the aid of your range. If you haven't the cooked potatoes and green beans in your refrigerator, you can simply use canned items.

HEARTY BEEF SALAD

- 2 cups diced cooked beef
- ½ cup French dressing
- ½ cup diced cooked potatoes
- ½ cup cooked green beans
- ½ cup coarsely grated carrots
- ¼ cup chopped sweet pickle
- 2 hard-cooked eggs, diced
- ½ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
- 4 to 6 lettuce cups

Pour French dressing over beef cubes and chill 1 hour or longer. Chill remaining ingredients. Combine beef-French dressing mixture, carrots, potatoes, green beans, pickles and hard-cooked eggs.

Add mayonnaise or salad dressing and mix lightly. Serve in lettuce cups. 4 to 6 servings.

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?

A. Beef Sirloin Steak.

Q. Where does it come from and how is it identified?

A. It comes from the sirloin section of the beef loin and this one contains a portion of the hip bone. The various steaks have wide variation in bone and muscle structure.

Q. How is it prepared?

A. By broiling, or panbroiling. To broil, place steak on broiler rack and insert pan and rack so top surface of 1-inch thick steak is 2 to 3 inches from the heat and a 2-inch steak, 3 to 5 inches.

When one side is browned, season, turn and finish cooking on second side. A 1-inch thick sirloin steak requires 15 to 20 minutes total time for rare, 20 to 25 minutes for medium. A 2-inch steak requires 30 to 35 minutes for rare, 40 to 50 for medium. (SH

Travel and Adventure

Mabuhay—'Welcome'

Philippines Offer Tropical Adventure

MAŃILA, PHILIPPINES — A tropical setting with an Oriental attitude, a heritage of 300 years of Spanish rule, and an indigenous culture deeply etched by American influence since the turn of the century — all these stand true for the more than 7,000 islands that make up the Philippines.

Stretching 1,152 miles north to south and lying just off the southeast coast of Asia, the archipelago is bathed by the blue Pacific on one side and the China Sea on the other. Here is a land of music, fiestas, churches, ancient rice terraces, island solitude, charming countryside, and above all, wonderfully hospitable people.

MODERN MANILA is the starting point for most tourists, according to the Pacific Area Travel Association. Here the famous walled city of Intramuros, now in ruins, is one of the few material reminders of what was once the glory of Spain in the Philippines. Unfortunately, most of the other historical landmarks were destroyed in World War II. St. Augustine, the only church of Intramuros which escaped demolition, today is a treasury of religious paintings and sculpture, well worth a visit.

After a taste of Spain, one might explore the Chinese district in one of the colorful calesas, horse-drawn carriages complete with tassels and gay ornamentation. If you prefer speedier transport, grab a "jeepney," or converted army jeep, which will whisk you through the city in post-war Manila style.

FILIPINOS being a light-hearted and gregarious people, night life in Manila is as good as in any cosmopolitan city, and better than in most. In fact, many clubs are open round the clock. Known as day clubs, these provide a lively place for natives and tourists alike to wine, dine, dance and converse during the light of day.

Or, if you prefer to save your frolicking for evening, spend the day browsing among the many shops instead. The rich variety of souvenir items reflect the fact that the population of this Republic represents some 55 distinct ethnic groups, each with its own arts and crafts. Manila's restaurants offer a corresponding variety of fine foods, from Oriental fare to dishes as western as ham 'n eggs.

For out-of-town sidetrips, Pagsanjan Falls is a "must" for anyone not averse to excitement and beauty. Approaching the falls by canoe, you enjoy scenery combining jungle vegetation, wildlife, deep gorges and graceful waterfalls.

The ride itself would be worth the trip, but Pagsanjan Falls is a destination unsurpassed in scenic delight. Here the flying water plunges into a deep pool, with smooth rocks nearby from which a swim is possible. The exciting part comes in shooting the rapids down-river in a native "banca." The scenery goes by considerably faster in this direction, with most riders concentrating on the swirling river as their expert boatmen guide them safely through no less than 14 rapids. To them, the skill involved is comparable to that required on any American freeway, and probably much less nerve-wracking.

ONLY AN HOUR'S drive from Manila, the top of Tagaytay Ridge offers a sweeping view of Taal Volcano, set on an island in a huge lake. Although this is the lowest volcanic crater in the world (about 2,000 feet above the sea), it is singularly beautiful and shouldn't be missed.

For those who plan to stay overnight, the Taal Vista Lodge is available with 30 rooms with private bath, cottage accommodations, and a climate refreshingly cool after the more tropic temperatures of the lowlands. If you have even more time, a half hour ride takes one to the white sand beaches of Matabunkay, an ideal place for swimming, fishing or just plain sunning.

The historic island bastion of Corregidor, with its vivid reminders of the harsh facts of war, can be reached by commercial launch in an hour and a half. So narrow is the harbor here that one can easily understand that whoever controls this outpost commands the sea approach to Manila. Now a national shrine, the rusty armaments and famous tunnels cast a solemn aspect on the scene which represents so much that is meaningful in modern Philippine history.

NINETY minutes by air or a day's journey by train from Manila is the Mayon volcano, described as the most beautiful in the world because of its near-perfect cone stretching 8,000 feet into the sky. A rest point high up on the slopes and accessible by car commands a panoramic view of the vast Pacific dotted with islands. Less than 30 minutes away is Tiwi Hot Springs with its thermal baths and swimming pools. A fifteen room rest house is available there for visitors wanting treatment.

Bearing in mind that Manila and its environs are only a very small part of what the "pearl of the Orient" is today, it is still an excellent focal point for further familiarization.

Wherever you go in the Philippines, remember "Mabuhay," the national greeting which means as many good things as Hawaii's Aloha. Literally, it expresses the universal wish, "May you live long."

CALESA RIDE—Touring Manila in a colorful Calesa is a quaint and leisurely way to see this Philippine city. As the horse clops along, visitors will see a city almost completely rebuilt since World War II, combining the Occident and the Orient, the new and the old, in a land where variety is an everyday word.

List Practical Tips To Aid Vacationers

With summer travel now in full swing, Travelers Aid Society of Metropolitan Chicago offers some practical advice to vacationers planning trips by train, plane, bus, ship or in the family automobile.

"While the primary focus of Travelers Aid is casework service for the traveler in serious trouble, our agency has amassed considerable experience with difficulties that could have been avoided with a little foresight," says Ralph W. Collins, executive director of the Chicago Society. "Based on that experience, we have compiled 13 tips for good traveling. By observing these 'rules of the road,' vacationers can avoid many of the vexations and more serious problems that can spoil a trip."

HERE ARE Travelers Aid's 13 rules for good traveling:

1. Plan your trip well in advance and make sure that you know about change-over points and that your schedule allows for comfortable change.

2. Carry identification—on your person and in every piece of luggage.

3. Make sure you are expected at a definite date and time by the hotel where you are planning to stay or by the relatives or friends you intend to visit.

4. If you are expecting to be met, specify at what terminal you will arrive.

5. Bear in mind the time-zone changes as you travel across the country.

6. TAKE more money than you expect to need, and don't keep it all in one place. Don't travel with a large amount of cash; use travelers' checks.

7. Don't overpack; take only what you will need. You may have to handle your own luggage.

8. If you depend on glasses, carry an extra pair with you.

9. If you were recently ill or suffer from a chronic condition, ask your doctor if the trip is safe. Carry an extra prescription, if you depend on medicine.

10. When traveling with children, take along a few simple, nonbulky toys and a small, easily reached first-aid kit containing bandages, antiseptic and thermometer.

11. If it is necessary for your child or an aged or handicapped relative to travel alone, make arangements in advance for Travelers Aid's protective travel service at points of departure (if you can't be there), change-over and arrival, wherever possible. An emergency can always prevent an individual from being at the station on time to meet an incoming train, plane or bus, but "meets" arranged through Travelers Aid are dependable.

12. TELL at least one close friend where you are going; it may be necessary to reach you in a hurry. If possible, leave a key with a neighbor or your building superintendent and ask him to check on your house or apartment periodically.

13. If something goes wrong despite your planning and you encounter difficulties or serious trouble, get in touch with the nearest Travelers Aid office. There are Travelers Aid societies in nearly 100 cities in the United States, in Montreal and Toronto, Canada, and in San Juan, Puerto Rico—as well as some 75 independent or YWCA-affiliated Travelers Aid agencies in foreign lands throughout the world. In addition, Travelers Aid's intercity communications service encompasses about 1,000 other cooperating social and governmental agencies, any of which may be called upon in locating proper sources of responsibility for the traveler in trouble or in arranging protective travel for persons unable to manage alone.

In New Mexico

Stairway Is Tourist Lure

by JEANNE WELCH
Travel Editor

With the dog days upon us probably most of our readers are on vacation, recuperating from vacations, or slightly resentful at not having had vacations as yet. Let's depart, then, from the strictly travel-type story and consider a legend which, for lack of space, was omitted from last week's column about New Mexico.

While this is not a travel story per se, it will add to your fund of knowledge of Americana and perhaps pique your curiosity enough to prompt your planning a trip to the enchanting state of New Mexico. It's an intriguing story, even an inspiring one.

It was in 1852 that Sister Mary Magdalen arrived in Santa Fe, City of New Spain, founded three centuries earlier by Franciscan friars, to open a convent school. Once the school was established Sister Magdalen, following her Bishop's instructions, issued orders to Mexican carpenters to erect a chapel, reproducing the Gothic architecture of Sainte-Chappelle in Paris.

The chapel was nearing completion when an architectural difficulty became apparent. The choir loft had been placed so high there was not sufficient floor space to build a stairway to reach the loft. The Mexican workmen told the nuns a ladder would have to be used.

Despairing of finding the solution, Sister Magdalen grasped at straws, and when a little gray-haired man appeared one morning and volunteered to help, she explained their problem. Quietly and alone he set to work. Days later he had once more disappeared into thin air but in the chapel hung a graceful spiral, extending from balcony to floor, completely without visible support. Not a nail could be found in it — it was entirely wooden-pegged, with the wood at the curve of the spiral beautifully dovetailed. Thirty-three steps, matching the number of years of Christ's life on earth, spanned the distance from loft to floor. No one had ever seen the mysterious workman before. Could he have been Joseph the Carpenter?

Today, more than a hundred years later, the unsupported stairway still stands in its place in Our Lady of Light Chapel in Santa Fe. Tourists from all over the world flock to see it.

The mystery of its construction has never been solved. Engineers and masters of wood-carving have examined it closely, only to remain completely baffled. It can only be termed a truly miraculous stairway.

Illinois Residents Using State Parks

By BRUCE B. BAKKE

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., (UPI) — Illinois residents — experiencing one of the driest and warmest seasons of recent years—have been flocking to the state's parks and memorials in record numbers.

In the first six months of the year, 4.2 million visitors were counted at 67 state parks and memorials, believed to be an all time high for this period.

Shelby Lee, assistant superintendent of parks, said that attendance in the last half of the year is greater than in the first half. "In the southern part of the state, people keep coming out to the parks right on into December," he said. But the months of January, February, March and part of April usually are slow.

THIS TREND means that the state almost certainly will surpass the record of 11.8 million visitors to parks and memorials set in 1957.

The trend is indicated by attendance at Black Hawk State Park at Rock Island. In the first half of 1963, 204,052 persons had visited the park. Black Hawk had only 39,648 visitors in the first six months of last year. Already, the 1963 figure is far above the total attendance at the park in all of 1962.

Attendance at Apple River State Park, near the Wisconsin border in Jo Daviess County, is up 14,000 over last year's January - through June mark. At Cave-in-Rock State Park on the Wabash River, there were 30,000 more visitors. Starved Rock State Park had 405,178 visitors in the first six months of 1963—up more than 40,000. At Kankakee River State Park attendance this year is 266,674. Last year at this time it was 217,595.

WHAT IS behind this "best ever" turnout at state parks and memorials?

Lee said, "The good weather conditions certainly contributed. We've had pretty ideal weather for outdoor life—few bad weekends. And we had a mild, early spring."

Another factor, according to Lee, is that "more and more people are turning to tent and trailer camping."

To help handle this rise in attendance at parks, 186 more employes have been put under the division of parks and memorials in the department of conservation. Lee pointed out that at this time last year there was a "freeze" on — banning the hiring of additional workers —as an economy measure. Since then, the "freeze" has been lifted by Gov. Otto Kerner.

ATTENDANCE figures are compiled in different ways. In some parks there are actual traffic counters, keeping an accurate count of persons entering. In other places, the custodians make period counts and then estimate the number of visitors.

There are a number of memorials at which there are no custodians. No attendance figures are kept for these sites.

Illinois, which spends $3.4 million yearly in the development, operation and maintenance of state parks, lags far behind many other states, Lee said. New York spends $28 million a year, California spends $21 million, and Ohio spends $6 million.

Kentucky, much smaller than Illinois in area and population, spends $12 million a year.

4-State Tourist Trail Gets Approval of Iowa

MIAMI BEACH, FLA., (UPI)— Iowa Gov. Harold E. Hughes today announced tentative approval of a 2,000-mile four-state tourist trail designed to boost local economies.

Hughes made the announcement after conferring with the governors of Illinois, Minnesota and Wisconsin during the National Governors conference here.

James Bennett of the American Petroleum Institute, which has been instrumental in developing similar trails in other parts of the nation, also participated in the conference, Hughes said.

"I am very happy to have the cooperation of the states along the Mississippi River in development of the trail," Hughes said.

The route will be planned to take advantage of existing tourist attractions in the four-state area, he said.

"SUCH TRAILS as the New England and Lincoln Heritage trails have proved highly successful," Hughes said. "The states that participate in them have found that the over-all economy of the states benefit from increased revenue and that new nobs are created in the travel service industries as a result of increased tourist travel."

Several months ago Hughes flew to Kentucky to sit in on a meeting of the governors of Illinois and Kentucky when the Lincoln Heritage Trail was in the planning stage.

JANIE AND JIM Oestmann, daughter and son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Oestmann, 320 S. Burton Place, Arlington Heights, are spending the summer at St. John's camps, Delafield, Wis. They are shown here in one of the camp's many sailboats.

Beavers Biggest Rodents in N.A.

MADISON, WIS., (UPI) — Beavers are the largest rodent in North America, the Wisconsin Conservation Department said this week.

Some of the animals weigh 60 pounds with the average weight running about 40 pounds.

The beaver's chief food is aspen or poplar trees but the beaver will also eat the bark of willow, birch, black elder and wild cherry.

Green Peppers Have Savory Sausage Center

Garden-fresh green peppers provide the background for a savory meat dish especially delightful for summer eating.

Stuffed green peppers is not an original idea, but this tasty meat stuffing makes news. You will be surprised how easy it is to make, states expert on meat recipes, Reba Staggs.

PLAYING the star role is pork sausage — the bulk style that you frequently make into sausage patties. The sausage is browned and mixed with onion, mashed potatoes, an egg, seasonings and grated Parmesan cheese.

The meat combination is tucked inside scooped-out, parboiled peppers, and the entree bakes a short time in the oven.

SAVORY STUFFED PEPPERS

1½ pounds pork sausage
6 medium - sized green peppers
¼ cup chopped onion
2 cups seasoned mashed potatoes
1 egg, beaten
½ teaspoon paprika
¼ teaspoon sage
1/8 teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese

Remove slice from tops of peppers and scoop out seeds. Cook in boiling salted water 5 minutes. Lightly brown sausage and onion. Pour off drippings.

Combine sausage - onion mixture, potatoes, egg, paprika, sage, pepper and cheese. Spoon mixture into green peppers, using approximately ½ cup sausage mixture for each pepper.

Place stuffed peppers in a 12 x 8-inch baking dish and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 30 minutes. Six servings.

Cookies Boast Orange Flavor

Snack time comes more frequently in the summer when your youngsters are out of school for several months of outdoor play in balmy weather. A day of hard activity builds up such appetites, that you sometimes wonder if children can ever get filled.

One snack they always go for in a big way is a cooky . . . especially Mom's homemade kind. A full cooky jar certainly brings on the smiles.

THIS DELICIOUS new recipe is one you simply must try. The crunchy, sweet morsels are filled with tiny butterscotch pieces, quick-cooking oats and flecks of orange rind or peel.

Prepared once, Snack Time Cookies are destined for repeat performances and a permanent place in your recipe file.

SNACK TIME COOKIES

1½ cups sifted enriched flour
½ teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
2/3 cup lard
½ cup sugar
½ cup firmly packed brown sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups quick-cooking oats
1 package (6 ounces) butterscotch pieces
2 tablespoons grated orange rind, or 1 teaspoon dried orange peel

Sift together flour, baking powder, soda and salt. Cream lard and sugars. Beat in eggs and vanilla. Add sifted ingredients. Stir in butterscotch pieces and orange rind or peel. Mix well.

Drop by rounded teaspoonfuls, about 2 inches apart on greased cooky sheet. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 12 minutes or until lightly browned. Yield: 4 to 5 dozen cookies.

For Noon Meal— Liver Sandwich

During summer vacation, the children are home almost every day for lunch. As guardian of health of your growing youngsters and teenagers, it's your responsibility to prepare a well-balanced noon meal.

In case you're running low on original ideas for speedy, yet nutritious lunches, here's a suggestion offered by home economist Reba Staggs. Prepare Liver and Bacon Spread to keep on hand in the refrigerator. For serving, simply spread between slices of bread, including a lettuce leaf if you wish.

The sandwich spread is sure to win approval of nearly everyone. What a tasty manner of serving the most nutritious of meats!

1 pound thinly sliced beef or pork liver
½ cup chopped celery
1 teaspoon minced onion
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon pickle relish
½ cup mayonnaise

Cut bacon into small pieces and cook until crisp. Remove bacon. Cook liver slowly in bacon drippings, turning occasionally, about 5 minutes. Put liver through food chopper.

Combine bacon, liver, celery, onion, salt, pickle relish and mayonnaise. Mix well. Yield: 2 cups. (SH

Steak Hints

To keep steaks, chops and ham slices from curling during grilling or indoor broiling do not broil them too fast. Slash into the fat edge, being careful not to cut into the lean, also helps prevent curling. You may want to trim off part of the outer edge of fat so the drippings won't blaze up too much.

For Smoke Flavor

To give an especialy enticing smoke flavor to grilled meats use wood chips such as hickory, oak, apple and cherry. Soak chips in water at least 1 hour before using so they will give maximum smoke and will not burn. Add a few chips at a time to the charcoal briquets while cooking. If chips flame up, replace them with wet ones.

Wild Wedding Trip Winds Up at Jail

WAUSAU, WIS., (UPI) — A young Marine, home on leave to be married, spent his wedding night and the weekend in jail after leading a Schofield traffic officer on a wild chase Saturday night.

Michael Fobes, 22, was fined $125 and costs in Schofield Municipal Court by Justice Harland Kempe after Fobes pleaded guilty to reckless driving, leaving the scene of an accident, operating a vehicle without a license, and failing to stop for an emergency vehicle.

Officer Dolph Lehman said he first began chasing Fobes at the Schofield city limits when the young Marine's car passed at a high speed.

As the chase led south, Lehman said, Fobes used the sidewalk at least three times to pass cars on the right. He forced three cars off the road, including the officer's.

At one intersection, Fobes rammed another car and knocked it across the road. He finally surrendered when Lehman pulled his car over to the curb.

Lehman said that Fobes' bride was in the car. (A14

Meat Leftovers

What is the best manner of serving leftover meats in the summer? Cut the chilled meat into cubes or strips and feature a cold meat salad as your main entree on a hot evening. Combine the meat with fresh vegetables or fruits and a dressing. Ready-to-serve meats are also delicious in meat salads.

Rotisserie Roasts

For the rotisserie, it's best to select roasts which are as regular in shape as possible. Semi-boneless, boneless or boned and tied roasts are good. Roasts with bones generally do not balance well on the rotisserie rod.

Drinking Dancers Tanked

MILWAUKEE, (UPI) — TWO plain-clothes detectives ran up a $130 bar bill before arresting two dancers on charges of soliciting drinks in the Stardust Lounge.

The patrolmen said the women asked them to buy vodka and champagne after they finished their dance act early Sunday. Using department funds, the policemen bought drinks until closing time at 3:30 a.m.

THEN THEY arrested the women.

The dancers appeared in court Monday, and their cases, along with that of the tavern's licensee, Gerald M. Basile, were continued to Aug. 6. Basile was charged with permitting female employes to solicit drinks. (A-14

Protein Needs

People used to think they should cut down on protein foods when the weather turned hot. Nutritionists tell us that this is definitely not a good practice. Meat supplies the right kind of complete proteins needed by the body for life processes that go on every day, whether the season is summer or winter.

Grilling for a Crowd

Roasts, ground meat patties and frankfurters are convenient for serving a large group unless facilities for grilling are extensive. Roasts provide more servings per unit of cooking space. Meat patties and franks will cook in a short time.

Guide for Grilling

Remember that the outdoor air increases appetities, so plan generous servings at outdoor grill suppers. For bone-in cuts allow ¾ to 1 pound per serving; for boneless cuts allow 1/3 to ½ pound. (SH

- Everyone should take time out for relaxation, fun and exercise, whether they participate in picnicking, golfing, fishing, hunting, camping, cycling, skiing, sliding, boating, games or sports, yet accidents can and do happen even during these activities. Drowning, which is covered by the policy, is the cause of many deaths not just during vacation time but throughout the year. Many homes now have swimming pools that can be a hazard for small children who frequently escape the watchful eye.
- The entire family should have this protection—man, woman and children.
- Policy will help pay those expenses resulting from bodily injury—whether simple or serious—when accidents strike at home, while traveling, at work, on the farm, at school, or at play.
- Subject to its provisions, the policy includes indemnity for: Loss of Life, from $500 to $10,000; Loss of Limb, $250 to $10,000; Loss of Sight, $175 to $10,000; Total Disability, up to $500, pro-rated on a daily basis; First Aid, up to $5 for non-disabling injury; Ambulance, up to $10 for this service; Hospital, up to $200, pro-rated on a daily basis; X-Ray, up to $10 for injury examination.
- Issued without medical examination.
- No age limits (Specific Loss and Total Disability Indemnities are reduced fifty per cent (50%) when insured is or becomes age 70 or over).
- Pays in addition to other personal accident insurance carried.
- Pays on work accidents that are covered by State Compensation Laws.
- Specific Loss Indemnities increase in value ten per cent (10%) each year during first 5 years of consecutive renewal.
- The policy is issued by Old Republic Life Insurance Company, Chicago, Illinois. Protection begins at NOON on the actual date of issuance of the policy.

Basic Dough Makes Variety of Sweet Rolls

Busy Mother Finds This a Timesaver

by LOIS SEILER

Organizational activities haven't taken me away from the kitchen," exclaimed personable Mrs. Henry E. Wieditz, the immediate past president of Arlington Heights Junior Woman's Club. "On the contrary, they have given me the opportunity to bake for different meetings," she smilingly said.

And surprisingly enough, this busy young woman who loves to bake especially enjoys working with yeast dough.

BASIC BATTER

1 package dry yeast
¼ cup warm water
½ cup shortening
¼ cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
3¼ cups flour, sifted
1 well-beaten egg

Mix together the dry yeast and warm water and let stand five minutes.

Measure the shortening, sugar and salt into a mixing bowl. Scald the milk and pour over the shortening mixture. Stir until shortening is melted and cool to lukewarm.

Using the electric mixer at medium speed, add 2 cups of the sifted flour. Beat one minute until gluten strands are almost visible. Stop mixer. Add softened yeast and well-beaten egg. Beat batter for ½ minute at medium speed. With a spoon, stir in the remaining 1¼ cups sifted flour. Beat batter for two minutes at medium speed. (Batter will be stiff. Scraping with rubber spatula is sometimes necessary.)

Place dough into a greased bowl, cover and let rise until double in bulk, about one hour. Stir down and beat with a wooden spoon and let rise again until double, about 30 minutes. From this batter, any of the following breakfast delicacies can be made:

CINNAMON NUT WHIRLS

Let batter rise only once for these. Stir down and chill for one hour. Combine:

1 cup sugar
2 teaspoons cinnamon
1 cup chopped nuts

Grease hands and roll dough into 8-inch strands, ½-inch thick. Coat strands with sugar mixture; coil on greased baking sheet. Let rise and bake at 375 degrees for 15 to 20 minutes. Makes about 18 to 24 rolls.

BUTTERSCOTCH PECAN ROLLS

Place in the bottom of each greased muffin tin:

1 teaspoon butter
2 teaspoon brown sugar
2 drops water

Arrange pecan halves over the mixture. After batter has risen twice, stir down and fill muffin cups half full. Let rise for 30 minutes and bake at 375 degrees for 20 to 25 minutes. Remove from pan immediately.

SUGAR PLUM COFFEE RING

After batter has risen the second time, add:

½ cup raisins

Combine:

¼ cup flour
¼ cup fine bread crumbs
¼ cup sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon

Cut in:

¼ cup butter

Drop batter by tablespoons into mixture and coat well. Arrange all balls in two layers in a greased 9-inch ring mold.

Top with remaining crumb mixture. Let rise about 30 minutes and bake at 375 degrees about 25 to 30 minutes. Frost with confectioners sugar icing, if desired.

CARAMEL CRISPS

Let batter rise twice and stir down. Chill for one hour.

Mix together the following:

1 cup brown sugar
2 teaspoons cinnamon
½ cup chopped nuts

Spread half of this on waxed paper. Melt:

¼ cup butter

Drop batter by tablespoons into butter and place batter balls on the sugar mixture, separating them. Sprinkle with remaining crumb mixture. Cover with waxed paper and roll until they are ⅛ inch thick. Bake on a greased cookie sheet 15 to 20 minutes at 375 degrees. Makes about 30. (SH

"Most people who hesitate to try yeast recipes will like this," she continued, "because the measurements are accurate and no kneading is required."

Her husband's mother sent Ruth this recipe and she uses it regularly. "Although it may look detailed, it goes so fast with the electric mixer," she commented.

From this recipe can be made such appealing delicacies as Cinnamon Nut Whirls, Butterscotch Pecan Rolls, a Sugar Plum Coffee Ring and Caramel Crisps.

"This Cinnamon Nut Whirls look especially professional and are my favorite," Mrs. Wieditz said.

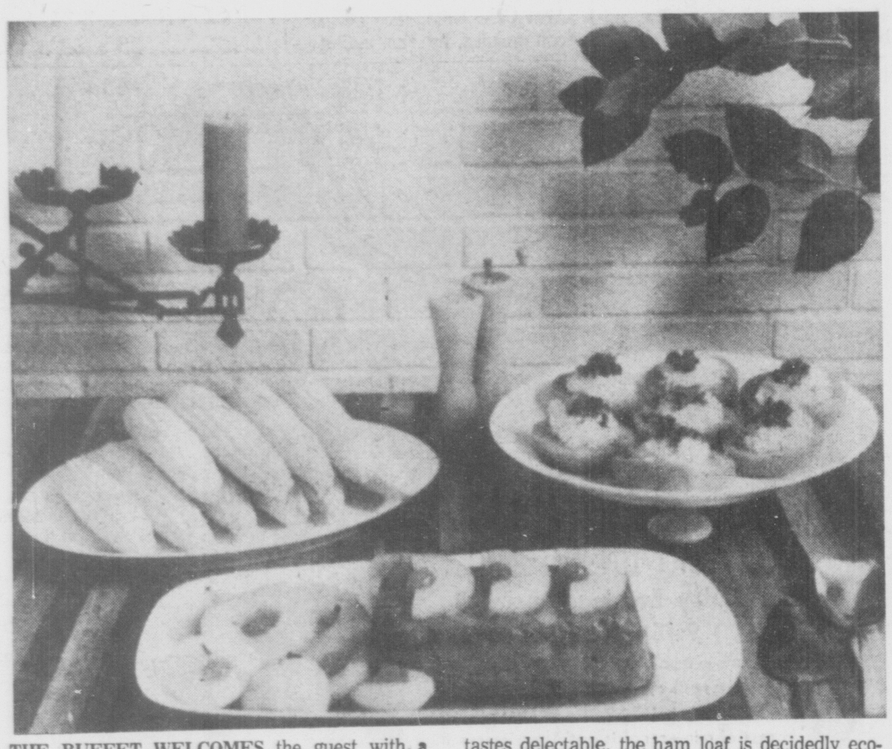
THE BUTTERSCOTCH Pecan Rolls are an old-time favorite, while the Sugar Plum Coffee Ring contains raisins and the Caramel Crisps are coated with cinnamon-flavored brown sugar and chopped nuts.

All of these breakfast treats, which are nice for coffee parties as well, are enjoyed by the Wieditz' two children, Linda, 9, and Kurt, 7. The Wieditz family lives at 1241 N. Walnut, Arlington Heights.

Mrs. Wieditz will serve the Junior Woman's Club as parliamentarian next year. She also teaches Sunday School at St. John United Church of Christ and is a member of Arlington Heights Nurses Club.

MUNCHING ON delicious Cinnamon Nut Whirls prepared by their mother's favorite recipe are Kurt and Linda Wieditz of Arlington Heights. Mrs. Henry E. Wieditz makes these sweet rolls from a basic yeast batter which has several appealing variations, all of which are easy to prepare (using the electric mixer) and delightful to taste. (SH

Ham Loaf Economical Main Dish for Company Buffet



THE BUFFET WELCOMES the guest with a handsome golden glaze ham loaf garnished with spiced fruit. Although it looks attractive and tastes delectable, the ham loaf is decidedly economical company fare. Serve with corn and relish-topped tomato slices. (SH

While the homemaker enjoys the conviviality of summer entertaining as much as her family, she is often faced with a special problem: providing good food for her guests without an undue strain on the budget.

Because golden glaze ham loaf tastes delicious, looks handsome, and costs little to make, it's the perfect main-dish course for the festive dinner. The ham loaf utilizes left-over baked ham, and is made festive of appearance with an unsulphured molasses glaze. The loaf must be brushed with the glaze from time to time during baking to acquire a shining surface.

VIVID SPICED fruit garnishes the ham. Unsulphured molasses, one of America's oldest traditional foods, goes into the spiced fruits as well as the glaze. Because of its mellow flavor, unsulphured molasses combines especially well with fruit.

The economy company dinner can begin with canned jellied consomme. Serve the ham loaf with corn on the cob and tomato slices seasoned with minced onion and parsley; both corn in tomatoes are abundant this time of year. Accompany with hot rolls. For dessert, top off the meal with a lemon chiffon pie.

Thanks to flavorful unsulphured molasses, you can serve your guests a memorable — and decidedly economical — ham loaf dinner!

GOLDEN GLAZE HAM LOAF WITH SPICED FRUIT

2 eggs
1 can (29 ounces) cling peach halves
1 can (20 ounces) pineapple slices
3 cups soft bread crumbs
5 cups ground cooked ham
2 tablespoons unsulphured molasses
2 tablespoons prepared mustard

Beat eggs in mixing bowl. Drain syrup from fruits into measuring cup; add 1¼ cup of the syrup to eggs. Reserve remaining syrup for Spiced Fruit.* Add bread crumbs to egg mixture; stir in ham, mix well. Turn into a greased 6 cup loaf pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) 1 hour. Remove ham loaf from oven. Invert on foil-lined baking sheet.

Combine unsulphured molasses and mustard; brush half the glaze on loaf. Return loaf to oven; bake 15 minutes longer, brushing occasionally with remaining glaze. Serve with Spiced Fruit. YIELD: 6-8 servings.

SPICED FRUIT

1 teaspoon whole cloves
½ cup unsulphured molasses
¼ cup vinegar
1 3-inch piece stick cinnamon
6 cherries, cut in quarters

Pour reserved syrup from fruit into saucepan. Add cloves; boil rapidly until reduced to 1/3 cup. Add molasses, vinegar and cinnamon; simmer 5 minutes. Pour over combined fruits. Serve warm or cold. (SH

No Trick to Herb Cookery

Heighten Food Flavor With Fragrant Basil

BASIL AND TOMATOES were made for each other, especially as used in Tomatoes Stuffed with Basil Bread Cubes. This recipe and three others given here are afforded a piquant taste using basil, "the royal herb." (SH

If you would be the queen of cooks, make frequent use of your container of basil, the "royal herb," when cooking for your own particular king.

The word "basil" comes from a Greek word, basileus, meaning king. Folklore has it that, in olden times, basil was to be cut only by the sovereign himself. For this regal chore he was obliged to use a golden sickle!

THERE ARE 50 to 60 varieties of basil, but Americans prefer the sweet basil. This very fragrant herb of the mint family has a tingling flavor and clove-like scent. It is probably most famous as a stepper-upper of tomato flavor, but, actually, it is equally delightful with vegetables such as zucchini, snap beans, potatoes or eggplant, or in meat and poultry concoctions, cheese or egg dishes or salads. As with all herb cookery, add the basil during the last few minutes of cooking, say home economists of the American Spice Trade Association.

In salad dressings, however, add it at least an hour before use to make sure all the lovely flavor has been released. In general, use about ½ teaspoon of dried whole basil per six servings of vegetables or salad.

WHILE EARLY records show that basil was growing in North America as early as 1610, this herb is native to India and Persia. It is cultivated on the North Mediterranean shore, but more and more excellent quality basil is being grown commercially in California.

TOMATOES STUFFED WITH BASIL BREAD CUBES

6 large firm ripe tomatoes
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups bread cubes
3 tablespoons olive or salad oil
1 cup cubed Cheddar cheese
1½ teaspoons basil leaves
1 tablespoon parsley flakes
1 teaspoon salt
¾ teaspoon ground black pepper
½ teaspoon sugar
¼ teaspoon instant minced garlic
3 tablespoons instant minced onion
6 tablespoons tomato liquid

Cut off tops of tomatoes and scoop out pulp. Sprinkle tomato cavities with salt. Invert to drain. Strain the pulp and save liquid to use later. Brown bread cubes in hot oil. Add next seven ingredients. Spoon into tomato cavities. Pour a tablespoon of tomato liquid over bread crumbs in each tomato.

Place in a close-fitting baking dish. Pour ¼ cup hot water in bottom of baking dish. Bake in a pre-heated moderate oven 375° F. 15 minutes or until done. Yield 6 medium or 4 large servings.

BASIL TOMATO MACARONI CASSEROLE

½ lb. elbow macaroni
½ lb. ground chuck
¾ cup diced green pepper
2¼ teaspoons salt
2 cups (1 lb.) canned tomatoes
2 teaspoons basil leaves
¼ teaspoon ground black pepper
½ teaspoon instant minced garlic
½ cup soft, fine bread crumbs
1 tablespoon butter or margarine, melted
1 cup shredded cheddar cheese

Cook macaroni as directed on the package. Drain. Cook meat, green pepper and ½ of the salt together until meat has slightly browned. Add macaroni, remaining salt and next five ingredients. Mix well and turn into a 2-quart casserole.

Sprinkle bread crumbs, mixed with butter or margarine and cheese, over the top. Bake in a pre-heated moderate oven 350° F. 30 minutes or until browned. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

HERBED KIDNEY BEAN AND TUNA SALAD

2 cups (1 lb. can) red kidney beans, drained
7-ounce can chunk type tuna fish, drained
6 anchovy fillets, quartered
1 cup sliced Pascal celery
2 tablespoons instant minced onion
¼ teaspoon instant minced garlic
¼ teaspoon ground black pepper
1½ teaspoons salt
1½ teaspoons basil leaves
¼1 teaspoon vinegar
¼ cup mayonnaise
Head lettuce
6 tomato wedges

Combine all ingredients except tomato and lettuce. Mix lightly to prevent breaking tuna chunks. Chill 1 hour. Serve on lettuce. Garnish with a wedge of tomato. Serve as a main-dish salad. Yield: 6 servings.

HERBED GREEN PEPPER SOUP

3 tablespoons instant minced onion
3 tablespoons water
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
¾ cup finely chopped green pepper
3 cups chicken stock
¼ teaspoon oregano leaves
½ teaspoon basil leaves
1½ tablespoons butter or margarine
1½ tablespoons flour
1½ cups milk
¾ teaspoon salt or salt to taste

Soften instant minced onion in water. Saute in butter or margarine along with green pepper. Add next three ingredients and simmer (do not boil) 10 minutes. Put the mixture through a coarse sieve or blend to a puree in an electric blender. Set aside. Melt butter or margarine in a saucepan. Blend in flour.

Stir and cook over low heat until roux is bubbly. Remove from heat and stir in milk. Stir and cook until the sauce is smooth and slightly thickened. Add green pepper puree. Serve hot or chilled, garnished with a little finely chopped green pepper, if desired. Yield: 6 servings. (SH

Cabinet Space

Here's Solution To Kitchen Plight

Kitchen cabinet space is a problem for many homemakers. It often happens that there is room enough for everything, yet shelf spacing is such that some items must be stored or stacked behind something else.

Adjustable shelves are a simple solution for the homemaker planning a new home or installing new kitchen facilities. For those who have to "make do" however, consider the idea of utilizing what may now be "wasted" space.

FOR EXAMPLE, it is possible that dishes arranged on lower shelf may stack no higher than 4 to 6 inches, leaving several inches of "unused" space above.

If this is the case, a short or narrow auxiliary shelf may be installed to provide storage space for saucers, cups or other narrow items such as gravy boats, glasses, etc.

Cut the auxiliary shelve 1½ inches shorter than regular shelves and nail to cleats as shown in illustration.

Floor's Installation Important to 'Life'

A new floor is just as good as the job of installing it. The installation of all flooring material should be in accordance with the specific instructions of the manufacturer of the material.

Finish flooring must be firmly fastened to the underflooring to avoid buckling or cracking. Adhesives are used to fasten asphalt, cork, linoleum, rubber, vinyl, wood block, and ceramic tile floors. The latter can also be set in a bed of cement mortar, as are brick, cement tile, flagstone, and slate. Nails are used for strip wood flooring, and nails and screws for plank flooring.

IN ORDER that adhesives can attain their full bonding strength, all underflooring must be thoroughly dry and free from grease, oil, wax, paint, and varnish. These can be removed by sanding, scraping, or using a chemical solvent. Be sure that all traces of solvent are removed before the adhesive is applied.

Because too much penetration of the moisture from the adhesive causes boards to cup or warp, a sealer should be applied to wood underfloors after sanding.

To secure a good adhesive bond on concrete sub-floors, remove all loose particles and concrete dust by wire-brushing.

A CRACK filler is used to close up cracks and small holes, and badly damaged concrete should be resurfaced with a mastic underlayment or a smooth troweled cement finish.

A very thin asphalt "cut-back" cement, which is especially alkali and moisture resistant, is recommended as a primer to seal porous and dusty concrete subfloors, to coat concrete floor slabs which show signs of dampness, and to prepare concrete subfloors for the adhesive when asphalt or vinyl-asbestos tile is used.

Surface oil or grease should be removed from concrete subfloors with an alkali-type cleaner or a solution of tri-sodium phosphate. The floor should be rinsed with water and dried thoroughly.

ALWAYS USE the adhesive recommended by the manufacturer for the particular type of flooring material and its condition of use. The general types of adhesives commonly used are water-soluble paste, asphalt adhesive, asphalt emulsion, waterproof cement, flooring mastic, and ceramic tile adhesive.

For further information on flooring selection and installation, send 15 cents plus state sales tax for Circular F4.6, "Flooring Materials," to the University of Illinois Small Homes Council - Building Research Council, Mumford House, Urbana, Illinois 61803.

BARRINGTON

$37,500—Lovely wife wanted with family, and charming husband to occupy this well planned contemporary home — Sep. entrance hall leads to a beautifully designed blt.-in kitchen, a dining area of ample proportions, a good sized family room, a gracious living room w/wood-burning fireplace, master bedroom w/own bath — two other twin sized bedrooms with another bath. Fully fenced yard & att. garage. In a minimum 5 acre area — new on the market. Call Dorothy Parsons

FOX RIVER GROVE

$15,300—Newlywed's dream home. 5 rm. 3 bedrm. Ranch, fully furnished like new. Also incl. stove, refrig., washer, dryer, air cond., curtains and drapes. 100x132 landsc. lot, carport. Won't last! Call Mr. Lacy

$19,900—A rare find, in this two (and a half) bedroom home, for both are very roomy and there is an expandable (floored) attic for future use. The beautifully carpeted living room has a log burning fireplace, the dining room a heated solarium, and the kitchen a dream with breakfast area. A two car garage nestles among towering old trees & the yard is partially fenced — a full basement too. Call Dorothy Parsons

FOREST LAKE

$15,900—Shake hands with a bargain and look at this lovely park-like yard, plus a small stream with a rustic bridge leading to a sparkling freshly painted 2 bedrm. home. Newly carpeted 20' living room, blt.-in kitchen, a wood-burning fireplace, new furnace, new wiring, a basement and garage. You'll agree it's a lot for your money. Call Dorothy Parsons

FOREST GARDENS

$21,500—If you're hard to please, this charming home is for you, for value is written all over its face. Its large living room has a distinctive charm all its own, with a tremendous log burning fireplace complemented by a facing wall of books. There are two bedrooms, but ample over-all space is in the playroom, dining room, huge kitchen (and a more charming one you have never seen) breezeway & garage with studio room above. To all this add its 4 acres, offering salable home sites, thus giving an unsurpassed return on your investment. Call Dorothy Parsons

VACANT

Terms to suit—200 acres of rolling land, a running brook, near a tollroad. Owner will divide. Beautiful home sites, some deeply wooded, some high on a hill. Excellent golf course possibilities. Area of high priced homes. Call Dorothy Parsons

ACTIVE ANODIZING & PLATING CO. INC.

ESTABLISHED 1946
Anodizing Aluminum — Clear & All Colors
25 Ft. Tank Capacity

Active Anodizing & Plating Co., Inc., 859 N. Spaulding Ave., Chicago, Ill. (Zip Code 60651) have served Industry since 1946 in the production of Anodizing, including the Anodizing of Aluminum in plain and colored finishes to the strictest specifications.

There is no question but that the Anodizing Process represents one of the greatest advances of science for increasing the corrosion resistance properties of Aluminum alloys. There is probably no greater factor for the popularity of Aluminum as a corrosion resistant metal than the use of the Anodizing Process that produces an Aluminum Oxide surface on the metal which strongly resists corrosion. Anodizing produces a thicker and more durable film of Aluminum Oxide, resulting in extreme resistance to abrasion. Anodizing work performed here also undergoes an additional process of sealing the pores of the aluminum oxide surface, making it exceptionally strong and resistant to the worst corrosive conditions.

Active Anodizing & Plating Co. also turns out workmanship for paint or special coating treatment by the customer, since the Aluminum Oxide pores produced in Anodizing readily absorb paint and other coatings, that will be long lasting.

Industrial Plants and Production Industries who use Aluminum Parts in their Assembly Work will find it advantageous to send their Aluminum Parts to this firm, where this special electro-chemical treatment will increase the life of parts, produce greater abrasion resistance and assure protection against corrosion under the severest conditions. Regardless of what you manufacture, if you use Aluminum in your products, the reputation of that product will be greatly enhanced by having it Anodized at Active Anodizing & Plating Co., Maintaining Tanks with capacities to twenty-five feet, this firm has performed work for some of the most prominent Industries in the Chicagoland and adjoining area who will attest to the splendid results in Anodizing produced by this organization.

The many workers who built our new theatre have left the job for the last time. The job is done . . . a monument to the minds and muscles of everyone who built her, from the brick layers to the landscapers. Your new Arlington Theatre is a truly suburban theatre – spacious, graceful and bright, featuring all the natural charm and freshness of your suburban area.

This then, is the story about the minds, muscle, steel, wood and earth that combined to give you the new Arlington Theatre . . . a theatre designed, appointed and decorated for your complete comfort and amusement . . . a theatre that renews the forgotten principles of elegance, refinement and space . . . a theatre that assures unmatched safety, service and accessibility . . . a theatre conceived and constructed with YOU, our valued customers in mind. We hope you'll come in soon and see your new theatre . . . she's all yours!

We Are Happy to Announce Our GRAND OPENING WEEK Friday, August 2 thru Thursday, August 8 theatre, or in the lobby itself.

Chairs and benches are provided, and in the lobby a wood-burning fireplace adds warmth and cheer — looking ahead to winter months.

ANOTHER CHEERY FEATURE of the lobby, and the remainder of the theatre as well, is soft, but bright, recessed lighting.

Space, with special lighting, has also been provided for an art gallery nook between the lobby and foyer, to be used by galleries, and for one-man shows as they are available.

Along with all the visible improvements and additions in the theatre go several which will probably go unnoticed, but add to the safety of patrons.

Emergency, battery-operated lights in 14 locations will flood the theatre in case of power failure. The operation is all automatic and instant.

Multiple exits also provide for safety in case of any emergency.

"We think patrons will appreciate the comfort, convenience and safety of our facilities not just now, but for the many years to come."

"It is many of the things they don't see in the show which leave them somehow satisfied."

Architects Tackle a New Concept

Sketch by sketch, and then to final form, the plans for Arlington Theatre remodeling evolved on the drawing boards of Donald T. Smith, Architect, Palos Heights.

Two years ago they started with the germ of an idea from theatre manager Don Knapp. He wanted something new — an entirely different concept in a theatre — and he got it.

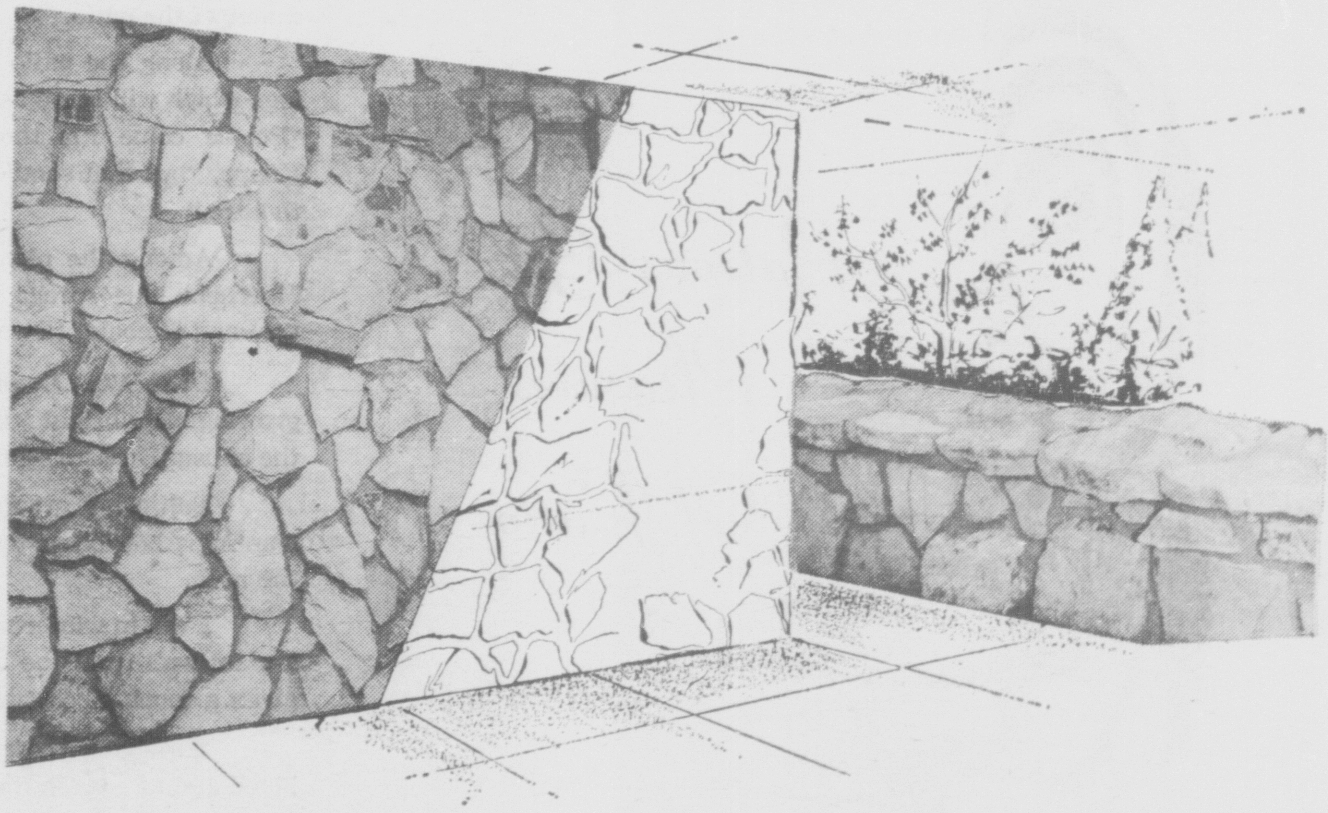
The building was not to be closed in. No stuffy luxury with plush frills. Instead the luxury was of space — of an outdoor setting brought into direct contact with gracious indoor appointments.

DONALD T. SMITH and associate Frank L. Neubeck "were willing to go ahead in the planning of an entirely new concept," says Knapp.

He adds that the selection of a firm of architects who were willing to take a step away from the usual, without designing a theatre which would soon be dated, was not an easy one.

"We think the building will be a tribute to the architects for years to come," says Knapp, "down to the smallest details which patrons will never notice individually, but will sense in the quality of the work."

The Stone... Rare Quality, Artist's Touch



Stone is a widely used construction material, but it may also be an art form, unique in every instance of its use.

When stone, in two different forms, was chosen for the exterior remodeling of Arlington Theatre, both the sturdiness and the artistic qualities of stone were combined.

Natural Palos Verdes stone, shipped in from California, forms a rugged front for the theatre, extending into the breezeway and patio area. It took 60 tons of select pieces to complete the area.

STONE MASONRY — an ancient art — was done by Henry Schwartz and a crew including men from Europe who have made this their life's work. This one phase of construction took about seven weeks.

Selection of Palos Verdes stone was based on its subtle, natural coloring — not commonly found in rock from the Midwest. "Around here, stone is either colorless or too flagrantly colored for our purpose," says Donald T. Smith, who made the California selection.

In construction, each stone was selected for placement according to its size, shape and color. Not a single stone was cut to fit.

Colors were arranged to form a wall pattern, and about 20 per cent of the rock is set out from the rest to provide greater textured effect.

THE REMAINDER of the building front is formed in precast composition slabs, containing granite and quartz in a cement base. The full slabs, though they are only a few feet across, weigh four tons apiece.

A fairly new construction method in America, these slabs are used extensively in Europe.

The pieces used at Arlington Theatre were formed in Wisconsin and shipped here, to be put in place by a giant crane which handled them like bricks.

Small granite and quartz rocks present a natural front to match the Palos Verdes stone on the remainder of the theatre. Dramatically contoured, the building's shape highlights the stone's rugged appearance.

ARLINGTON THEATRE GRAND OPENING SOUVENIR SECTION

Your Theatre-Not Just Surface New

After more than two years of research and planning, and months of building for the safety, comfort and convenience of patrons, the Arlington Theatre is ready for its Grand Opening August 2.

There is no false flash—no swooping roofline or kidney-shaped candy counter—just "the best of materials put together for beauty and function," says manager Don Knapp.

Clean-lined and geometric in architectural design, the building and its adjoining garden areas were planned with a suburban atmosphere in mind, and a touch of outdoor living.

Inside, the auditorium and lobby areas have been built to take all the hard knocks kids can give, yet retain a prestige atmosphere for discriminating theatre-goers.

EVERY SERVICE previously offered to patrons has been improved or extended in the vast remodeling project now culminated.

Seating in the theatre auditorium has been increased more than 50 per cent in a curved pattern which yields total screen visibility from every seat.

A new screen perfectly matched to theatre size and seating arrangement prompts manager Knapp to say "from now on every seat is a good one."

Another feature of the auditorium is the installation of push-back seats, which allow seated patrons to simply slide back to allow others access to central seats. There's no standing or knee-knocking.

IN THE LOBBY, a large concession stand gives four times the service area offered in the past, with two separate units and duplicate selection for faster service.

From the time movie-goers enter the lobby doors, they will be given the "red carpet treatment." Plush carpeting on the lobby floor and acoustical plaster on the ceiling both serve to absorb sound and keep it from the auditorium itself.

The theatre's floor-plan also was planned to remove the auditorium from all noise and commotion of other areas of the theatre.

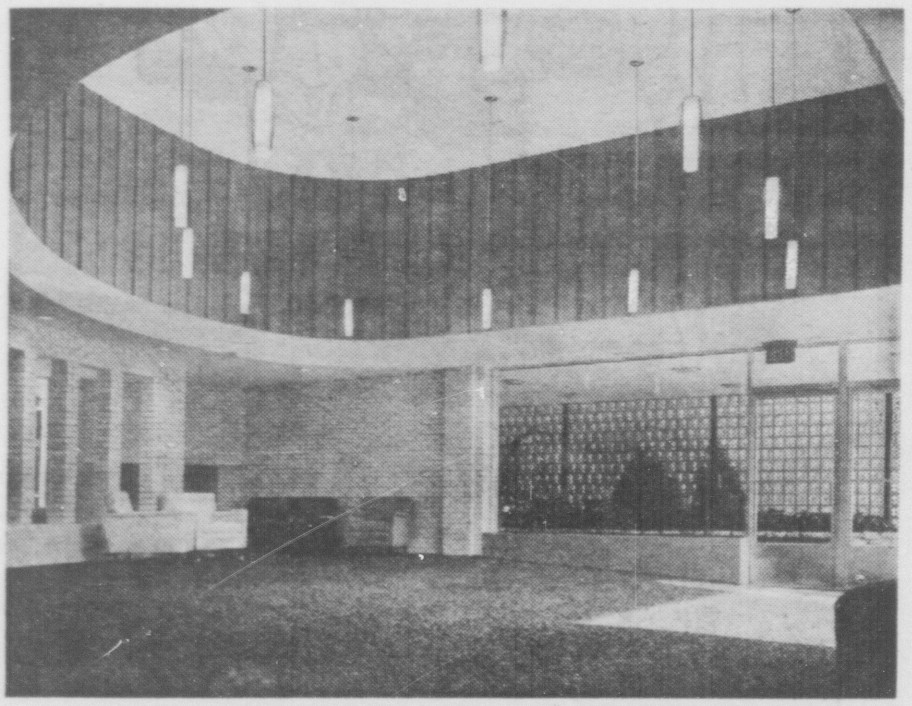
Rather than being placed directly behind the theatre seats, concession and waiting areas are off to the side, with an expansive foyer connecting service with seating.

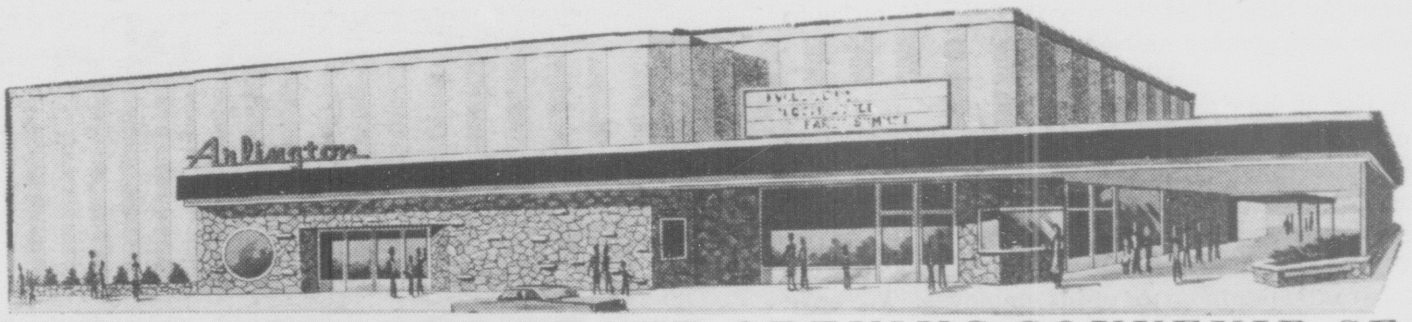
EXIT DOORS lead directly from the auditorium foyer, so that patrons leaving the theatre do not have to pass through the lobby and those people waiting for the next show.

Heating and air conditioning units for the two theatre areas (lobby and auditorium) are also totally independent, so that needs of one area may be met without sacrificing the comfort of people in the other.

Waiting for shows will be kept to a minimum of time and a maximum of comfort in the remodeled theatre. Twin box offices under shelter are designed to eliminate long waits in line.

After ticket purchase, movie-goers are free to roam in the sheltered, landscaped breezeway and patio area outside the





ARLINGTON THEATRE GRAND OPENING SOUVENIR SECTION

MARTIN ZEIGNER paints in detail on one of eight mural panels which decorate the auditorium of remodeled Arlington Theatre. Panels, 16 by 26 feet, are filled in with background first, then details added as final step.

Murals Add Local Color

Eight mural wall panels depicting scenes of the nearby countryside will highlight decorations in the Arlington Theatre auditorium.

Basing his decision on past excellence, manager Don Knapp recommissioned Martin Zeigner to do the murals — the same man who painted the eight panels when the theatre was first redecorated.

That was 19 years ago, and then the mural theme was signs of the zodiac. All of the panels were painted in a blue shade which became fluorescent under "Black Light."

THE NEW MURALS, which Zeigner describes as "eye relief," center around the raising, stabling, riding and racing of horses. Colors are reminiscent of the outdoors — even under soft theatre lights.

Each panel is 26 feet high and 16 feet in width, but Zeigner is not a stranger to even bigger commissions. He has done murals at the Hotel Sherman, the Ambassador East, Henrici's at O'Hare Airport, and other sites as far flung as Florida and Texas.

Actual painting, with a crew of two men for background, took about three weeks, but a great deal of sketching and planning preceded that.

White shutters with concealed, radiant lighting will frame the murals from floor to ceiling and complete the landscaped, suburban atmosphere of the auditorium.

FLOOR MANAGERS at Arlington Theatre, two of whom will be in the building at all times, are ready to assist patrons in any way possible. In a supervisory position they divide the theatre, one taking the auditorium and the other managing the lobby area. From left are Dennis Murphy and Robert Maierhofer, assistant managers; Dick Alexander, William Zimmerman, Ed Seaman and William Cannivet, managers.

Trained Staff Members--Image's Other Half

The building itself, no matter how new or beautiful, is not the major part of the image any theatre presents.

Thus manager Don Knapp explains extra personnel provisions made at the Arlington Theatre.

From floor manager to usher, every staff member has had special training to assure competent and courteous service, and complete entertainment satisfaction.

And he cites good reason for the extra care. "Staff members are the theatre's personal contacts — all of them. Patrons depend of them, and they will not be disappointed."

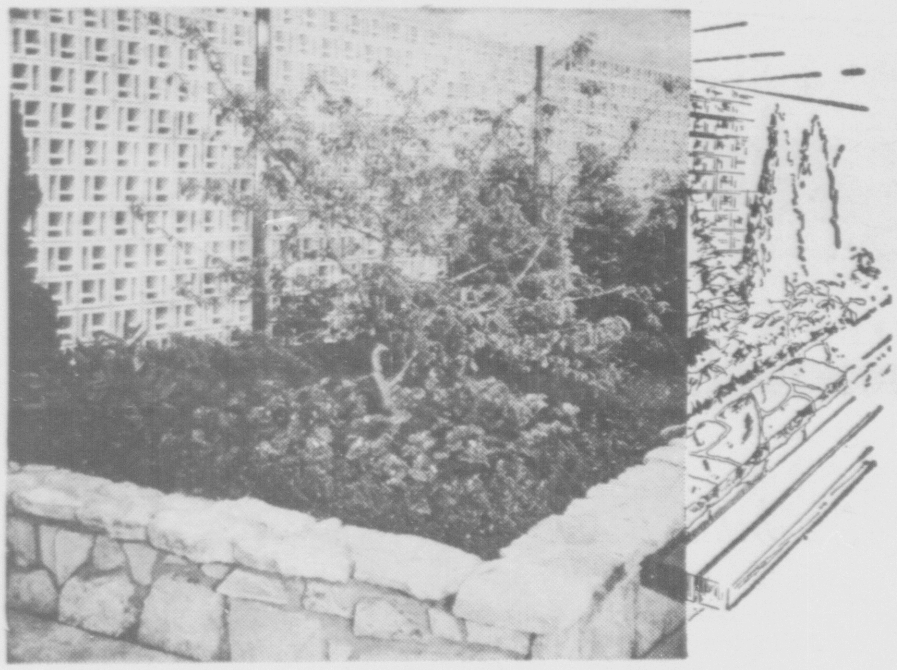
AT LEAST TWO floor managers will be in the theatre at all times, dividing the building area into two zones of control—the lobby and the auditorium.

Their position will be supervisory, for the safety and comfort of all patrons, young and old.

Ushers, sporting specially designed uniforms, have undergone an extensive training course for all of their duties.

There is an art to proper seating and service which has been commonly ignored in today's theatres, Knapp says, but a well-trained staff of ushers is a great asset.

ALL EMPLOYES, from cashiers to concession girls,



Theatre's 'Outdoor Show'

It is odd enough that a theatre should have a garden, but even more unusual that its unique form should attract passers-by to stop and sit awhile.

Landscaped by Charles Klehm and Son Nurseries, the garden at Arlington Theatre transforms a breezeway into a botanical paradise.

Focal point of the garden area is a dwarf Zumi flowering crab near the center of the plantings. This unusual tree grows pale pink blossoms in the spring, turning to rich red fruit in the fall.

The Zumi's twisted, gnarly branches make it distinctive against a well-ordered background — slender Canaerti junipers that form a deep green curtain.

AT ONE CORNER of the garden a patented Shademaster honey locust creates a soft, subtle shade pattern on the adjacent wall.

Directly below the honey locust is a group of famous Klehm pfitzers, propagated solely by Klehm, which forms a low, spreading base for surrounding plants.

The entire garden is highlighted by colorful tuberous begonias, caladiums and bright red geraniums. An unusual broadleaf evergreen hedge forms the front border.

The garden's dramatic geometrical shape, bounded by thick redwood benches, blends perfectly with the theatre's rugged architecture.

Patrons Get Pleasures Of Patio

Lending its grace to the suburban atmosphere of the new Arlington Theatre, an open-air patio is yet another innovation in design.

For those patrons who come early, or would just like to relax and browse between shows, the patio is a perfect setting.

Landscaping by Charles Klehm and Son Nurseries and an impressive fountain-statue highlight the walled patio area. Giant redwood doors separate the patio and breezeway, joining the areas when opened.

A tall pin oak is the enclosed area's central planting, rising from a bed of birds nest spruce shrubs which grow flat and symmetrical.

RISING NEXT to the pin oak, but much smaller, is a table top pine, famous in Japan for its use as a house decoration. This ornamental shrub adds a touch of elegance to the center of the patio.

Along the patio walls are a number of unusual plantings which will serve as conversation pieces for years to come. "People come for the show," says theatre manager Don Knapp, "but that shouldn't be the only thing of interest in the theatre."

Among the plantings are Echtemeyer flowering crab, Moerhein blue spruce, cut leaf flowering birch, golden rain tree and Xiebaldi flowering crab.

ONE WALL will also feature an espalier planting, growing rich, bright leaves which will hug the wall and accent the unusual brick design.

Baltic ivy ground cover puts the final touch on patio plantings, bordering the cement floor and adding warmth to the area.

Even in winter months, the patio will be visible through a glass wall from the lobby. The indoor area is extended and given a touch of country luxury.

Surveying the effect, people should feel completely relaxed and at ease in the patio area.

have been thoroughly briefed on the new facilities, in order to be able to handle emergencies and answer all patrons' questions.

At both the cashier's and concession girls' positions, speed is of the essence, but pleasant service has not been forgotten for the sake of speed, Knapp says.

Familiar faces of long-time staff members will greet steady theatre-goers from almost every position.

KNAPP ATTRIBUTES his success in training a well-coordinated staff to the permanence of his employes. "We have far less turnover here than most theatres—even in usher positions," he says.

All ushers for the grand opening August 2 have completed their training and probationary periods, and could now be classed as "seasoned" employes.

His Idea Engraved For Future

DON KNAPP

The man behind the theatre is Don L. Knapp, general manager of the Lucas Theatre Corporation and resident manager of the Arlington Theatre since 1941.

His was the idea — the new concept in suburban design — which the architects, the contractors, the workmen have carried to completion.
